OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE FRENCH READER

Graduated Anecdotes, Fables, etc., with Translation of the First Year, Chapters on Pronunciation, and Vocabulary. 240 pages. Cloth 2 6

Precious time is often wasted in attempt to teach French Grammar to young pupils whose knowledge of their own language is very imperfect; this Junior Reading Book is intended to be used in conjunction with the Grammar, or, still better, as a course preparatory to the study of it.

P R E F A C E.

DEAR YOUNG STUDENT,—

Our wish, in publishing this new French Grammar, has been to enable you to prepare yourself for Public Examinations with the least amount of trouble. We have also endeavoured to render our book as interesting and varied as a Grammar can be. The rules are clear and to the point, and the exceptions few and far between.

The study of a language does not end with school lessons; it should be continued for years after. Neither ought modern languages to be learned, like Greek or Latin, from a literary point of view only. Ultimate writing or speaking in French should be your object; and our book, while seeing you safe through the Examinations, will considerably help you to reach that end.

A thorough knowledge of French is invaluable at a time when the communications between France and England are yearly increasing. It is useful in politics, French being the diplomatic language; in commerce, the trade between the two countries being enormous; in literature, you cannot take up a daily paper without finding a dozen French words or idioms. Whether, therefore, you look forward to a life spent in politics, in the Army or Navy, in the trade, in fashionable drawing-rooms, or travels, French will prove a most useful acquisition or accomplishment.

Should we succeed in inspiring you with an early liking for it, we shall think ourselves amply rewarded.

HUNT & WUILLEMIN.

SYLLABUS.

THE OXFORD and CAMBRIDGE FRENCH GRAMMAR

CONTAINS

1000 detached sentences and 110 connected paragraphs for translation from English into French;—4000 words;—8000 idioms;—a RÉSUMÉ of the “History of French Literature;”—a KEY to all the English into French Exercises but the easier ones (Master's Book);—30 dictations (Master's Book);—300 miscellaneous sentences for drilling purposes, mostly taken out of Examination Papers, with the French translation immediately following each sentence (Master's Book);—some DIRECTIONS for the Master's and the Pupil's use.

This course, is therefore, a considerably cheaper publication than any hitherto brought out, and altogether precludes the necessity of buying as a necessary complement—

1. An English into French Translation Book.
2. An Idiom Book.
3. A Dictation Book.
4. A Book on the History of French Literature.
5. A Key for Students who get up French without the assistance of a Master, since the Master's Book is both the Grammar and the Key.*

* For a more detailed plan of the work, see the Preface of the Master's Book.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

This is a very elaborate grammar of the French language. Its large open type, and simple arrangement of matter, take away much of the forbidding look of those grammars which convey the idea that the grand aim of their authors is to pack the largest possible amount of irrelevant matter into the smallest possible space. Children in this matter are too often treated as if they were philosophers studying the structure of their native tongue, instead of foreigners, to whom the smallest doses of the mechanism of the new language is enough at a time. This book is intended to take the pupil over a large extent of ground, without any attempt at hurrying; and one has the feeling, on scanning its pages, THAT IT IS A PITY SUCH A BOOK COULD NOT BE HAD IN THEIR YOUNGER DAYS.—The Educational News, March 18th, 1887.

The object of the authors of the three volumes before us has been to compress into a single work all that is necessary to thoroughly ground a pupil or class in the grammar and composition of the French language. The very elaborate system on which the work has been planned tends to considerably lighten the task of the teacher, and renders the volumes peculiarly suitable for students learning French without the aid of a tutor. While primarily intended for candidates for various examinations it is at the same time admirably adapted to the wants of students whose object is rather to learn French than to pass any particular examination. The authors claim that their work “is a considerably cheaper publication than any hitherto published;” and it certainly does possess the great advantage of serving all the purposes for which in many cases some four or five different works are brought into requisition. The book undoubtedly contains many valuable improvements on previous methods of teaching the French language.—The School Board Chronicle, April 1st, 1882.

For Englishmen generally the study of French is nowadays a necessity. But it may be said that few books pretending to aid in teaching that language are of much value. "The Oxford and Cambridge French Grammar" (Librairie Hachette et Cie.), in three parts, one for masters, and two for pupils of different grades, should, however, be very useful in achieving the task, AND IT IS DOWTFUL WHETHER A BETTER GRAMMAR HAS BEFORE SEEN THE LIGHT. The master's book is of course, a key to the other two, and by its aid all chances of mistake is avoided. The work contains upwards of eighty paragraphs for translation from English into French, five hundred idioms, thirty dictations, and a résumé of French literature, so that it would appear to be complete for all that an instructor in a school or college would require.—Daily Telegraph, December 26th, 1881.

The Oxford and Cambridge French Grammar, by Hunt and Wullemin (Hachette and Co.), is designed with an express view to enable the student to prepare himself for public examination. It assumes that the learner's object is to write and speak French, and not merely to study the language as we study Greek and Latin in these days, from a purely literary point of view. Bearing in mind these aims, the Grammar is based on the Oxford and Cambridge examination papers of the last twenty years, care being taken to keep in view the principal of accustoming the pupil to find for himself in what way the rules he has learnt are exemplified in the exercises. All this is thoroughly practical, and the work is specially adapted for schools and colleges by the division of its parts or years into "terms" and "lessons." The Pupil's Book and the Master's Book are alike divided into two parts, and each work has the great advantage of forming a complete course sufficient for its purpose without having recourse to an "Idiom Book," an "English into French translation book," a "Dictation Book," a " précis of the history of French literature," or any other of the customary extraneous aids.—Daily News, February 7th, 1882.

It is not surprising that the rapid extension during the last few years of the Local Examinations should have created a literature specially adapted for the use of candidates preparing for them. Several of the Books published for this purpose have proved a delusion and a snare, because they were only crude compilations encouraging mere cram. But cramming in its worse sense no longer ensures success at any well-conducted examination. We gladly welcome, therefore, the Grammar, which, while fulfilling its professed object as a course preparatory for examinations, at the same time can be used with equal advantage by those who have no final test to work for, but who simply aim at acquiring a thorough knowledge of French in an attractive manner. For its immediate purpose the Grammar is divided into four parts, each affording materials for a year's work, and sub-divided again into three divisions, corresponding to the terms of the usual scholastic year. Each term, again, is divided into ten lessons, so that, allowing one week in every month for repetition, there is one lesson for every week at a minimum rate of three lessons a week. The whole of these twelve parts or terms are properly graduated, and each lesson contains proportionate parts of grammar, idioms, translations from French and into English, so as to serve as a very good model of what a lesson in French should be. As a companion to the Grammar the authors have also published a Master's Book, containing questions and exercise on the lessons, and the translation into French of the English pieces in the Pupil's Book, so that the Grammar might also be used by English masters teaching French. At the end the authors have given a short précis of French literature.—The Educational Times, January 1st, 1882.

These volumes, two for the pupils and one for the master, have been prepared with great care for schools and private pupils who have in view Oxford, Cambridge, and College of Preceptors' local examinations, as well as for those who are preparing for Army or Navy, Civil Service, and University examinations. THEY COMBINE ALL THAT IS BEST IN PREVIOUS METHODS, and, if diligently and patiently used, could not fail to make the student acquainted with the most subtle distinctions and elegance which abound in the French language. In the master's book there is an excellent "Précis de l'histoire de la littérature française depuis son origine jusqu'à nos jours." All that is requisite for mastering the idiomatic expressions in the French language will be found included in the system adopted by Messrs. Hunt and Wuillemin, and the master's book, which is meant to be used by all teachers, is at once a guide, a grammar, and a key. NOTHING MORE COMPLETE IN ITS KIND HAS APPEARED EVEN IN THESE LATE YEARS, which have been prolific in grammars and methods intended to facilitate the acquisition of modern languages.—The Tablet, December 24th, 1881.

These books are intended for schools, and for private pupils preparing for the Oxford, Cambridge and College of Preceptors' Local Examinations; for the Army and Navy, Civil Service and Universities. The claims with which these books came before the public are fully justified. Great judgment has been shown in what is included in the books, and the method which is adopted. The exercises from the twenty-first lesson—second year—are composed of short stories, everyday conversations, extracts from daily papers, and paragraphs given to the Oxford and Cambridge senior candidates. The nomenclature of the tenses, of the verb, a vexed question with teachers, is simple, and will be readily understood by students of English and Latin. The Master's Book will be specially valuable to students who have to get up French without the assistance of a master, and affords admirable drill for candidates preparing for public examinations.—The School Guardian, December 31st, 1881.

Into these three volumes Messrs. Hunt and Wuillemin have compressed almost everything that is necessary for a student to know in order to become proficient in the French Language. One of the leading merits of the system here laid down, therefore, is the saving it effects in that constantly recurring item of parental expenditure, the outlay in school books. As to the system itself, it has the rare merit of being at once new and simple. . . . Having carefully gone through all three volumes, we are able to say that the system in every particular seems admirably adapted for the purpose in hand—which is, we take it, the acquirement of an efficient knowledge of French with the least expenditure of labour and the minimum of perplexity; so that the French one learns from these volumes is not merely the French of classical authors, but that of every-day life.—The Liverpool Mercury, December 8th, 1881.

We have found this grammar by practical experiment with a couple of young children, very serviceable and satisfactory. It is specially intended by its authors for use in preparing for competitive examinations; but it begins at the beginning, and is SIMPLE ENOUGH TO BE PLACED IN THE HANDS OF THE YOUNGEST. It is arranged in two "pupils' books" and one thick "master's copy," and no pains have been spared to make it available for all the purposes of school, class, and private teaching. Without descending to the details of criticism, it will be enough to say that Messrs. Hunt and Wuillemin have given evidence on every page of their experience in teaching, and that the result of their labours must be to diminish very notably the labour of all who make use of their books. The system on which these are based is one of constant and copious practice; and we may defy any assiduous student to work through the whole course without becoming a fair French scholar—at any rate, competent to pass a stiff examination. "The Oxford and Cambridge French Grammar" deserves high commendation.—Hereford Times, January 7th, 1882.

After an attentive examination of this new French Course we find that it comprises a careful and complete series of lessons, well adapted to prepare pupils for the examinations referred to on the title-page, and for others of a similar kind. The information is clearly and simply set forth, and the exercises are sufficiently full to impress the matter on the mind and memory of the pupil. - The Schoolmaster, December 31st, 1881.

First Part or Year

ON PRONUNCIATION.

I. The tonic accent is placed on the last syllable ; on the last but one when the word ends in e mute. Ex. : Constitution, magnifique.

II. Consonants at the ends of words are NOT to be sounded : c, f, l, and r are the only exceptions, and even these are not always pronounced.

III. The last consonant of a word is sounded when the next word begins with a vowel or a silent h. S or x sound then almost like z (Ex. : Dix_oiseaux) ; f like v (Ex. : Neuf_hommes) ; d like t (Ex. : Un grand_homme) ; g like k (Ex. : Le sang_humain).

IV. The ending ent of a verb is NOT pronounced. Ex. : Ils chantent.

V. C with a cedilla should be sounded like s. Ex. : Garçon.

VI. The r's must be ROLLED, not slurred, and the monosyllabic words distinctly sounded. Ex. : Je courrai ; il ne me l'a pas dit.

FIRST TERM

FIRST LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and Nos. 1 to 4 of the verb AVOIR, page 21 :

1. The ACUTE accent (') is placed upon the e only. Ex. :

sévérité, severity.

2. The GRAVE accent (`) is placed upon the former of two e's separated by a consonant when the latter is an e mute. Ex. :

collège, college ; piège, snare.

Obs. : The grave accent also distinguishes à (at or to) from a (has), la (the) from là (there), ou (or) from où (where), etc.

3. The CIRCUMFLEX accent (^) is placed upon any vowel except y to lengthen its sound. Ex. :

âme, soul ; fête, feast ; côte, coast.

4. The APOSTROPHE (') denotes the suppression of e or a at the end of a monosyllabic word. This suppression takes place when the next word begins with a vowel or a silent h. Ex. :

l'oiseau (for le oiseau), the bird.

l'âme (for la âme), the soul.

l'homme (for le homme), the man.

5. The DIARESIS (¨) separates the sound of the vowel over which it is placed from that of the preceding vowel. Ex. :

haïr (pr. ha-ir), to hate.

II.—Spell with French letters the following words, and learn them :

le père,	the father.	l'oncle,	the uncle.
la mère,	the mother.	la tante,	the aunt.
le frère,	the brother.	le cousin,	the cousin.
la sœur,	the sister.	la cousine,	the female cousin.
voici,	here is.	voilà,	there is.

III. A.—Read and translate :

1. J'ai.—2. Nous avons.—3. Ayant.—4. Eu.—5. Il a.—6. Le père a.—7. Tu as.—8. Ils ont.—9. Avoir.—10. Vous avez.

B.—Translate into French :

1. They have.—2. Here is the father.—3. There is the mother.—4. Having.—5. To have.—6. The brother has.—7. Here is the sister.—8. There is the cousin (female).—9. The aunt has.—10. You have.

• SECOND LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and Nos. 5 and 6 of the verb AVOIR, page 22 :

1. There are in French two genders only, the masculine and the feminine ; and three articles, the DEFINITE, the INDEFINITE, and the PARTITIVE.

DEFINITE ARTICLE.

2. The definite article le, la, les is declined with the help of de, meaning of or from, and à, meaning to or at.

Masculine.	Feminine.	Plural. le	la	les, the.
du*	de la	des,* of or from the.
au*	à la	aux,* at or to the.

* OBS. : Du stands for de le, au for à le, des for de les, aux for à les.

3. Before a noun beginning with a vowel or silent h, whether masculine or feminine, use :

l'	for	the.
de l'	„	of or from the.
à l'	„	at or to the.

Examples :

Masculine.	Feminine.
le père, the father.	la mère, the mother.
du père, of or from the father.	de la mère, of or from the mother.
au père, at or to the father.	à la mère, at or to the mother.

With a vowel or silent h :

l'oncle, the uncle.
 de l'oncle, of or from the uncle.
 à l'oncle, at or to the uncle.

Plural.

des pères, des mères, des oncles, of or from the fathers, mothers, uncles.
aux pères, aux mères, aux oncles. at or to the fathers, mothers, uncles.

*II.—Decline, in class, both in the singular and plural :—*Le frère ; la sœur ; l'enfant (the child) ; l'homme (silent h, the man) ; la haine (aspirate h, hatred) ; and learn these words :

le livre,	the book.	le gant,	the glove. l'honneur,	honour.	la plume,	the pen.
l'air,	the air.	l'oie,	the goose.
le héros (aspirate h),	the hero.	la fièvre,	the fever.
l'argent,	money.	la terre,	the earth.

III. A.—Decline, in class, from 1 to 5 ; read and translate from 6 to 10 :

1. Le livre.—2. La plume.—3. L'honneur.—4. L'oie.—5. Le héros.—6. J'ai le livre.—7. Ils ont la plume.—8. Nous avons l'argent.—9. Avoir la fièvre.—10. Vous aviez les gants.

B.—Translate into French :

1. Of the pen.—2. To the book.—3. From the man.—4. To the hero.—5. Of the men.—6. To the geese.—7. I had the books.—8. You have the glove.—9. Here is the money.—10. They had the pen.

THIRD LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and Nos. 7 and 8 of the verb AVOIR, page 22 :

1. THE INDEFINITE ARTICLE.

The indefinite article un, une is, like the definite article, declined with the help of de and à. Ex. :

Masculine.		Feminine. un,	a or an.	une,	a or an.
d'un,	of or from a.	d'une,	of or from a.
à un,	at or to a.	à une,	at or to a.

Examples.

un garçon,	a boy.	une fille,	a girl.
d'un garçon,	of or from a boy.	d'une fille,	of or from a girl.
à un garçon,	at or to a boy.	à une fille,	at or to a girl.

Obs. : The plural of un, une is des or de = some or any.

2. THE PARTITIVE ARTICLE.

Masculine.	Feminine.	Plural. du*	de la*	des, some or any.

* Obs. : Before a masculine with a vowel or a silent h use de l'.

Examples :

du pain,	some bread.	de la viande,	some meat.	des pois,	some peas.
de l'or,	some gold.	de l'eau,	some water.

II.—Decline, in class, both in the singular and plural :—Le tapis (the carpet) ; l'huile (fem., the oil) ; un hôtel (an hotel) ; une chambre (a room) ; and learn these words :

du papier,	some paper.	la chaise,	the chair.
un habit (silent h),	a coat.	l'âme,	the soul.
le cahier,	the copy-book.	la robe,	the dress.
le crayon,	the pencil.	une maison,	a house.
la table,	the table.	et,	and.

III. A.—Decline, in class, from 1 to 6 ; read and translate from 6 to 12 :

1. Le papier.—2. Une table.—3. Un habit.—4. La chaise.
- 5. L'enfant.—6. L'âme.—7. J'avais un livre.—8. Il a la fièvre.—9. Vous aurez de l'argent.—10. J'ai un crayon.—11. Elle aurait une robe.—12. Tu as de l'huile.

B.—Translate into French :

1. Of or from a table.—2. At or to the house.—3. Of a coat.
- 4. From the coats.—5. To the children.—6. Of or from the men.—7. You had a coat.—8. I shall have some gold.—9. She would have a dress.—10. Here is some bread, and there is some water.

FOURTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and Nos. 9 to 11 of the verb AVOIR, page 22 :

1. Both NOUNS and ADJECTIVES form their plural in French by the addition of s to the singular. Ex. :

le garçon, les garçons, the boys.

jeune, jeunes, young.

Obs. : An adjective is always plural when the noun it qualifies is plural. Ex. : Le jeune frère, les jeunes frères.

2. The above rule has three exceptions :

NOUNS and ADJECTIVES ending in	}	al change l into ux . Ex. : Le cheval, les chevaux (the horses); royal, royaux (royal).
		au, eu take x . Ex. : Le ruisseau, les ruisseaux (the brooks); beau, beaux (beautiful).
		x or s or z do not change. Ex. : La noix, les noix (the nuts); heureux, heureux (happy).

(ou take s. Ex. : Le trou, les trous (the holes).

Exceptions : Bijou (jewel), caillou (pebble), chou (cabbage), genou (knee), hibou (owl), joujou (plaything), pou (louse), which take x; these are all masculine.

NOUNS ending in	}	ail change il into ux . Ex. : Le travail, les travaux (the works).
		Ail (garlic), bail (lease), corail (coral), émail (enamel), soupirail (vent-hole), ventail (folding door), vitrail (church window): these are the only nouns in ail which change il into ux ; they are all masculine.

*II.—Decline, in class, both in the singular and plural :—*Le frère aîné (the eldest brother); la jeune sœur (the young sister); un joli cheval (a nice horse); une voix douce (a soft voice); l'excellente nouvelle (the excellent news); and learn these words :

le nez,	the nose.	timide,	timid. l'oiseau,	the bird.	grande (fem.),	large.
un jour de congé,	a holiday.	petite (fem.),	small.
la bonté,	the kindness.	bonne (fem.),	kind.
neuf,	new.	aimable,	amiable. deux, two.

III. A.—Decline, in class, from 1 to 6; read and translate from 6 to 12:

1. Le beau cheval.—2. Une grande maison.—3. La petite robe.—4. Le joujou neuf.—5. Un joli nez.—6. L'oiseau timide.—7. Ayez la bonté de...(to).—8. Qu'il ait.—9. J'aurai une maison.—10. Ils auraient la bonté de...(to).—11. Nous avons un jour de congé.—12. Voilà de l'argent.

B.—Translate into French:

1. Of or from the large house.—2. To the amiable man.—3. From a kind mother.—4. A small dress.—5. Some children.—6. He has the kindness to...(de).—7. They will have two horses.—8. Let us have.—9. You had the pencil.—10. Here are the new toys.

FIFTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and the "compound tenses" of the verb AVOIR, page 23:

1. The English POSSESSIVE case is translated by inverting the order of the English nouns, as illustrated below:

Edward's house,	la maison d'Édouard.
the father's book,	le livre du père.
the mother's pencil,	le crayon de la mère.
the brother's coat,	l'habit du frère.
the father's books,	les livres du père.
the mother's pencils,	les crayons de la mère.
the child's toy,	le joujou de l'enfant.
the children's toys,	les joujoux des enfants.
a father's kindness,	la bonté d'un père.
a mother's love,	} l'amour d'une mère.

II.—Decline, in class, both in the singular and plural:—Le cheval de Frédéric (Frederick's horse); le meilleur ami de Marie (Mary's best friend); la joie d'un enfant (a child's delight); la voix de l'homme (both nouns plural), (man's voice); and learn these words:

le chien,	the dog.	le palais,	the palace.
le jardinier,	the gardener.	le journal,	the newspaper.

le fruit,	the fruit.	la patience,	patience.
le prix,	the prize.	la lettre,	the letter.
l'ami, e (m. and f.)	the friend.	la reine,	the queen.
la lampe,	the lamp.	ou,	or.

III. A.—Decline, in class, from 1 to 6; read and translate from 6 to 12:

1. Le chien du jardinier.—2. Le palais de la reine.—3. Le joujou de l'enfant.—4. L'oiseau d'un ami.—5. Les chevaux de l'oncle.—6. L'huile de la lampe.—7. Ils ont eu la bonté de...—8. SIXTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and Nos. 1 to 4 of the verb ÊTRE, page 21:

1. Adjectives form their feminine by the addition of e mute to the masculine form. Ex.:

petit, petite, small.

2. The above rule has five exceptions:

e mute do not change. Ex.: Facile, facile (easy);
aimable, aimable (amiable).

ADJEC-TIVES ending in
| on, el, eil, ien, et double the last consonant, and add e mute. Ex.: Bon, bonne (good); cruel, cruelle (cruel).

f change f into ve. Ex.: Neuf, neuve (new).

x change x into se. Ex.: heureux, heureuse (happy).

eur* change eur into euse. Ex.: Trompeur, trompeuse (deceitful).

* Except those in erieur, which follow the general rule.

3. The adjective takes the gender and number of the noun it qualifies. Ex. :

un bon petit garçon,	a good little boy. une bonne petite fille,	a good little girl. de bons petits garçons,	some good little boys.
de bonnes petites filles,	some good little girls.

II.—Write out negatively the simple tenses of avoir, and learn these words :

They have an old uncle in France.—6. Here is a handsome child.—7. France is a fine country.—8. There is a long pole.—9. The sky is blue.—10. A little child's blue eyes (tr. eyes blue).

EIGHTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and Nos. 7 and 8 of the verb ÊTRE, page 22 :

1. An adjective usually FOLLOWS the noun in French. These few are excepted :

beau,	beautiful.	joli,	pretty.
bon,	good.	long,	long.
cher,	dear, beloved.	mauvais,	bad.
digne,	worthy.	méchant,	naughty. excellent,	excellent.	meilleur,	better.
gentil,	nice.	moindre,	less. grand,	tall, large.	nouveau,	new, different.
gros,	big.	petit,	small, little.
jeune,	young.	vieux,	old.
		vilain,	ugly.

2. After a negative, and before an adjective preceding a noun, de or d' must be used instead of du, de la, des = some or any.
Ex. :

Je n'ai pas de pain.
I have no (not any) bread.

{ *De bon pain, some good bread.
{ *D'excellentes oranges, excellent oranges.

* Du, de la, des are now allowed in examinations before an adjective.

II.—Write out interrogatively the simple tenses of avoir, and learn these words :

le pain,	the bread.	mécontent,	dissatisfied.
le visage,	the face.	fatigué,	tired.
le bras,	the arm.	malade,	ill.
des ennuis,	some troubles.	attentif,	attentive.
Monsieur,	Sir.	paresseux,	lazy.
Madame,	Madam, Mrs.	ici,	here.

III. A.—Translate and account for the spelling or position of every word in italics :

1. Il n'a pas de pain.—2. Vous n'avez pas de fruits.—3. Un vilain habit.—4. J'étais mécontent.—5. Il n'aurait pas eu *d'*ennuis.—6. Nous sommes fatigués.—7. Un enfant malade.—8. Le frère et la sœur sont ici.—9. Elle est attentive.—10. Vous (m. pl.) êtes paresseux.—11. Un grand jeune homme.—12. Je (fem.) suis contente.

B.—Translate into French :

1. I have no sister.—2. You were here.—3. They (fem.) are lazy.—4. Some beautiful books.—5. She has a pretty face.—6. They have no friends.—7. Mr. and Mrs. A. are ill.—8. I should not have had any oranges.—9. They (masc.) have had no troubles.—10. She is dissatisfied.

NINTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and Nos. 9 to 11 of the verb ÊTRE, page 22 :

1. The "comparative of superiority" is formed by putting plus, more, before the adjective, and que, than, after it. Ex. :

Il est plus grand que vous.
He is taller (more tall) than you.

2. The "comparative of inferiority" is formed by putting moins, less, before the adjective, and que, than, after it. Ex. :

Il est moins grand que vous.
He is less tall than you.

3. The "comparative of equality" is formed by putting aussi before the adjective and que, as, after it. Ex. :

Il est aussi grand que vous.
He is as tall as you.

Obs. : "Aussi" (as) after a negative becomes "si" (so). Ex. :
Il n'est pas si grand que vous.
He is not so tall as you.

II.—Write out interrogatively the compound tenses of avoir, and learn these words :

le neveu,	the nephew.	intelligent,	intelligent.
le chien,	the dog.	avancé,	advanced.
le dernier,	the last.	intéressant,	interesting.
un animal,	an animal.	large,	wide.
Paul,	Paul.	fidèle,	faithful.
la nièce,	the niece.	fâché,	sorry.
la peine,	the trouble.	demain,	to-morrow. maintenant, now.

III. A.—Translate and account for the spelling of every word in italics :

1. Ils ne seront pas fatigués.—2. Paul est moins grand que sa sœur.—3. Sa (his) nièce est plus intelligente que son (his) neveu.—4. Tu ne serais pas si avancé qu'elle.—5. Vous n'étiez pas plus attentives que nous.—6. Je n'ai pas eu de peine.—7. Nous n'avons pas eu d'argent.—8. Ils ont de gros chiens.—9. Ce (this) livre n'est pas si intéressant que le dernier.—10.—Il est plus aimable qu'elle.—11. J'ai de grands neveux.—12. La chambre est plus longue que large.

B.—Translate into French :

1. I (fern.) shall be more attentive than you.—2. He is not so handsome as his brother.—3. Paul is not so nice as his sister.—4. The dog is a faithful animal.—5. I should not have had any trouble.—6. He has no friends.—7. I shall have some friends to-morrow.—8. He would be sorry.—9. I have a better pen.—10. They have a larger house now.

TENTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and the compound tenses of the verb ÊTRE, page 23 :

1. The "superlative" is formed by putting the definite article before the adverbs of comparison plus and moins. Ex. :

Il est le plus grand des trois.
He is the tallest of the three.

Obs.: (1.) This superlative is called "superlative relative," and translates both English forms "most tall" and "tallest." (2.) When the adjective is not one of those which precede the noun, LE PLUS, LE MOINS, together with the adjective, should be placed after the noun. Ex. :

L'homme le plus heureux.
The happiest man.

2. Another way of forming the superlative is to add the adverbs très, fort (very), extrêmement (extremely), before the adjective. Ex. :

Elle est très intelligente.
She is very intelligent.

Obs.: This superlative is called "superlative absolute."

3. The "definite" and "partitive articles" are often understood in English; they must be EXPRESSED in French. Ex. :

J'aime les pommes et les poires.
I like apples and pears.

J'ai des amis dans la ville.
I have friends in the town.

II.—Write out interrogatively and negatively the simple and compound tenses of avoir, and learn these words :

le pommier,	the apple-tree.	bonjour,	good morning.
le poirier,	the pear-tree.	bonsoir,	good evening.
le champ,	the field.	jaune,	yellow.
les légumes,	the vegetables.	chaud,	warm.
le défaut,	the defect.	fort,	strong.
Mademoiselle,	Miss.	sur,	upon.
la viande,	the meat.	dans,	in. encore, still, yet.

III. A.—Translate and account for the spelling or position of every word in italics:

1. Avez-vous du pain?—2. Bonjour, Monsieur; bonsoir, Mademoiselle.—3. Les gants jaunes sont sur la chaise.—4. Elle est très intelligente.—5. Le pommier est plus grand que le poirier.—6. La cousine est moins grande que le frère.—7. Le jardin n'est pas si grand que le champ.—8. Le plus beau cheval (decline).—9. Les plus beaux chevaux (decline).—10. Les légumes sont plus chauds que la viande.—11. Il a de très grands défauts.—12. L'enfant le plus heureux (decline).

B.—Translate into French :

1. Have you any friends in the town?—2. No, I have no friends here.—3. Has she still her (son) brother with her?—4. This is (voici) the largest house in the (du) village.—5. She is not very strong.—6. The least amiable of the two is (c'est) Mary.—7. The least cruel animals.—8. The streets of the town are larger than the streets of the village.—9. A very fine white rose.—10. Some very fine white roses.

RULES ON FRENCH CONSTRUCTION.

I.—To conjugate a verb NEGATIVELY put NE before the verb and PAS after in the “simple tenses”; NE before the Auxiliary and PAS before the Past Participle in the “compound tenses.”

II.—To conjugate a verb INTERROGATIVELY put the pronoun nominative after the VERB in the “simple tenses,” after the AUXILIARY in the “compound tenses.”

III.—A HYPHEN always connects the verb and the pronoun in the interrogative form.

IV.—When the verb ends in a vowel in the 3rd person singular, a EUPHONIC T is placed between it and the following pronoun.

V.—The COMPOUND TENSES are formed by adding the Past Participle to the “simple tenses” of AVOIR.

[END OF THE FIRST TERM.]

SECOND TERM

FIRST LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and Nos. 1 to 5 of the verb FLATTER, page 42 :

1. The personal pronouns used as NOMINATIVES are :—Je, tu, il, elle, nous, vous, ils, elles.

OBS. : TU (thou) is used by parents speaking to their children, or vice versa ; by husband and wife ; also by intimate friends.

2. The following personal pronouns, called CONJUNCTIVE, immediately precede the verb in French. (Look for examples in No. III. A.)

(a.) ACCUSATIVE AND DATIVE (used as).

(b.) ACCUSATIVE ONLY (used as).

----	-----------------------------	----	-----------------------------	-------------------

(c.) DATIVE ONLY (used as).

lui	{ to him. to her.	leur, to them.
-----	------------------------------------	-----------------------

OBS. : M', T', S', L' are used of me, te, se, le, la before a verb beginning with a vowel.

II.—Write out negatively the simple tenses of être, and learn these words :

l'élève (masc. and fem.), the pupil.	sage,	good.
le dîner,	the dinner.	reconnaissant,
la pitié,	compassion.	grateful.
la jambe,	the leg.	riche,
une épaule,	a shoulder.	rich.
Julie,	Julia.	obligé,
		obliged. hier,
		yesterday. demain,
		to-morrow.

III. A.—Translate and account for the spelling or position, as the case may be, of every word in italics :

1. Je n'avais pas de cahier.—2. N'auriez-vous pas eu pitié d'elle (on her) ?—3. Les élèves de M. L. ne sont pas sages.—4. Je vous suis très reconnaissante, Madame.—5. Où sont les gants de Julie? Je les ai.—6. Nous les aurons demain à dîner.—7. Je n'ai pas de livres.—8. Elle nous est très chère.—9. Tu ne l'auras pas.—10. Mes (my) cousins sont moins riches que mes cousines.—11. Il me flatte.—12. Vous le flattez.

B.—Translate into French :

1. He had no friends.—2. Would they not have had compassion on her (d'elle) ?—3. She is very grateful to me.—4. We are not very rich.—5. I have them.—6. I (fem.) am obliged to her.—7. Have I not had it?—8. He is flattering you.—9. Mr. L.'s pupils are not so good to-day as yesterday.—10. They flatter us.

SECOND LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and Nos. 6 to 8 of the verb FLATTER, page 42 :

1. It, nominative, is translated by il or elle.

It, accusative, „ le or la. Ex. :

Where is my book ?—It (nom.) is on the table.

Où est mon livre ?—Il est sur la table.

Where is my pen ?—It (nom.) is on the table.

Où est ma plume ?—Elle est sur la table.

I do not see it (acc.) { Je ne le vois pas (le livre).
Je ne la vois pas (la plume).

2. French pronouns only follow the verb in one single case—when the verb is in the imperative mood WITHOUT a negative. Ex. :

Flatter him, flattez-le.

Obs. : With a negative, the pronoun should again be placed before the verb. Ex. : Do not flatter him, ne le flattez pas.—When placed after the verb me becomes “moi,” and te “toi,” for the sake of euphony. Ex. : Speak to me, parlez-moi.

II.—Write out negatively the compound tenses of être, and learn these words :

le coude, the elbow.	Jean, John.
le chapeau, the hat.	la main, the hand.
le lit, the bed.	obéissant, obedient.
le chat, the cat.	pour, for.
le pupitre, the desk.	là, there.
le pied, the foot.	si loin, so far.
l'orteil, the toe.	un peu, a little.

III. A.—Translate and account for the spelling or position of every word in italics :

1. Nous lui sommes très reconnaissants.—2. Les élèves de Madame A. n'ont pas été obéissants.—3. Jean n'a pas eu de prix.—4. Il ne les a pas.—5. Mon chapeau n'est pas sur le lit ; il est sur la chaise.—6. Ils nous flatteront.—7. Je n'ai pas de nouvelles de la sœur de Jean.—8. Ne le flattez pas.—9. Où est le chat ? Je ne le vois pas.—10. Flattons-les un peu.—11. Les as-tu ?—12. Nous n'aurions pas été heureuses si loin de vous.

B.—Translate into French :

1. Where is my book ? It is on the desk.—2. Do not flatter them (leave out "do").—3. Have you had any news from Mr. B.'s nephews ?—4. I (fem.) am much (very) obliged to her.—5. Shall I have any money to-morrow ?—6. I see it (a pen) ; it is on the desk.—7. Flatter her a little.—8. We have not been there.—9. Is she as happy as her sister ?—10. I have some good news for you.

THIRD LESSON.

I.—Learn the following cardinal numbers and Nos. 9 to 11 of the verb FLATTER page 42 :

1, un, une.	4, quatre.	7, sept.	10, dix.
2, deux.	5, cinq.	8, huit.	11, onze.
3, trois.	6, six.	9, neuf.	12, douze.

1. She is twenty-five years old (tr. she has twenty-five years).
 —2. Six, sixteen, and sixty.—3. The year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one (mil instead of mille).—4. Mrs. L. has seventy-seven pupils.—5. I shall have sixty-seven francs and ninety-five centimes.—6. If I had (Imperfect) mamma's purse, I should be richer than you.—7. They would flatter us.—8. He would not have been there.—9. I (fem.) am very tired.—10. Let them flatter us.

FOURTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and Nos. 1 to 6 of the verb PUNIR, page 43 :

1. Ordinal numbers are formed by the addition of the syllable ième to the corresponding cardinal numbers.

1st, premier (exception).	21st, vingt et unième.
2nd, second or deuxième.	22nd, vingt-deuxième.
3rd, troisième.	100th, centième.
4th, quatrième.	1000th, millième.

OBS. : Premier and second are not used after tens. Ex. : Vingt et unième, trente-deuxième.

2. The cardinal numbers are used in French when speaking of sovereigns or dates. Ex. :

Henry the Fourth, Henri quatre.
May the 10th, le dix mai.

EXCEPTIONS : Francis the 1st—François 1^{er}; the first of May=le 1^{er} mai.

3. Notice the differences between the English and the French ways of expressing dates :

On¹ the twenty-thirdrd of^s March.
— Le vingt-trois — mars.

II.—Write out negatively the simple tenses of parler (to speak), and learn these words :

dimanche,	Sunday.	mai,	May. lundi,	Monday.	juin,	June. mardi,	Tuesday.	juillet,	July. mercredi,	Wednesday.	août,	August.
jeudi,	Thursday.	septembre,	September. vendredi,	Friday.	octobre,	October. samedi,	Saturday.	novembre,	November. décembre,	December.
janvier,	January.	le printemps,	the spring. février,	February.	l'été,	the summer. mars,	March.	l'automne,	the autumn.
avril,	April	l'hiver,	the winter.

III. A.—Write out the ordinal numbers from 60th to 100th, and translate:

1. Louis quatorze était roi (king) de France.—2. Le vingt-quatre janvier.—3. Dimanche est le premier jour (day) de la semaine (week), lundi, le deuxième, etc.—4. Je serai à Paris le vingt-cinq juillet.—5. Le trois août mil huit cent soixante-dix-neuf.—6. Cinquième, quinzième, cinquantième.—7. Je le punis.—8. Il vous flattera.—9. George quatre.—10. Le mois (month) d'août est le huitième mois de l'année (fem. the year).—11. Vous la punissiez.—12. Le printemps est une belle saison (season).

B. Translate into French:

1. The twenty-first of June is the longest day in (of) the year.—2. On the 3rd of July, 1880.—3. January is the first month of the year, February the second, etc.—4. You would flatter them.—5. Louis the 18th was (past) king of France.—6. He is punishing her.—7. December is the last (dernier) month of the year.—8. On the 15th of February one thousand seven hundred and fifty-five.—9. I used to punish him.—10. Francis (François) the First.

FIFTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and Nos. 7 to 11 of the verb PUNIR, page 43:

1. How to express time in French:

3	o'clock	is translated by	3	heures
5'	past 3	"	3	" cinq.
$\frac{1}{4}$	" 3	"	3	" un quart or et quart.
$\frac{3}{4}$	" 3	"	3	" et demie.
$\frac{1}{4}$	to 4	"	4	" moins un quart.
5'	" 4	"	4	" moins cinq.

2. The following negatives obey the rule applying to ne... pas (see page 21):

ne...point,	not.	ne...jamais,	never.
ne...rien,	nothing.	ne...plus,	no more.
*ne...personne,	nobody.	ne...guère,	hardly.
*ne...que,	only, but.	*ne...ni...ni,	neither, nor.

*Ex. : Je n'ai que trois francs. I have only three francs.
Il n'a jamais été malade, he never was ill.*

* Obs. : The second negative particles "personne," "que," "ni" follow the past participles in compound tenses. Ex. : Je n'ai vu que lui.

II.—Write out interrogatively and negatively with NE...RIEN the simple tenses of aimer (to love), and learn these words :

le menton,	the chin.	la manche,	the sleeve.
le vin,	the wine.	midi,	noon, twelve o'clock.
le repos,	the rest.	minuit,	midnight.
le bas,	the stocking.	passé,	past.
Pierre,	Peter.	il est (of time),	it is...
une leçon,	a lesson.	quelle heure est-il?	what time is it?

III. A.—Translate and account for the spelling or position of every word in italics :

1. Je ne suis plus malade.—2. Il n'a jamais eu de leçons.—3. Il ne le punira pas.—4. Vous n'aurez ni pain ni vin.—5. Il est midi moins vingt.—6. Je ne lui parlerai pas.—7. Vous ne les puniriez pas.—8. Ont-ils été désobéissants?—9. Il ne punira ni Pierre ni Paul.—10. Tu n'aurais rien eu.—11. Il n'a que trois ans (is...old).—12. Mercredi le vingt janvier mil huit cent soixante-quinze.

B.—Translate into French :

1. On the 15th of February, 1877.—2. What time is it? It is a quarter to nine.—3. Punish them (2nd plural).—4. I shall not speak to her.—5. It is past twelve (at night).—6. He would not have had any rest.—7. I have not had anything (not anything=nothing).—8. He never had (present perfect) any lessons.—9. It is only ten minutes to eleven.—10. Have they never been in France?

SIXTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and Nos. 1 to 6 of the verb RECEVOIR, page 44 :

1. Possessive ADJECTIVES always precede the noun, and agree with it in gender and number.

SINGULAR.		PLURAL.
Masculine.	Feminine.	For both genders.
mon,	ma,	mes,	my.
ton,	ta,	tes,	thy.
son,	sa,	sès,	his, her.
For both genders.
	notre,	nos,	our.
	votre,	vos,	your.
	leur,	leurs,	theirs.

Obs. : Mon, ton, son are used instead of ma, ta, sa before feminine words beginning with a vowel or a silent h.

2. Possessive PRONOUNS stand in the place of nouns, and are never followed by them ; they always take the article, and agree in gender and number with the noun they replace.

SINGULAR.		PLURAL.
Masculine.	Feminine.	Masculine.	Feminine.
le mien,	la mienne,	les miens,	les miennes, mine.
le tien,	la tienne,	les tiens,	les tiennes, thine.
le sien,	la sienne,	les siens,	les siennes, his, hers.
For both genders.
le nôtre,	la nôtre,	les nôtres,	ours.
le vôtre,	la vôtre,	les vôtres,	yours.
le leur,	la leur,	les leurs,	theirs.

II.—Write out negatively with NE . . . JAMAIS the simple tenses of finir (to finish), and learn these words :

le fer,	iron.	la brique,	the brick.
le soulier,	the shoe.	sombre,	gloomy.
l'affection,	the affection.	souvent,	often.
la chaussette,	the sock.	aimer,	to like, to love.
la bottine,	the boot.	donner,	to give.
l'humeur (f.)	the temper.	prêter,	to lend.

III. A.—Translate and account for the spelling or position of every word in italics :

1. Je le reçois.—2. Il est dix heures vingt-cinq.—3. Monsieur B. n'a que quatre élèves.—4. Mon frère a mon crayon ; j'ai le sien.—5. Notre jardin est plus grand que le leur.—6. Donnez-moi ma plume ; voici la vôtre.—7. Je n'aime pas son humeur sombre.—8. Je ne punis pas vos élèves ; je punis les miens.—9. Je les reçois souvent.—10. Ne les aime-t-il pas ?—11. Mon affection pour mes neveux est grande.—12. Voici mes livres ; où sont les vôtres ?

B.—Translate into French :

1. I used to receive her.—2. Lend me your pen ; here is mine.—3. I shall never finish it.—4. Does he not like her ?—5. To give is better (vaut mieux) than to receive.—6. She gives me her money.—7. We have not had any rest.—8. Do not give her (= to her) my books.—9. I shall lend you (= to you) ours (books).—10. His temper, his bad temper.

SEVENTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and Nos. 7 to 11 of the verb RECEVOIR, page 44 :

1. Demonstrative ADJECTIVES are always followed by a noun with which they agree in gender and number :

SINGULAR.		PLURAL.
Masculine.	Feminine.	For both genders.
ce	cette, this .	ces, these .
cet*

* OBS. 1.: The second masculine form cet is only used before words beginning with a vowel or a silent h. Ex. : Cet enfant, cet homme.

OBS. 2.: The particles ci and là are sometimes made to follow a noun preceded by a demonstrative adjective ; ci is used for this, and là for that. Ex. : Cet homme-ci, this man ; cette femme-là, that woman.

2. Demonstrative PRONOUNS are never followed by a noun ; they agree in gender and number with the noun they replace.

SINGULAR.		PLURAL.
Masculine.	Feminine.	Masculine.	Feminine.
celui-ci,	celle-ci, this one.	ceux-ci,	celles-ci, these.
celui-là,	celle-là, that one.	ceux-là,	celles-là, those.

II.—Write out interrogatively and negatively the simple tenses of obéir (to obey), and learn these words :

le thème,	the exercise.	la chambre à coucher,	the bed-room.
l'ouvrage,	the work.
le salon,	the drawing-room.	la salle à manger,	the dining-room.
la canne,	the stick.
la bague,	the ring.	fatigant,	tiresome.
la porte,	the door.	avant,	before.
la fenêtre,	the window.	où,	where.

montrer, to show.

III. A.—Translate and account for the spelling or position of every word in italics :

1. Il ne nous recevra pas.—2. Cet enfant a de beaux yeux.—3. Ne la recevez pas.—4. Donnez-lui cette canne et prêtez-moi celle-ci.—5. Je n'ai pas de plume ; prêtez-moi la vôtre.—6. Voilà mon thème ; où est le sien?—7. Finissez votre ouvrage avant dîner.—8. Il est sept heures et quart.—9. Montrez-moi d'autres bijoux ; je n'aime pas ceux-ci.—10. Où avez-vous été?—11. Je ne lui donne plus d'argent.—12. Je donnerai ce livre à Paul et celui-là à Pierre.

B.—Translate into French :

1. I shall receive them.—2. This man is very old.—3. He never finishes his exercises.—4. Do not receive them (2nd person singular).—5. I shall keep this one (a jewel).—6. I do not like his friends.—7. Does he not obey you?—8. These little girls are tiresome.—9. Give me that ring and keep this one.—10. He has not had any news from his brother.

EIGHTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and Nos. 1 to 6 of the verb RENDRE, page 45 :

1. The relative pronoun qui, who or which, is declined with à and de, and is always of the same gender and number as its antecedent.

qui,	who or which.
de qui or dont,*	of whom, of which, whose.
à qui,	to whom.
que or qu'	whom or which.

* Obs. : De qui is used when speaking of persons only ; dont when speaking of persons and things.

2. Which, when speaking of things and used after a preposition, is translated by lequel, laquelle, lesquels, lesquelles, according to the gender and number of the noun replaced. These pronouns are to be declined with à and de.

	SINGULAR.		PLURAL.
	Masculine.	Feminine.	Masculine.	Feminine.
N. & A.	lequel,	laquelle,	lesquels,	lesquelles,	who or which.
G.	duquel,	de laquelle,	desquels,	desquelles,	of whom or of which.
D.	auquel,	à laquelle,	auxquels,	auxquelles,	to whom or to which

II.—Write out negatively with NE...PLUS the simple tenses of devoir (to owe), and learn these words :

l'objet,	the thing.	la chose,	the thing.
le monsieur,	the gentleman.	quelque chose,	something.
le crayon,	the crayon.	désirer,	to wish for la personne,	the person.	gronder,	to scold.
la boîte,	the box.	demeurer,	to live.
une visite,	a visit.	dessiner,	to draw.
la dame,	the lady.	garder,	to keep.
la faute,	the mistake.	trouver,	to find.

avec, with.

III. A.—Translate and account for the use, spelling or position of every word in italics :

1. L'homme dont vous me parlez.—2. La personne à qui je désire parler.—3. L'objet dont (or duquel) il vous parle.—4. Je ne rends plus de visites.—5. Cet objet est très cher ; celui-là est encore plus cher.—6. La boîte dans laquelle j'ai trouvé cette bague.—7. Je lui rends son argent.—8. Les fautes pour lesquelles je le gronde.—9. La chose dont (or de laquelle) il vous parle.—10. J'ai son chapeau; il a le mien.—11. Il n'est qu'à deux heures dix.—12. Vous prêterait-il de l'argent?

B.—Translate into French:

1. The lady who speaks to you.—2. The things of which (two ways) they speak.—3. The gentleman to whom I owe the money.—4. The house in which I live.—5. I owe him (=to him) nothing.—6. They wish for something.—7. We do not give her (=to her) back the money.—8. The crayons with which I am drawing.—9. Do not (2nd person plural) give him (=to him) the money.—10. Give me this ring and keep that one.

NINTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and Nos. 7 to 11 of the verb RENDRE, page 45:

1. There are five PRIMARY or PRIMITIVE TENSES in a verb; these help to form all the others, which are called DERIVED tenses. The five primitive tenses are:

The PRESENT INFINITIVE.

The PRESENT PARTICIPLE.

The PAST PARTICIPLE.

The PRESENT INDICATIVE.

The PAST or PASSÉ DÉFINI.

2. From the PRESENT INFINITIVE are formed:

(a.) the Future by the addition of ai. Ex.: Je flatter-ai.

(b.) the Conditional „ ais. Ex.: Je flatter-ais.

Obs.: The double vowel ai is dropped in the Future and Conditional of the 3rd conj. Ex.: Je recev(oi)r-ai=je recevrai.—The vowel e is dropped in the Future and Conditional of the 4th conj. Ex.: Je rendr(e)-ai=je rendrai.

3. From the PRESENT PARTICIPLE are formed :

- (a.) the Plural persons, Present Indicative,* by changing ant into ons. Ex. : Finiss-ant ; nous finiss-ons.
- (b.) the Imperfect,
by changing ant into ais. Ex. : Finiss-ant ; je finiss-ais.
- (c.) the Present Subjunctive Mood,* by changing ant into e. Ex. : Finiss-ant ; que je finiss-e.

* OBS. : The verbs of the 3rd conjugation have oir instead of ev in the singular persons of the Present Subjunctive Mood, and in the 3rd plural present tense of both Indicative and Subjunctive Moods. Ex. : Recevant ; ils reçoivent.

II.—Write out interrogatively the simple tenses of the verb apercevoir (to perceive), and learn these words :

le plafond,	the ceiling.	le store,	the blind.
le plancher,	the floor.	la vitre,	the window-pane.
un instrument,	a tool.	court, e,	short.
le mur,	the wall.	mûr, e,	ripe.
le rideau,	the curtain.	travailler,	to work.
le maître,	the master.	pourquoi,	why.

III. A.—Translate and give the primitive tenses of all the verbs in italics :

1. Vous ne lui rendez pas l'argent qu'il vous prête.—2. Ne lui rendez rien.—3. Il me doit cinq francs.—4. Vous obéit-il ? —5. Elle ne reçoit plus de visites.—6. Elle vous punira.—7. La rue dans laquelle ils demeurent.—8. Les instruments avec lesquels je travaille.—9. Qu'il me rende mon argent.—10. Son chapeau est plus cher que le vôtre.—11. Ces pommes sont plus grosses que celles-là.—12. Pourquoi ne finissez-vous pas votre thème ?

B.—Translate into French :

1. I shall not lend him (to him) any more money.—2. Give me back my book.—3. I give you twenty-five francs ; you owe me now seventy-five (add francs).—4. I shall obey you.—5. The village in which I live.—6. The pen with which I write (j'écris) is bad.—7. This coat is shorter than that one.—8. These apples are not so ripe as those.—9. He never punishes his pupils.—10. You do not obey your (to your) master.

TENTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and the “compound tenses” of the verbs FLATTER, PUNIR, RECEVOIR, and RENDRE, pages 46 and 47 :

1. The PAST PARTICIPLE forms all the “compound tenses” with the help of the auxiliary verbs avoir and être.

2. The PRESENT INDICATIVE forms the Present Imperative by dropping the pronoun nominative. Ex. :

Present Ind.—Tu punis ; nous punissons ; vous punissez.

Present Imp. — punis ; -- punissons ; — punissez.

OBS. : In the Imperative Mood, 1st conjugation, the s of the 2nd person singular is dropped.

3. From the PAST is formed the Imperfect Subjunctive Mood by the addition of se to the 2nd person singular. Ex. :

Past. Ind. Mood. — Tu flattas ; tu punis ; tu reçus.

Imp. Subj. Mood.—Que je flattas-se ; que je punis-se ; que je reçus-se.

II.—Write out interrogatively and negatively with NE...RIEN the simple tenses of vendre (to sell), and learn these words :

le buffet,	the sideboard.	la cuiller,	the spoon.
le sel,	the salt.	la soucoupe,	the saucer.
le poivre,	the pepper.	la carafe,	the water-bottle.
le couteau,	the knife.	haut, e,	tall.
le plat,	the dish.	choisir,	to choose.
la fourchette,	the fork.	déjà,	already.

III. A.—Translate and state from what primitive tenses the verbs in italics are derived ; correct also the articles, nouns, adjectives, or pronouns which you think wrongly spelt :

1. Nous ne l'avons pas flatté.—2. Avez-vous fini votre ouvrage ? J'ai fini le mien.—3. Je ne le recevrai pas.—4. Lui seriez-vous prêt de l'argent ?—5. Cet arbre est plus haute que celle-là.—6. Tu ne nous as pas rendu nos livres.—7. Nos fleurs sont moins beaux que les leurs.—8. Il ne nous devait rien.—9. Les choses de qui vous parlez.—10. La rue dans qui j'ai trouvé cette bourse.—11. Sur le vingt-unième de janvier mil huit cent onze.—12. Il ne me devrait plus de l'argent.

B.—Translate into French :

1. I have chosen a dress for my sister.—2. Do you speak to him?—3. He does not like naughty children.—4. Does your sister speak already?—5. On the 15th of September.—6. I do not speak to them.—7. Do you obey your (to your) master?—8. My house is not higher than this one.—9. The house of which (two ways) he was speaking.—10. The purse which I have found (trouvée).

RULES ON FRENCH CONSTRUCTION.

I.—A verb agrees with its NOMINATIVE in NUMBER and PERSON ; when there are two or more nominatives, it is always plural.

II.—Any French verb can be conjugated interrogatively by means of EST-CE QUE placed before the pronoun nominative, which, in this case, remains before the verb.—The interrogative form with EST-CE QUE must be used in the FIRST PERSON SINGULAR of the PRESENT and PAST TENSES.

OBS. : Verbs of the 1st conjugation, however, are sometimes conjugated interrogatively in the Present tense, by placing the pronoun nominative after the verb. In this case the final e of the 1st person singular takes an acute accent. Ex. : Chanté-je.

III.—When the nominative of an interrogative verb is A NOUN, that noun is generally left AT THE HEAD of the sentence ; however, in order to show that the sentence is an interrogative one, A PRONOUN of the same gender and number as the noun must be placed after the verb or the Auxiliary.

IV.—“NE” is generally placed next to the Nominative ; when the verb is an interrogative one, and has a pronoun for its nominative, “NE” HEADS the sentence.

V.—“DO” in “I do not like,” or “do you like?” “DOES” in “does he receive?” are not translated.

VI.—“I AM” and “I WAS,” followed by a PRESENT PARTICIPLE, are translated by one single word in French.

TABLE of the ENDINGS of the FOUR CONJUGATIONS.

1. That part of a verb which never changes is called the "root" or "stem"; the changing part is called the "ending."

2. The characteristic vowel of the 1st conjugation is a; that of the 2nd i,—of the 3rd u,—of the 4th i.

3. All the endings of the 2nd conjugation begin with i.

4. The student will derive great help from the comparison of the endings of the 2nd, 3rd and 4th conjugations with those of the 1st.

[END OF THE THIRD TERM.]

Second Part or Year

PRACTICAL RULES FOR TRANSLATION FROM ENGLISH INTO FRENCH.

I.—The PASSIVE VOICE is not so often used in French as in English. In most cases the English passive verb denoting action must be translated by an Active or a Reflective verb. Ex. :

He was often told by his friends.

Ses amis lui ont souvent dit (Active verb).

The door was opened.

La porte s'ouvrit (Reflective verb).*

* The reflective form is preferred when the agent is not mentioned.

II.—The English PAST TENSE should be translated :

(a.) By the Present perfect (or Passé indéfini) in every-day conversation. Ex. :

I saw him this morning.

Je l'ai vu ce matin.

(b.) By the Past tense (or Passé défini) in narrating historical events, or recording any succession of past actions, no particular time being mentioned. Ex. :

The battle began and ended in the midst of a snow-storm.

La bataille commença et prit fin au milieu d'une tempête de neige.

Two foxes entered a poultry-yard, killed the fowls, and appeased their hunger.

Deux renards entrèrent dans une basse-cour, étranglèrent les poules et apaisèrent leur faim.

Obs. : The Past tense is called the historical tense ; we often use the Present instead to make the narrative the more lively, and to avoid a too frequent repetition of the same endings.

III.—I used to, followed by a verb in the Infinitive tense—I was, followed by a Present participle—I did, followed by an Infinitive when expressing state—and any English PAST tense denoting an habitual fact or a continuous state, should be translated by the French IMPERFECT. Ex. :

I used to go to his house very often.

J'allais très souvent chez lui.

I was telling you that...

Je vous disais que...

I did not know you were ill.

Je ne savais pas que vous étiez malade.

During his stay here, he went regularly to church.

Quand il était ici, il allait régulièrement à l'église.

OBS.: The Imperfect is called the Descriptive tense.

IV.—Notice that to be giving and to give are translated by one single word, donner, and this is the case for ALL English Present participles preceded by the verb to be. Ex.:

I am giving, or I give = je donne.

He has been playing here = il a joué ici.

V.—The PAST PERFECT (or Passé antérieur) is used in French after such conjunctions as “quand,” “when;” “dès que,” “aussitôt que,” “as soon as;” “avant que,” “before;” “après que,” “after,” etc., to denote that a past action took place immediately before another; the PLUPERFECT denotes the state a person or a thing was in when that action took place. Ex.:

When I had finished he entered. (Action.)

Quand j'eus fini il entra.

I had done when he entered. (State.)

J'avais fini quand il entra.

OBS.: The “Past Perfect,” like the “Past Tense,” relate; the “Pluperfect” and the “Imperfect” describe.

VI.—1. Could, meaning was able, must be translated by the IMPERFECT, PAST, or PRESENT PERFECT of pouvoir. Ex.:

He could not come yesterday.

Il n'a pas pu venir hier.

2. Could or might, meaning should or would be able, must be translated by the CONDITIONAL of pouvoir. Ex.:

I could never do it if you did not help me.

Je ne pourrais jamais le faire si vous ne m'aidiez.

VII.—1. Would and the following Infinitive are most often translated by the CONDITIONAL of that Infinitive; when used as an equivalent to was willing, "would," should however be translated separately by the IMPERFECT, PAST, or PRESENT PERFECT of vouloir.

Ex. :

Would these children sing?

Ces enfants chanteraient-ils ?

He asked me to go to his house, but I would not.

Il m'a demandé d'aller chez lui, mais je n'ai pas voulu.

2. When a wish or condition is expressed or understood with reference to a future action, "would" must be translated by the CONDITIONAL of vouloir. Ex. :

I would not go there at any price.

Je ne voudrais y aller à aucun prix.

VIII.—Should and the following Infinitive are also most often translated by the CONDITIONAL, but when "should" is used as an equivalent to ought to, the Conditional of devoir must be used.
Ex. :

You should tell me those things.

Vous devriez me dire ces choses-là.

IX.—The DEFINITE ARTICLE is used in French, not in English :

(a.) Before nouns taken in a general sense. Ex. :

Youth is presumptuous, La jeunesse est présomptueuse.

I like oranges, J'aime les oranges.

(b.) Before names of sciences, seasons, metals, those of countries, provinces, virtues, and vices. Ex. :

France and England, La France et l'Angleterre.

Vice is odious, Le vice est odieux.

I like geology, J'aime la géologie.

(c.) Before nouns denoting measure, weight, and number. Ex. :

A shilling a yard, Un schelling le mètre.

Fourpence a pound, Quarante centimes la livre.

(d.) Before nouns expressing titles when followed by a proper name. Ex. :

General Aymard, Governor of Paris.

Le général Aymard, gouverneur de Paris.

X.—1. ARTICLES—DEMONSTRATIVE, POSSESSIVE, and INDEFINITE ADJECTIVES—PREPOSITIONS, should be repeated in French before every noun or pronoun ;—PRONOUNS, whether used as Nominative or Accusative, before every verb. Ex. :

The towns and villages,	Les villes et les villages.
Those men and women,	Ces hommes et ces femmes.
His straightforwardness and piety,	Son honnêteté et sa piété.
He has several boys and girls,	Il a plusieurs garçons et plusieurs filles.
I spoke of his character and virtues,	J'ai parlé de son caractère et de ses vertus.
I love and respect him,	Je l'aime et je le respecte.

Obs. :—When passing from affirmation to negation, the pronouns of the 3rd person are hardly ever repeated. Ex. :

He listens and cannot understand.
Il écoute et ne peut comprendre.

2. Those ADJECTIVES which precede the noun must also be repeated before every substantive. Ex. :

Large houses and gardens.
De grandes maisons et de grands jardins.

XI.—Words UNDERSTOOD, such as “to” in I gave my brother, etc., “whom” in the man I saw, or “in order” in I am coming to tell you, etc., must be expressed in French. Ex. :

J'ai donné à mon frère.
L'homme que j'ai vu.
Je viens pour vous dire.

XII.—1. Prepositions are followed in English by the PRESENT PARTICIPLE, in French by the PRESENT INFINITIVE : en, in, is the only exception. Ex. :

He speaks of going away, Il à l'intention de s'en aller.
(Exception) He told me on leaving us, etc., Il m'a dit en nous quittant, etc.

2. When two verbs follow each other, the second is always an INFINITIVE, unless, of course, the first is either être or avoir. Ex. :

Les avez-vous vus arriver ? Did you see them arriving ?

Interrogatively and Negatively.

N'y a-t-il pas ? etc.

2. As stated before, French pronouns PRECEDE the verb in the Simple tenses, the auxiliary verb in the Compound tenses. When SEVERAL pronouns are to be placed before the verb, the following rules must be observed :

(a.) When of the same person, the pronouns are placed in the same order as in English. Ex. :

I gave them to him, Je les lui ai donnés.

(b.) When of different persons the English order must be inverted. Ex. :

I gave them to you, Je vous les ai donnés.

(c.) Y (there, to it, at it) and EN (of it, some or any) are placed immediately before the verb. When both are used in the same sentence, y precedes en. Ex. :

I gave you some,	Je vous en ai donné.
I saw you there,	Je vous y ai vu.
Are there many there ?	Y en a-t-il beaucoup ?

(d.) In the Imperative Mood, affirmative form, the pronouns are placed in exactly the same order as in English. Ex. :

Send them to me,	Envoyez-les-moi.
Give me some,	Donnez-m'en.
Send them to him,	Envoyez-les-lui.
Send them there,	Envoyez-les-y.

OBS. 1. : We say préparez-y-toi (prepare thyself to it), instead of prépare-t'y, for the sake of euphony.

OBS. 2. : Va takes an s before y, and all verbs of the 1st Conjugation an s before en (some, any, etc.) and y (there, etc.) in the Imperative 2nd person singular.

II.—Write out interrogatively and negatively the Simple and Compound tenses of y avoir, and learn these words .

le théâtre,	the theatre.	la place.	the square, room.
le bureau,	the office.	la noisette,	the hazel-nut. il fallut, it was necessary.

 il faudra, it will be necessary.
 il faudrait, it would be necessary.
 qu'il faille, that it may be „ qu'il fallût, that it might be „

Compound Tenses.

il a fallu, it has . . .
 il avait fallu, it had . . .
 il eut fallu, it had . . .
 il aura fallu, it will have il aurait fallu, it would „ qu'il ait fallu, that it may „ qu'il eût fallu, that it might „ non can.

Interrogatively.

faut-il? etc.

Negatively.

il ne faut pas, etc.

Interrogatively and Negatively.

Ne faut-il pas? etc.

Obs.: Falloir, being an impersonal verb, can only have il for nominative; the English nominative to the verbs "to require," "to have to," "must," should, therefore, be translated by the Dative case, or be given as Nominative to the next verb, which is put in the Subjunctive mood. Ex.:

I must go out,	{ il me faut sortir.
He requires money,	{ il faut que je sorte.
My brother requires money,	il lui faut de l'argent.
He has to go out,	il faut à mon frère de l'argent.
	il faut qu'il sorte.

The Subjunctive mood is the only form allowed to translate he, she, or they must.

2. The PAST PARTICIPLE of a verb conjugated with avoir agrees with the PRECEDING accusative, and remains invariable when the accusative follows. Ex.:

La lettre qu'il m'a écrite, the letter he wrote to me.
 Il m'a écrit une lettre, he wrote a letter to me.

II.—Write out negatively the 1st person of the Simple and Compound tenses of s'en soucier (to care for it), and learn these words :

le marché,	the market.	l'office (f.),	the pantry.
le panier,	the basket.	la façade,	the front (of a house).
le melon,	the melon.	la grille,	the iron gate.
le poney,	the poney.	les mûres,	the mulberries.
le parc,	the park.	quelque chose un schelling,	a shilling.	d'autre,	something else.
le château,	the mansion.	rapporter,	to bring back.
le voisinage,	the neighbourhood.	noircir,	to make black.
le pavé,	the pavement.	dépenser,	to spend (money).
le porte-monnaie,	the purse.	retourner,	to go back. immédiatement, at once.

3. The PAST PARTICIPLE of a reflexive verb, although accompanied by être, agrees, like the Past Participle joined with avoir, with the PRECEDING ACCUSATIVE only. Ex.

Ils se sont repentis. (Ils ont repenti—qui?—Se, Accusative.)

They repented.

Elle s'est coupé le doigt. (Elle a coupé—quoi?—Le doigt, Accusative—à qui?—à se, Dative.)

II.—Write out interrogatively the Compound tenses of s'y rendre (to go there), and learn these words :

le devant, the front.	une langue, a language.
le derrière, the back.	la province, the province.
le tort, the wrong.	la bibliothèque, the library.
le manuscrit, the manuscript.	la sonnette, the bell.
un cerisier, a cherry-tree.	les marches (f.pl.), the steps.
un châtaignier, a chestnut-tree.	une fois pour toutes, once for all.
le marteau, the knocker.	de la sorte, like that.
des biens (m.pl.), goods, property.	profiter, to profit.

We (f.pl.) should not have been anxious about it, if.—10. I knew he was not at home.

FOURTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following verbs and rules :

1. Cueillir (to gather flowers, fruit) :—cueillant—cueilli—je cueille, cueilles, cueille, cueillons, cueillez, cueillent—je cueillais—je cueillis—je cueillerai—je cueillerais—que je cueille—que je cueillisse—cueille, cueillons, cueillez.

Like CUEILLIR are conjugated :

accueillir,	to welcome.		recueillir,	to reap.
-------------	--------------------	--	-------------	-----------------

2. Assaillir (to assail, to assault) :—assaillant—assailli—j'assaille, assailles, assaille, assaillons, assaillez, assaillent—j'assaillais — j'assaillis — j'assaillirai — j'assaillirais — que j'assaille—que j'assaillisse—assaille, assaillons, assaillez.

Like ASSAILLIR is conjugated : Tressaillir, to start with joy, fear, etc.

3. A PAST PARTICIPLE remains invariable in the following cases :

(a.) When it has en for a complement. Ex. :

Avez-vous des fleurs? oui, il nous en a donné.
Have you any flowers? yes, he gave us some.

(b.) When, as is the case with neuter and impersonal verbs, it has no Accusative. Ex. :

Les deux heures que j'ai dormi (neuter).
The two hours during which I have slept.

Les chaleurs qu'il a fait cet été (impersonal).
The hot days we have had this summer.

(c.) When placed between two que's, because it has the following subordinate sentence for Accusative. Ex. :

La lettre que j'ai cru qu'il avait lue.
The letter I thought he had read.

(d.) Fait followed by an Infinitive never agrees. Ex. :

Je les ai fait faire chez Gauthier (des bottines).
I had them made at Gauthier's.

II.—Write out interrogatively the simple tenses of s'en réjouir (to rejoice at it)—using EST-CE QUE and learn these words :

le magasin,	the shop.	un restaurant,	dining-rooms.
un escalier,	a staircase.	chaque pas,	every step.
le camp,	the camp.	la fin,	the end.
un ennemi,	an enemy.	la neige,	the snow.
un malheur,	a misfortune.	la perdrix,	the partridge.
un panier,	a hamper.	plein,	full.
un café,	a coffee-house.	emporter,	to take, to carry
le hêtre,	the beech.		off.
un gland,	an acorn.	rester (conj. with être),	to stop.

* Hardly ever used except in the Infinitive mood and in the 3rd person of both Simple and Compound tenses.

Like BOUILLIR is conjugated:
Rebouillir, to boil again.

2. A PAST PARTICIPLE followed by an Infinitive has sometimes the preceding noun or pronoun for Accusative, and sometimes the Infinitive, according to the sense. It agrees in the former case, and remains invariable in the latter.* Ex.:

Je les ai vus jouer (of children).
I saw them play.

Les is the Accusative to vus, not jouer, since you cannot "play a child."

La pièce que j'ai vu jouer (invariable).
The play I saw performed.

Jouer is the Accusative to vu, not pièce, because the meaning of the sentence is: "I saw some actors (understood) performing a play."

* All past participles followed by an infinitive may now be left invariable in examinations.

II.—Write out negatively the 1st person of the Simple and Compound tenses of s'y mettre (to set to work), and learn these words.

FIRST LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and apply them orally in a few short sentences :

1. Who? when used interrogatively as a Nominative, is translated by qui or qui est-ce qui ? (two qui's). Ex. :

Who has done this ?

Qui or qui est-ce qui a fait ceci ?

2. What? when used interrogatively, is translated :

(a.) As a Nominative, by qu'est-ce qui (one qui) when speaking of things. Ex. :

What makes you laugh ?

Qu'est-ce qui vous fait rire ?

(b.) As an Accusative, by que or qu'est-ce que (two que's) when speaking of things. Ex. :

What are you doing ?

Que faites-vous, or qu'est-ce que vous faites ?

II.—Learn the following idioms, and apply them orally in different persons or tenses :

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| 1. Avoir faim, to be hungry. | 7. Avoir tort, to be wrong. |
| 2. " soif, to be thirsty. | 8. " honte, to be ashamed. |
| 3. " sommeil, to be sleepy. | 9. " chaud, to be warm. |
| 4. " besoin, to be in need of. | 10. " froid, to be cold. |
| 5. " peur, to be afraid. | 11. " envie, to have a mind. |
| 6. " raison, to be right. | 12. " soin, to take care. |

III. A.—Translate orally the following exercise, give the primitive tenses of all the verbs in italics, and state which grammatical rules are illustrated by the words marked with an asterisk :

Aglaure Belmont était une petite fille spirituelle* et assez aimable, mais elle avait un défaut qui la rendait si commune et quelquefois si désagréable qu'on ne pouvait l'écouter sans impatience. Ses discours étaient exagérés* au point qu'on éclatait de rire en les écoutant. "Moi, disait-*elle, j'irais d'ici à Orléans sans me *reposer." Or, il y a trente lieues, comme vous savez, de Paris à Orléans.

B.—Translate in writing :

"To-morrow," she would also say (tr. was she saying again), "I shall get up and write (tr. I shall have made) twelve English verbs before breakfast." Her father, annoyed at this ridiculous defect, resolved to (de) correct her. One day, as she was exclaiming, "Oh, how I do like dancing! I could dance three days and three nights without getting tired!" he wished to take her at her word (tr. at the word), and ordered that everything should be prepared at his house for a great ball (tr. that one should prepare—Subj. Mood).

SECOND LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules concerning the formation of the plural of compound words :

1.—(a.) When the components of a compound word are two substantives or one substantive and an adjective, BOTH take the sign of the plural. Ex. :

L'oiseau-mouche ; les oiseaux-mouches, the humming-birds.
Le rouge-gorge ; les rouges-gorges, the robins.

(b.) If two nouns connected by a preposition, the FIRST only takes the sign of the plural. Ex. :

L'arc-en-ciel ; les arcs-en-ciel, the rainbows.

(c.) If a noun and a verb or a preposition, the NOUN is put in the plural, but only if the sense allows it. Ex. :

Le sous-maitre ; les sous-maitres, the assistant masters.
Un réveille-matin ; des réveille-matin,* some alarm clocks.

*Clocks which awaken one in the morning.

(d.) When the components belong to invariable parts of speech, both remain unchanged. Ex. :

Le passe-partout ; les passe-partout, the master-keys,

II.—Learn the following idioms, and apply them orally in different persons or tenses :

	t beau,	the weather is fine.	7. Il fait du brouillard,	it is foggy.
2.	chaud,	it is warm.	8. „ clair de lune,	the moon shines.
3.	froid,	it is cold.	9. „ doux,	it is mild.
4.	du vent,	it is windy.	10. „ sec,	it is dry.
5.	de la pluie,	it is rainy.	11. „ jour,	it is daylight.
6.	du soleil,	the sun shines.	12. „ noir,	it is dark.

III. A.—Translate orally the following exercise give, etc. :

Il y avait une fois dans la ville de Strasbourg, en Alsace, un tonnelier nommé Rudulf qui avait amassé de* grands biens. Néanmoins, il continuait à exercer* sa profession, et on* le voyait souvent, au milieu de ses ouvriers, leur donner l'exemple du travail.* Cette grande activité n'était malheureusement inspirée* que par le désir d'acquérir.

B.—Translate in writing :

Rudulf was ambitious, greedy, insatiable, and very harsh to poor people. One day, as (tr. that) he was finishing a cask before the door of his work-yard, there (= il) happened to pass a woman still young, but so pale and so worn-out that one would have taken her to be from fifty to fifty-five years old (tr. that one would have given her from, etc.).

THIRD LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules concerning the formation of the plural of proper nouns :

I. PROPER NOUNS only take the mark of the plural in French in the following cases* :

(a.) When applied to individuals who can be compared to those whose names are borrowed. Ex. :

Un Auguste peut aisément faire des Virgiles.

An (Emperor like) Augustus can easily create (poets like) Virgil.

* The sign of the plural is now allowed in all cases where proper nouns are preceded by the plural article.

(b.) When speaking of dynasties and illustrious families. Ex. :

Les Pharaons ont fait construire les pyramides.
The Pharaohs caused the pyramids to be raised.

(c.) When the name of a writer, a painter, etc., is made use of to designate his works. Ex. :

Nous avons acheté deux Murillos.
We bought two (pictures by) Murillo.

II.—Learn the following idiomatic expressions, and apply them in a few short sentences :

- | | | | |
|------------------------------|------------------------------|---------------------|--|
| 1. Deux heures et demie, | half-past two. | 7. Dans huit jours, | in a week. |
| 2. Six heures
moins cinq, | 5 minutes to

| 6. Tout à l'heure, | by and by. | 12. Tôt ou tard, | sooner or later. |

III. A.—Translate orally the following exercise ; give, etc. :

Le marquis de Favières, grand emprunteur et mauvais payeur,* se présenta un matin chez Samuel Bernard le célèbre financier et lui dit : “ Monsieur, je vais vous étonner ; je suis le marquis de Favières ; je ne vous connais pas et je viens vous emprunter cinq cents livres.”—“ Monsieur,” répliqua Bernard, “ je vais vous étonner encore davantage ; je vous connais et cependant je vais vous les* prêter.”

B.—Translate in writing :

It is said that Alexandre Dumas is not the author of many novels which bear his signature. One day he met his son, and said (add to him): “ Well, what do you think of my last novel? Have you read it?”—“ No, I have not, father; have you (tr. and you?)?” replied Alexandre Dumas fils, whose (tr. of whom) reputation for wit (tr. of man of wit) is well known and deserved.

FOURTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules :

1.—The following nouns have NO singular in French :

les ancêtres,	the ancestors.	les annales,	the annals.
les alentours,	} the neighbourhood.	les vacances,	the holidays.

les vivres,	the victuals.	les mouchettes,	the snuffers.
les pleurs,	the tears.	les ténèbres,	the darkness.

2.—(a.) The plural of AIEUL (grandfather) is aïeuls when speaking of “grandfather and grandmother,” and aïeux of “ancestors.”

(b.) ŒIL (the organ of sight) has for plural yeux. The plural œils is used figuratively in such compound words as œils-de-bœuf (bull’s-eyes),—œils-de-perdrix (soft corns), etc.

(c.) CIEL (heaven) has for plural cieux. When used figuratively its plural is ciels. Ex. : Des ciels-de-lit (testers),—des ciels de tableaux (picture skies).

II.—Learn the following idiomatic expressions, and apply them in a few short sentences :

- | | | | |
|-------------------------|------------------------|---------------------|--------------------|
| 1. Une fois, deux fois, | once, twice. | 8. Descendre de | to alight |

| 3. Toutes les fois, | every time. | 9. Tout le monde, | everybody. |
| 4. D’ici à un mois, | within a month. | 10. Les deux en- | both to- |
| 5. A portée de la | within | semble, | gether. |
| voix, | hearing. | 11. Mes deux sœurs, | both my |
| 6. En bas âge, | under age. | sœurs, | sisters. |
| 7. Descendre de | to alight | 12. Nous deux, | both of us. |
| cheval, | (from a horse). | | |

III. A.—Translate orally the following exercise ; give, etc. :

Un certain M. Dumas avait fait recevoir une pièce au Théâtre français à l'époque où on représentait une comédie d'Alexandre Dumas. Ces deux messieurs se rencontrèrent un soir au foyer du théâtre. "Il y a deux cents ans, dit M. Dumas à Alexandre Dumas, le Théâtre français avait les deux Corneille,* maintenant il a les deux Dumas..."—"C'est vrai, répondit Alexandre Dumas, bien vrai, et je vous souhaite bonne chance, Thomas." Tout le monde sait que le grand Corneille s'appelait* Pierre et son frère Thomas.

B.—Translate in writing :

An Emperor of China had devoted himself to the study of alchem^y. An impostor brought him an elixir, declaring that if he would drink it (tr. if he drank it) he would become immortal. A mandarin who was present, having in vain tried to (de) undeceive him, took the cup and drank the liquor. The Emperor, enraged at his presumption, condemned him to death. "Sire," said the mandarin, "if this liquor can bestow immortality, you cannot put me to death; if not, what harm have I done?" This speech appeased the Emperor, who admired and praised the wisdom of the mandarin.

FIFTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and words :

I. Nouns which DIFFER in meaning according to their GENDER :

III. A.—Translate orally the following exercise; give, etc. :

Le matin du jour où Molière mourut,* sa femme et ses amis, voyant combien il était faible, essayèrent* de l'empêcher d'aller jouer ce soir-là; ce fut* en vain. "Un homme, dit*-il, souffre longtemps avant qu'il meure; je sens que pour moi la fin est proche, mais il y a cinquante pauvres travailleurs qui n'ont que leur salaire de tous les jours pour vivre; qui leur donnera du pain ce soir, si je ne joue pas?" Ainsi il descendit* et joua* le "Malade Imaginaire," puis s'en retourna* chez lui, se mit* au lit et mourut.*

B.—Translate in writing:

Talleyrand and Bonaparte never liked each other (tr. had never, etc.). The former was at Madame Crawford's house in Paris when someone came in and announced the death of Bonaparte. It (tr. that) made a sort of sensation in the room and Madame Crawford exclaimed: "What an event (leave out an)!" Talleyrand (add who) was sitting in a corner near by (tr. near her), and (drop and) very quietly replied: "It is no longer an event, it is a piece of news" (leave out piece of).

SIXTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and words :

1. Nouns which DIFFER in meaning according to their NUMBER :

Singular.	Plural.
le ciseau, the chisel.	les ciseaux, the scissors.
la défense, the defence.	les défenses, the tusks.
le fer, iron.	les fers, fetters.

la lunette, the telescope.	des lunettes, spectacles.
une mesure, a measure.	des mesures, arrangements.

2. AMOUR (love), and ORGUE (organ), are masculine in the singular and feminine in the plural. Ex.:

Un bel orgue, a fine organ.
De belles orgues, beautiful organs.

3. (a.) GENS* (people) requires the following adjective to be masculine. Ex.:

Des gens fort dangereux.
Very dangerous people.

(b.) And the preceding adjective to be feminine, unless the adjective which comes immediately before happens to have the same termination in both genders, in which case all are masculine. Ex.:

Ce sont de très bonnes gens (two terminations).

They are very nice people.

Tous les honnêtes gens (one termination).

All honest people.

* Adjectives used with gens may now be made feminine in all cases.

II.—Learn the following idiomatic expressions, and apply them in a few short sentences :

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1. Prenez garde! take care! | 7. S'est-il fait mal? did he hurt himself? |
| 2. Qu'y a-t-il? what's the matter? | 8. Dites donc! I say! |
| 3. Que c'est joli! how pretty it is! | 9. Cela va sans dire, it's a matter of course. |
| 4. Que voulez-vous dire? what do you mean? | 10. Allons! allons! come now, come. |
| 5. Par ici, par là, this way, that way. | 11. Il a l'air gentil, he looks nice. |
| 6. J'ai mal au bras, I have a pain in my arm. | 12. Faites attention, pay attention |

III. A.—Translate orally the following exercise; give, etc.:

Le fameux* Rabelais, étant un jour à Lyon et sans argent pour revenir à Paris, prit* une certaine quantité de poussière de brique, et en ayant fait plusieurs paquets, il écrivit* sur l'un : "Poison pour le roi;" sur un second, "Poison pour la reine;" et sur un troisième, "Poison pour le dauphin." Après avoir* fait cette provision pour la famille royale* de France, il posa* ses papiers sur une table, de telle manière que l'hôte, qui était très curieux, pût* les apercevoir.

B.—Translate in writing :

The plot succeeded as he desired (tr. had desired); the host hastened (tr. went in all haste) to the authorities of the town, and gave immediate intelligence of what he had seen. Rabelais was then (tr. in consequence) brought up to Paris at the king's expense. On his arrival (tr. at his, etc.) he wrote his adventure to Francis I., who laughed very heartily at (heartily at = de bon cœur de) the jest, and ordered him to be set at liberty (tr. that one should set him in liberty—Subj. Mood). This anecdote gave rise (tr. gave birth) to the French proverb "le quart d'heure de Rabelais."

SEVENTH LESSON.

I. and II.—Learn the following rules and words:

1. Nouns ending in f, x, or eur, those ending in on, an, ien.

III. A.—Translate orally the following exercise; give, etc. :

Un jeune éléphant, d'environ quatre pieds de haut, avait* coutume, pendant que son maître, un de nos généraux dans l'Inde, était* à table avec ses officiers, d'aller à chacun d'eux pour recevoir quelques morceaux de pain, du riz, etc. Il arriva* que l'éléphant, en faisant sa tournée, s'approcha* d'un jeune officier, et, pour attirer son attention, mit* sa trompe dans sa poche ; l'officier, au lieu de lui donner quelque chose, lui piqua* maladroitement la trompe avec sa fourchette.

B.—Translate in writing :

The elephant snorted, continued his round, and soon after left the room. A short time after he returned, and came unobserved (tr. without that one perceives it—Subj. Mood) behind the officer, who, on account of the heat, had unbuttoned his coat, thrust his trunk down the officer's back (tr. to him thrust his trunk down the back), and blew from it (tr. made to come out of it) a vast quantity of ants, which most severely revenged the insult that had been offered to him.

NINTH LESSON.

I.—Learn the following rules and words :

1. A few more adjectives which form their feminine IRREGULARLY :

caduc, caduque, infirm.	roux, rousse, sandy.
bénin, bénigne, gentle.	tiers, tierce, third (part).
malin, maligne, malignant.	favori, favorite, favourite. coi, coite, calm.

OBS. 1. : Complet, concret, discret, secret, inquiet (uneasy), replet take a grave accent on the e which precedes the t instead of doubling the t.

OBS. 2. : Adjectives ending in érieur form their feminine regularly—that is, take an e mute instead of changing r into se. Ex. : Extérieur, extérieure; supérieur, supérieure.

2. Demi (half), and nu (naked, bare), remain invariable when they precede the noun; when placed after the noun demi agrees in gender, and nu both in gender and number. Ex. :

Une demi-heure,	half an hour.
Une heure et demie,	an hour and a half.
Il va nu-pieds,	he walks barefooted.
Il a les pieds nus,	his feet are bare.

3. Feu (late) remains invariable when separated from the noun by an article or a possessive adjective; it agrees in all other cases. Ex. :

Feu la reine,	} the late queen.
La feue reine,

* Nu, demi, feu, may now agree with the following substantive, e.g. nu or nus pieds (with or without a hyphen).

4. The following ADJECTIVES and PARTICIPLES remain invariable when placed before the noun at the head of a sentence ; they agree in all other cases.*

ci-joint,	} enclosed.	non compris,	not included. ci-inclus,		passé,	afcr.
y compris,	included.	supposé	supposing. excepté, except.

Ex. Ci-joint la lettre, enclosed is the letter.
Lisez la lettre ci-jointe, read the letter enclosed.

OBS. : Ci-inclus, ci-joint also remain invariable in the body of a sentence when placed before a noun used without an article. Ex. :

Vous trouverez ci-joint copie, etc.

* The agreement is now optional, irrespective of the position such words occupy in the clause.

5. Two adjectives expressing COLOUR and connected by a hyphen remain both invariable. Ex. :

Elle a les cheveux châtain-clair.
She has auburn hair.

II.—Learn the following idiomatic expressions, and apply them in a few short sentences :

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1. A haute voix, in a loud voice. | 8. Tant pis, so much the worse. |
| 2. A voix basse, in a low voice. | 9. Vive la Reine, long live the Queen. |
| 3. Peu à peu, little by little. | 10. C'est-à-dire, that is to say. |
| Le voici, here he is. | 11. En chemin de fer, by rail. |
| 5. Le voilà, there he is. | 12. En voiture, en bateau, etc.,
in a carriage, in a boat, etc. |
| 6. Pas du tout, not at all. | |
| Tant mieux, so much the better. | |

III. A.—Translate orally the following exercise ; give, etc. :

Quelques heures après que Guillaume eut perdu* la plus tendre et la plus aimée d'entre toutes ses amies, il fut* délivré d'un de ses plus formidables ennemis. La mort avait été à l'œuvre à Paris aussi bien qu'à Londres. Pendant que Tenison priait* au chevet du lit de Marie, Bourdaloue administrait* les saints sacrements à Luxembourg. Le célèbre général français n'avait jamais été un favori à la cour de France ; mais, quand on sut* que sa frêle constitution, épuisée* par la guerre et les plaisirs, succombait à une maladie dangereuse, ses services furent,* pour la première fois, appréciés* à leur juste valeur.

B.—Translate in writing :

The royal physicians were sent to prescribe for him. The isters of Saint-Cyr were ordered (tr. had order) to pray for him; but prayers and prescriptions were in vain. "How glad the Prince of Orange will be," said Lewis, "when the news of our loss reaches him (tr. shall reach him)!" He was mistaken. That news found William unable to think of any loss but his own (leave out own).

TENTH LESSON.

I. and II.—Learn the following rules and words, and illustrate them by some more examples:

1 Vingt and cent are the only numeral adjectives which take an s in the plural; but when followed by another numeral adjective they remain invariable.* Ex.:

Quatre-vingts ans, eighty years.
Trois cent quinze francs, three hundred and fifteen francs.

* The plural of vingt and cent is now allowed even when they are followed by another numeral adjective.

2. "One thousand" is spelt mil when speaking of the Christian era; mille in every other case.* Ex.:

En l'an mil huit cent quatre vingt-un, in 1881.
Trois mille soldats, three thousand soldiers.

Mille (a mile) is a noun, and takes an s in the plural.

* In dates mille is now allowed instead of mil.

3. (a.) Tout (every, all) and quelque (some, a few) are adjectives, and agree with the following noun or pronoun. Ex.:

Tous les hommes, every man.
Quelques livres, a few books.

(b.) Tout (quite) and quelque (however) are adverbs before an adjective or another adverb, and as such remain invariable. Ex.:

Tout or quelque puissants qu'ils soient.
However powerful they may be.

(c.) Quelque, followed by a numeral adjective, and meaning "about," remains invariable. Ex.:

J'ai fait quelque vingt lieues à pied.
I walked about twenty leagues (60 miles).

4. Même (same, self) is an adjective, and agrees with the noun or pronoun it determines. Même (even, very) is an adverb, and remains invariable. Ex. :

Les mêmes maisons, the same houses (adjective).

Ses amis, ses ennemis même venaient l'entendre (adverb).

His friends, his very enemies, came to hear him.

OBS. : Même is an adjective when it is preceded by one noun only. Ex. :

Les maisons MÊMES.

5. Adjectives which have a different meaning according as they are placed BEFORE or AFTER the noun :

bon homme,	simple man.	homme bon,	good man. brave homme,	good fellow.	homme brave,	courageous man. commune voix,	unanimous voice.	voix commune,	a common voice.
dernière année,	last year (of any period).	année dernière,	last year.
faux air,	approximative resemblance.	air faux,	deceitful look.
fausse porte,	private door.	porte fausse,	false door.
grand homme,	great man.	homme grand,	tall man.
haut ton,	peremptory way of speaking.	ton haut,	high tone of voice.
honnête homme,	honest man.	homme honnête,	a polite man. maigre dîner,	scanty dinner.	dîner maigre,	dinner with no animal food.
méchante épigramme,	pointless epigram.	épigramme méchante,	pointed epigram.
nouveau vin,	wine newly bought	vin nouveau,	wine newly made. nouvel habit,	another coat.	habit nouveau,	new-fashioned coat.
pauvre homme,	a silly man.	homme pauvre,	a poor man. plaisant conte,	unlikely story.	conte plaisant,	amusing story. plaisant homme,	whimsical man.	homme plaisant,	facetious man.
petit homme,	little man.	homme petit,	mean man.
propre termes (ses),	own words (his).	termes propres(les),	proper words (the).

III. A.—Translate orally the following exercise; give, etc. :

On dit* que Sir Isaac Newton était d'une humeur égale et douce, qu'aucun accident ne pouvait le troubler ; on raconte* à ce sujet l'anecdote remarquable que voici : " Sir Isaac avait un petit chien favori qui s'appelait* Diamant. Un soir qu'il avait dû passer dans une chambre à côté, Diamant resta seul. A son retour, Sir Isaac, qui n'avait été absent que quelques minutes, eut le chagrin de voir que Diamant, en renversant une bougie, avait mis le feu à des papiers qui contenaient le travail à peu près achevé de plusieurs années. Les papiers s'étaient enflammés et avaient été mis presque entièrement en cendres. Cette perte, considérant l'âge avancé de Newton, était irréparable ; mais, sans punir* le chien : “ Ah ! Diamant, s'écria-t-il, tu ne sais pas quel mal tu viens de faire ! ”

B.—Translate in writing :

In one of our largest cities, a short time ago, the editor of a newspaper was met by a friend (tr. A short, etc., in one, etc., the editor met a friend), who, taking him by the hand, exclaimed, “ I am delighted to (de) see you. How long are you going to stay ? ”—“ Well, I think,” said the editor, “ I shall stay while my money lasts (tr. shall last). ”—“ How disappointed I am ! ” (tr. I am much, etc.), said his friend (add to him), “ I thought you were going to stay a day or two. ”

FREE COMPOSITION IN FRENCH

(For Elementary and Intermediate Forms)

GRADUATED PRACTICE IN FREE FRENCH COMPOSITION

By E. T. SCHOEDELIN, B.A. (Oxon.)

Taylorian Exhibitioner in French, Oxford; Assistant Master at Highgate School.

192 pages. Crown 8vo. Cloth, 3s.

PART I. consists of a series of anecdotes specially chosen with a view to their being re-cast either with a change of tense, number, and person (or by one or other of the characters telling the story in his own person).

PART II. consists of a number of fables and stories in verse to be reproduced in prose form; with incidentally the same treatment as in Part I. The verse extracts here given have been chosen for their homeliness of style, difficult matter being carefully excluded.

PART III. consists of a great variety of subjects for practice in essay-writing. Each subject for composition is followed by a plan or outline that should provide the pupil with sufficient subject-matter for his task. It is hoped that the objection commonly brought against Free Composition in a foreign language, viz. that the pupil by always drawing on his own vocabulary never acquires new words will, to a certain extent, be met by the expedient of giving at the foot of each composition a few words—verbs and nouns—that might not readily occur to the learner. These essays are grouped under three headings—anecdotes of a familiar type, every-day topics, letters, etc.—and are carefully graded under their respective divisions.

A concluding chapter contains a number of subjects suitable for Free Composition. No assistance to the pupil is given in this part of the book.

Premières Lectures en Prose et en Vers.

Short Narratives, Poetry, etc., by JULES LAZARE, B. ès L. 1 6

'130 pages of easy, well-printed, interesting extracts. We have culled at random the following names from the list of writers: A. Karr, Le Sage, Stendhal, Richepin, Florian, Victor Hugo, and Th. Gautier. Probably the best kind of reading, for both classics and modern writers have their advantages.'—Practical Teacher.

Les Plus Jolis Contes de Fées. (In easy French.)

(Le Chat botté—La Belle au Bois dormant—Le petit Chaperon rouge—Cendrillon—La Barbe bleue—Ali-Baba, etc.) With full Vocabulary by JULES LAZARE, B. ès L. 1 6

Whilst retaining substantially the spirit of these immortal Tales, the Editor has eliminated peculiarities of construction which tend to puzzle and discourage junior students. Not only will this simplified version afford easy practice in intuitive reading, but it will also lend itself readily to oral retranslation and repetition.
