PREFACE.

THE object of this Reader is to provide a graduated Course of lessons in translation from Latin into English for pupils of from 13 to 15 years of age.

The book is divided into three Parts. The first consists of easy extracts which, for the benefit of the learner, have been first broken into sentences and then printed again as continuous passages in order to illustrate the structure of the Latin period. The second Part consists of more difficult extracts, chiefly from authors of the classical period. These have been modified by omission and verbal alteration so as to avoid constructions too difficult for the class of learners for whom the book is intended. The third Part consists of a series of more difficult extracts given without modification. In the choice of these extracts in Part III. the aim has been as far as possible to select passages dealing with some separate episode or incident and so possessing an interest of their own apart from the context in which they were originally placed. Snippets have been carefully avoided and a short oral exercise is supplied on each extract, which may be used to test the extent to which the learner has mastered the passage.

INTRODUCTION.

I. OUTLINE OF ROMAN HISTORY TO 14 A.D.

Rome was a colony of the Latins, who occupied the plain of Latium, south of the lower course of the Tiber. The descendants of the first settlers were called patricians, and originally they alone had full citizen rights. The rest of the community were known as plebeians or commons.

Rome was at first ruled by kings who were aided by a council of patricians (the Senate) and an assembly. During the latter part of the monarchy Rome and Latium were under Etruscan rule; about 510 B.C. the Etruscans were driven out and Rome became a Republic and the head of Latium.

Two patrician consuls, holding office for a year, took the place of the kings. The oppression of the patricians caused the plebeians to revolt, and soon they gained officers of their own (Tribunes) to protect them against the consuls. They now began to strive for political and social equality with the patricians. By 280 B.C. there was practically no political or social distinction between the two classes. Meanwhile Rome had expanded beyond Latium, and by 272 she was mistress of all Italy south of the river Arno.

After the political fusion of patricians and plebeians, a new nobility arose, based on wealth and office. The Senate was composed of members of this new aristocracy, and as it was a permanent body, consisting of experienced statesmen and generals, it soon became the real ruler of the State.

It was under the able government of the Senate that

Rome expanded beyond Italy. As the result of a long struggle with the great commercial city of Carthage, and of wars with the eastern powers of Macedonia and Syria, Rome became mistress of the known world. But though the Senate was so successful in foreign policy it failed to deal with the problems which confronted Italy. The chief of these was the land question. Owing to the monopoly of land by the rich, agriculture declined, and small farmers and free labourers, the backbone of Italy, disappeared. Accordingly from about 150 b.c. a period of revolution began. The leaders of the democratic party of reform aimed at solving the economic problem and putting an end to the rule of the Senate.

But the Senate was still supreme in foreign policy until a rising under Jugurtha, king of Numidia, showed the corruption and incapacity of its government. It was only by the election to the consulship of C. Marius, a man of the people, that Jugurtha was at last conquered. Marius was the first to admit into the army all citizens without regard to their income, and soldiers now looked to their general for rewards instead of to the State.

Another pressing question was that of the Italian franchise. Rich Italians wanted to be citizens of Rome also, that they might gain office and govern provinces, and for poor Italians the citizenship of Rome meant cheap corn and allotments of land. In 91 a war broke out between Rome and the rest of Italy, and as a result of the war the Italians obtained the citizenship.

In 88 L. Cornelius Sulla, a champion of the Senate, obtained the command in a war against Mithradates, the powerful king of Pontus, and baffled the attempts of Marius to supersede him. After a successful campaign Sulla returned to Italy in 83, and after winning many victories over the democrats, became master of Rome.

From 81 to 79 Sulla ruled Rome as Dictator. His main object was to restore the power of the Senate; but the laws which he passed for this purpose were soon afterwards repealed: since the Senate had long ago done all the work it was competent to do in forwarding the development of Rome, and was hopelessly weak and corrupt.

In 71 two victorious generals, Gnaeus Pompeius (Pompey) and Licinius Crassus, the leader of the middle-class party of capitalists, joined the democratic party against the Senate. They secured the consulship for 70 and overthrew the constitution of Sulla.

Pompey now sought to extend his power by a command abroad. The Mediterranean pirates were threatening Rome with famine; and through the agreement between the democrats and the capitalists under Crassus he was in 67 invested with powers in the East so great as to constitute a distinct step towards monarchy; and by 63 Pompey had conquered Mithradates, with whom the Romans had been at war since 75, and settled the affairs of the East.

Meanwhile Gaius Julius Caesar, the ablest of the democratic leaders, was in Pompey's absence winning the favour of the people. In 63 Catiline, leader of the anarchical and bankrupt section of the democratic party, organised a conspiracy against the Senate, the success of which would have meant the ruin of the capitalists. Hence both Caesar and Crassus held aloof from the plot; and the consul Cicero, who had won his way to office by a brilliant career at the bar, had the backing of the senatorial and middle classes in his exposure and defeat of the conspiracy.

In 62 Pompey returned to Rome, and being coldly received by the Senate, joined with Caesar and Crassus in a coalition known as the First Triumvirate (60). Next year Caesar as consul secured a military command in Gaul for himself. He was thus enabled to gain prestige from the conquest of Gaul, to form an army devoted to his interests, and to watch events in Italy.

In 58 the triumvirs, having failed to win over Cicero to their side, procured his exile, on the charge of having illegally executed Catiline's supporters. Clodius, a bitter personal enemy of Cicero, had proposed the banishment; but in 57 he quarrelled with Pompey and Cicero was recalled.

Pompey was now repulsed by the Senate in his attempts to secure an important command to counter-balance that of Caesar; and Caesar was attacked by Cicero. This senatorial reaction induced the triumvirs to renew their coalition (56). Caesar secured an extension of his command; Pompey was made governor of Spain, which he ruled through his lieutenants, and Crassus got the province of Syria.

In 53 Crassus was killed in an expedition against the Parthians, and the struggle for supremacy between Caesar and Pompey became inevitable. At length in 52 Pompey definitely joined the Senate as its champion against Caesar.

By 51 Caesar had completed the conquest of Gaul. His great aim was to secure the consulship for 48 without having to give up his command. Pompey and the Senate, on the other hand, tried to supersede him. At length at the beginning of 49 Caesar crossed the Rubicon, the limits of his province, and advanced on Rome.

This began the civil war of 49-48, in which Caesar completely defeated Pompey and the senatorial party and became master of the Roman world.

Caesar by uniting several republican offices in his own person laid the foundations of a new monarchy. But before his work was well begun, a conspiracy was formed against him by his personal friends, Brutus and Cassius, and he was assassinated on the Ides of March, 44 B.C.

His murder was followed by an attempt to restore the old senatorial republic; but Caesar's lieutenant Antony combined with Lepidus and Caesar's grand-nephew and heir Octavian to form a second triumvirate (43). A stand made by Brutus and Cassius was crushed by Octavian and Antony at Philippi, in Thrace (42), after which Lepidus fell out of the coalition, and Octavian and Antony divided the world between them. Antony planned an Eastern Empire, while Octavian strengthened his position in the West. The inevitable rupture took place in 31; Octavian defeated his rival in a sea fight off Actium in Epirus, and became sole ruler of the Empire. Octavian, who soon received the title of Augustus, based his power upon a command, received from the Senate and people, which made him supreme in Rome and the provinces. He then shared the government with the Senate.

allowing it to rule the more peaceful provinces. He did not lay stress on the military aspect of his rule, but called himself Princeps or First Citizen. He died in 14 A.D.

II. OUTLINE OF ROMAN LITERATURE.

The history of Roman literature may be divided into three well-defined periods: I. 240 to 80 B.C.; II. 80 B.C. to 14 A.D., the Golden Age, from Cicero to Ovid; III. 14 A.D. to 180 A.D., the Silver Age, from the death of Augustus to Marcus Aurelius.

Roman literature, as a whole, was imitative rather than original, and owed much to Greek influence. Deeds not words formed the keynote of the Latin character, and this is easily seen in the character of their literature. The First Period is noted for the beginnings of the drama and satire, and the early writings of this time were, as we should expect, crude and immature. The outstanding names of this period were Ennius, "the father of Roman poetry," Plautus and Terence, writers of comedy adapted from the Greek, Fabius Pictor, one of the earliest historians, and Cato (234-149 B.C.), "the creator of Latin prose-writing," the first really national, and perhaps the most original, writer amongst the Romans.

From the writers of the Golden Age the greater part of the selections in this little book have been taken. Their language is what is called classical Latin, and it is this language that modern scholars take as their model.

The greatest, perhaps, of all Roman authors belongs to this period, Marcus Tullius Cicero.

Cicero was born in 106 B.C. at Arpinum in Latium. He studied rhetoric and philosophy at Athens, where most young Romans of good birth and means were sent to complete their education.

He held the usual official positions of aedile, praetor, etc., and became consul in 63 B.C. It was Cicero who, in his consulship, put down the conspiracy of Catiline.

A weak point in Cicero's character was his vanity, and he would never forget or allow anyone else to forget his consulship and his achievements therein.

In the Civil War Cicero took the side of Pompey, and joined him in Greece. He was reconciled to Caesar after Pompey's defeat, but withdrew from public life till after Caesar's murder in 44 b.c. He then led the senatorial party against Antony, and perished in 43 b.c. in the proscription which took place when the second Triumvirate was formed.

The works of Cicero which have come down to us may be divided into three classes—Speeches, Philosophical and Rhetorical works, and his Letters. He wrote in a full and rather florid style, and at times with a strong poetical touch.

Of the historians, selections from whom are found in this Reader, Gaius Julius Caesar comes first. It is, perhaps, not as a writer that he is best known, but as a great general and an imperial statesman.

Caesar was born in the year 100 b.c. He was closely connected with the popular party by the marriage of his aunt Julia with Marius, and by his own marriage with Cornelia, the daughter of L. Cinna, the chief of the leaders of the Marian party. He occupied successively the usual offices of quaestor, aedile, pontifex maximus, praetor, and consul. Before he entered upon his consulship in 60 b.c. he formed with Pompey and Crassus that famous coalition, the First Triumvirate, which counter-balanced the power of the Senate. From 59 to 50 he was occupied in subduing Gaul, which included France, Belgium, and part of Germany. In 49 b.c. he quarrelled with Pompey, and the Civil War broke out, in which Caesar was victorious. He was, in 46 b.c., virtually master of the whole Roman world. He earned the great admiration of all by his clemency ; he forgave his enemies and made no distinction between his own followers and those of Pompey.

He now possessed royal power, and was actually offered the crown in public by Antony, but refused it. Presently a conspiracy was set on foot against him, headed by Cassius and Brutus, and he was murdered in 44 b.c. at the foot of Pompey's statue.

The only works of Caesar that have come down to us are his Commentaries on the Gallic and the Civil wars, neither being complete. These works are noted for the purity of their diction and the clearness of their style.

Cornelius Nepos (99-24 b.c.), a contemporary and friend of Cicero, forms a connecting link between the true prose style of Cicero and Caesar, and the prose of poetic quality and colouring of Livy.

He was a writer of short biographies of eminent men, generals, lawyers, historians, philosophers, and poets. These biographies formed sixteen books in all, but only a few Lives are extant. His style is clear, a quality of the age in which he lived, and generally elegant; his Latin is rather more modern than Caesar's though of the same period.

C. Sallustius Crispus, a Roman historian, was born in 86 b.c. in the Sabine country. Little is known of his early life, but he must have received a liberal education, as is proved by his writings. He tells us himself that he was devoted to history in his youth. At length he entered upon political life, supporting the popular party. We learn that he was expelled from the Senate in 50 b.c., ostensibly on moral grounds, but no doubt the real cause was his devotion to Caesar's party. Sallust then saw active service in command of one of Caesar's legions in Illyria. Later on he became governor of Africa in 46 b.c. He returned home in the following year, having amassed, as was usual in those days, a huge fortune. He built himself a magnificent house and laid out beautiful gardens. After Caesar's murder, 44 b.c., Sallust retired, and devoted himself to literature till his death, 35 b.c.

He has left us two historical monographs, the Bellum Catilinae and the Bellum Iugurthinum. He also wrote Historiarum Libri Quinque, only fragments of which are extant.

His style was clear, forcible, and terse, and his graphic descriptions and delineations of character are admirable. But his works are marred by inaccuracies of detail, and he appears to be led away by a desire for fine writing. His geographical details are faulty, and he very seldom gives a clear account of military marches, having apparently no idea of the enormous distances covered by the Roman troops. He was the first artistic Roman historian, and though inaccurate in details, he was an excellent delineator of character. He has left admirable sketches of Sulla, Jugurtha, and Catiline.

T. Lucretius Carus, the Roman poet, was born at Rome about 98 B.C., and is said to have perished by his own hand in 55 B.C. He wrote a long philosophical poem "concerning the nature of things" (De Rerum Natura) in six books.

The philosophy is that of Epicurus, and the object of the poet was to show that all things come into being, exist, and perish by exact laws, without any interference from the gods. He tells of the imperishable atoms, which unite to form not only material things but also soul and mind. Book V. tells of the formation of the world. His style is simple and at the same time powerful, with a tendency to archaic forms.

Among the poets of this period C. Valerius Catullus occupies a high position. He was born at Verona in 87 B.C., and probably died in 54 B.C., when quite a young man.

Two events of his life deeply affected his genius, his love for Lesbia and his love for his brother. He loved Lesbia with a life-long devotion, which outlived her indifference and infidelity. This love was counterbalanced by his affection for his only brother, who died young. His sorrow for his untimely death forms the subject of a short elegy, and he alludes to it with beautiful pathos in another.

His best and best known works are the short lyrical poems to Lesbia and to his intimate friends, while his longer poems are of unequal merit, and not very interesting to the modern reader.

His writings have been preserved in but one manuscript, which was discovered in the fourteenth century.

Catullus, the last of the Republican poets, was a bold and fearless writer who wrote without fear or favour of any patron, a strong contrast with the succeeding poets of the Augustan age. Amongst these Augustan writers we find poets like Vergil and Horace, and Livy, the great historian.

P. Vergilius Maro, the great epic poet of the Romans, was born in 70 B.C. near Mantua. He was educated at Cremona and Mediolanum (Milan), and he attended rhetorical and philosophical classes at Rome. In 43 B.C. he was deprived of his ancestral farm, which was handed over to one of the soldiers to whom grants of land were made. It was restored to him, only to be taken away again in 40 B.C. However, Maecenas, the powerful patron of literary men, now presented him with another estate.

Augustus having urged the poet to write a poem in honour of the Roman people which might revive religious feeling, Vergil undertook that wonderful epic the Aeneid.

For eleven years he laboured at his task unceasingly, and in 19 B.C. he journeyed to Greece, and was on the point of crossing to Asia to revise his poem. Augustus met him at Athens, and ordered him to return to Italy with him. On his way back he fell ill, and died at Brundisium (Brindisi), 19 B.C.

The Eclogues of Vergil are pastoral poems in imitation of the Greek pastorals of Theocritus. We find in them a curious mixture of scenery, now from Sicily (the scene of Theocritus' poetry), now from the valleys round Vergil's own Mantua. The characters too seem strangely unreal, sometimes shepherds of Sicily, and sometimes eminent literary men of Rome. But in spite of the artificial nature of these poems they have a distinctive charm of their own, and they are written in exquisite language.

The Aeneid, the great epic poem of the Romans, has a curious history. It was unfinished at the poet's death; indeed Vergil intended to devote three more years to its revision. Vergil's wishes, as shown by his will, were that it was to be burnt, but it was saved by the express command of the Emperor, who ordered it to be revised and edited by two of the poet's friends.

Following Vergil comes the most original Roman poet, Quintus Horatius Flaccus, who was born in 65 b.c. at Venusia in the south of Italy. His father was a freedman (libertinus) who had been set free before the birth of the poet. His father's occupation was that of a coactor ("collector"), either of taxes for the tax-farmers, or at auction sales. With the money he made from his office he gave his son an excellent education, taking him to Rome and sending him to a good school there. One of Horace's schoolmasters was the notorious Orbilius, whose name has been handed down as a champion flogger.

After the battle of Philippi Horace lost his farm, and had to live in a very modest way on the profits from a clerkship in the quaestor's office. Presently some of his poems came under the notice of Vergil, who introduced him to Maecenas, the great patron of literature and art. This introduction was most useful to the poet; a great friendship sprang up between the two, and about 34 b.c. Maecenas gave him a farm in the Sabine hills, which was sufficient to keep him in ease and comfort for the rest of his days. He lived on contentedly till his death in 8 b.c.

Horace was both a lyric poet and a satirist. His Odes, in form taken from the Greek, are at the high-water mark of his art; among them are love-poems, odes addressed to friends, and patriotic and political poems in honour of the Emperor and his own patron Maecenas. In his Satires we note a gradual change from rather bitter invective to the healthy and sedate moralising and literary criticism embodied in the Epistles and the Ars Poetica.

We turn now to the brilliant poet P. Ovidius Naso, the most facile of all Latin poets. He is a striking example of the truth of the adage "Poeta nascitur non fit," for he himself tells us,

"Sponte sua carmen numeros veniebat ad aptos, Et quod tentabam scribere versus erat."

Ovid was born in 43 B.C. at Sulmo in the Paelignian territory, and came of a wealthy equestrian family. He received the usual education of the well-to-do Roman youth, finishing with a visit to Athens and the notable cities of Asia Minor. On his return to Rome he soon found the call of poetry too strong for him, and gave up all thoughts of political work.

He now began that series of love-poems, brilliant but immoral in their general tone, the Amores, the Heroides, love-letters in verse from mythological lovers to their husbands, and the Ars Amoris. His poems were immensely popular, suiting as they did the degenerate morals of the day.

But these brilliant poems brought a terrible punishment on their author. In the year 9 A.D. he was suddenly banished to Tomi on the Black Sea. The reason given by Augustus for this heavy sentence was the immorality of his writings, though there probably was a more personal reason behind the ostensible one.

This must have been a terrible blow to our poet! Essentially a man about town, he would find the country irksome enough, but to live outside the civilised world altogether, as it were, must have been cruel torture. During those ten long years that remained to him he mourned for his beloved city, and never ceased imploring Augustus to recall him. From the inhospitable shores of the Black Sea he sent to the world the Tristia and his Epistulae ex Ponto, the outpourings of his broken heart.

We now have to deal with a prose writer, a great historian, Titus Livius, the last of the Augustan authors we have to consider.

His style has been ranked as next to Cicero's in the matter of purity. He was a great admirer of Cicero and imitated his periods. But there are signs in his writings of the decline of the Golden Age: poetical touches and too richly coloured sentences show that the Silver Age is at hand.

Livy was born at Patavium (Padua) in 59 B.C., undoubtedly of good stock, for he was certainly well-educated and was able to go when quite a young man to Rome, where he was free to devote himself to his life-long task of writing a monumental history of Rome from the founding of the city to the death of Drusus, 9 A.D. He became intimate with the best men of the day, and was on friendly terms with the Emperor Augustus. There is no record of his having entered political life and taken office. He died in his native town in 17 A.D.

His history consisted of 142 books, arranged as far as possible in decades (collections of ten books). The only books handed down to us are those of the first decade, down to the end of the Third Samnite War (293 B.C.), and Books 21-45, from the Second Punic War to 167 B.C.

Poetry in the reign of Tiberius is represented by the Aesopian Fables of Phaedrus.

Phaedrus was by birth a Greek slave; he was brought early in life to Rome, where he acquired some knowledge of Roman literature. He was the first to introduce the writing of fables into Latin poetical literature. He wrote five books in all, and if the title handed down is correct (Phaedri, Augusti liberti, fabulae Aesopiae) he must have belonged to the household of Augustus. The fables were for the most part copied from those of the Greek Aesop, but there were added many of his own invention, some dealing with history referring to the present or immediate past.

Q. Curtius Rufus lived probably in the 1st century A.D. He was a Roman historian and probably practised as a rhetorician. He wrote a history of Alexander the Great in 10 books, the first two of which have not come down to us, in the reign of the Emperor Claudius. His style is not unlike that of Livy, but his history is full of inaccurate details both of time and place. He was not careful in choosing trustworthy authorities, and thought more of effect than historical accuracy.

Gaius Plinius, commonly known as the younger Pliny, was born at Novum Comum (Como) in 62 A.D. He lost his father Caecilius when quite young, and was adopted by his uncle, Pliny the elder, the author of the famous "Natural History." He was carefully brought up and attended the classes of Quintilian on rhetoric. He became a pleader at the Roman bar at the age of eighteen in 79 A.D. In the same year occurred the eruption of Vesuvius, a graphic account of which he has left us in two letters to his friend the historian Tacitus. One of these letters is included in this series of extracts, and tells us of his uncle's death and how he and his mother escaped and their experiences during the eruption.

Later on Pliny saw some military service, and on his return home held some official positions. In the reign of the Emperor Trajan he obtained the consulship, 100 A.D. He was a personal friend of Trajan, some of his letters to whom have been handed down in his collection of letters. The only work, other than these letters, that we have of Pliny is his panegyric on Trajan. Nothing is known of the rest of his life, but probably it was passed quietly on his estate and devoted mainly to literature. He died about 114 A.D.

His letters were edited by himself, and were divided into nine books, dated from 97 to 108 A.D. A tenth book was added, mainly consisting of official correspondence between the Emperor Trajan and himself. Two letters in this book are worthy of special note, Pliny's letter to the Emperor on the punishment of the Christians, and the Emperor's reply.

Cornelius Tacitus, the Roman historian, was born about 52 A.D. He had the misfortune to live for fifteen years, 81 A.D. to 96 A.D., under the Emperor Domitian, a tyrant who was jealous of any excellence on the part of any man that might throw into greater prominence his own deficiencies. The chief literary works of Tacitus are the Agricola, the Germania, the Historiae, and the Annals. The Agricola is particularly interesting to us, as it gives an account of Agricola's governorship of Britain and a description of our island. Tacitus died in 117 A.D., soon after Hadrian became Emperor.

The style of Tacitus is noted for its abruptness; there is generally a rapid sequence of short and picturesque sentences.

The latest writer from whom selections for this Reader have been taken is Eutropius, the historian, the author of the first six selections in Part I., who lived in the fourth century A.D. Very little is known of his life, even his nationality being doubtful, some authorities saying that he was a Greek, others an Italian. He wrote a very short and sketchy Roman History, Breviarium ab Urbe condita, from the earliest times to 364 A.D. The language is simple, and, considering the late date at which he wrote, remarkable for its purity and similarity to the language of the Golden Age.

13. Itaque agnum correptum iniusta nece lacerat.
14. Improbi innocentes fictis causis interdum opprimunt.
15. Propter illos homines haec fabula scripta est.

Ad rivum eundem lupus et agnus venerant
 Siti compulsi : superior stabat lupus,
 Longeque inferior agnus. Tunc fauce improba
 Latro incitatus iurgii causam intulit.
 Cur, inquit, turbulentam fecisti mihi 5
 Aquam bibenti ? Laniger contra timens,
 Qui possum, quaeſo, facere, quod quereris, lupe ?
 A te decurrit ad meos haustus liquor.
 Repulsus ille veritatis viribus,
 Ante hos sex menses male, ait, dixisti mihi. 10
 Respondit agnus: Evidem natus non eram.
 Pater hercule tuus, inquit, male dixit mihi.
 Atque ita correptum lacerat iniusta nece.
 Haec propter illos scripta est homines fabula,
 Qui fictis causis innocentibus opprimunt. 15

AN UNPROFITABLE PARTNERSHIP.

1. Societas cum potente numquam est fidelis.
2. Haec fabella propositum meum testatur.
3. Vacca et capella et ovis patiens iniuriae socii leone in saltibus fuerunt.
4. Cervum vasti corporis ceperant.
5. Partibus factis leo sic locutus est.
6. Ego primam partem tollo.
7. Ego leo nominor.
8. Secundam partem mihi tribuetis.
9. Sum fortis.
10. Tertia pars me sequetur.
11. Plus valeo.
12. Siquis quartam partem tetigerit, malo afficietur.
13. Sic improbitas sola totam praedam abstulit.

Numquam est fidelis cum potente societas :
Testatur haec fabella propositum meum.

Vacca et capella et patiens ovis iniuriae
Socii fuere cum leone in saltibus.

Hi cum cepissent cervum vasti corporis, 5
Sic est locutus, partibus factis, leo :
Ego primam tollo, nominor quoniam leo ;
Secundam, quia sum fortis, tribuetis mihi ;
Tum, quia plus valeo, me sequetur tertia ;
Malo afficietur, si quis quartam tetigerit. 10
Sic totam praedam sola improbitas abstulit.

ORAL EXERCISE.

Quocum socii fuerunt vacca et capella et ovis?
 Quam praedam ceperunt?
 In quot partes cervum divisorunt?
 Cur leo partem primam sustulit?
 Quare pars secunda etiam illi tribuenda erat?
 Qua de causa pars tertia eum sequebatur?
 Quis malo afficiendus erat?

THE DEATH OF POLITES.

1. Ecce Polites, unus natorum Priami, de caede Pyrrhi elapsus est.
2. Per tela, per hostes porticibus longis fugit
3. Saucius atria vacua lustrat.
4. Pyrrhus ardens infesto vulnere illum insequitur.
5. Iam iamque eum manu tenet.
6. Eum hasta premit.
7. Tandem ante oculos et ora parentum evasit.
8. Vitam cum multo sanguine fudit.
9. In media morte iam tenetur.
10. Priamus tamen non abstinuit.
11. Nec voci nec irae pepercit.
12. Pro tuo scelere, pro talibus ausis, di tibi grates dignas persolvant.
13. Di praemia debita tibi reddant.
14. Letum nati coram cernere me coegisti.
15. Patrios vultus funere foedavisti.

Ecce autem elapsus Pyrrhi de caede Polites,
 Unus natorum Priami, per tela, per hostes
 Porticibus longis fugit, et vacua atria lustrat
 Saucius; illum ardens infesto vulnere Pyrrhus
 Insequitur, iam iamque manu tenet et premit hasta:
 Ut tandem ante oculos evasit et ora parentum,

Concidit, ac multo vitam cum sanguine fudit.
 Hic Priamus, quamquam in media iam morte tenetur,
 Non tamen abstinuit, nec voci iraeque pepercit :
 At tibi pro scelere, exclamat, pro talibus ausis, 10
 Di, si qua est caelo pietas, quae talia curet,
 Persolvant grates dignas et praemia reddant
 Debita, qui nati coram me cernere letum
 Fecisti et patrios foedasti funere vultus.

10. Tota domus illi monstro relictus est.
11. Domus proscriptebatur.
12. Aliquis forte eam vel emere vel conducere ignarus tanti mali voluit.

Erat Athenis spatiosa et capax domus, sed infamis et pestilens. Per silentium noctis sonus ferri, et si attenderes acrius, strepitus vinculorum longius primo, deinde e proximo reddebatur: mox apparebat senex macie et squalore confectus, promissa barba, horrenti capillo: cruribus compedes, manibus catenas gerebat quatiebatque. Inde inhabitantibus tristes diraeque noctes per metum vigilabantur: vigiliam morbus et crescente formidine mors sequebatur. Nam interdiu quoque, quamquam abscesserat imago, memoria imaginis oculis inerrabat, longiorque 10 causis timoris timor erat. Deserta inde et damnata solitudine domus totaque illi monstro relictus: proscriptebatur tamen, seu quis emere, seu quis conducere ignarus tanti mali vellet.

CAESAR'S SECOND INVASION OF BRITAIN.

Lucio Domitio, Appio Claudio consulibus, discedens ab hibernis Caesar in Italiam legatis imperat, quos legionibus praefecerat, ut, quam plurimas possent, hieme naves aedificandas veteresque reficiendas curarent. Earum modum formamque demonstrat. Ad celeritatem onerandi subductionesque paulo facit humiliores quam quibus in nostro mari uti consuevimus, atque id eo magis, quod propter crebras commutationes aestuum minus magnos ibi fluctus fieri cognoverat; ad onera ac multitudinem iumentorum transportandam paulo latiores quam quibus in reliquis utimur maribus. Has omnes actuarias imperat fieri, quam ad rem humilitas multum adiuvat. Ea, quae sunt usui ad armandas naves, ex Hispania apportari iubet.

Ipse conventibus Galliae citerioris peractis in Illyricum proficiscitur, quod a Pirustis finitimam partem provinciae incursionibus vastari audiebat. His confectis rebus conventibusque peractis, in citeriorem Galliam revertitur, atque inde ad exercitum proficiscitur. Eo cum venisset, invenit singulari militum studio, in summa omnium rerum inopia, circiter sescentas eius generis cuius supra demonstravimus, naves et longas viginti octo instructas, neque multum abesse ab eo, quin paucis diebus deduci possint.

Collaudatis militibus atque iis qui negotio praefuerant, quid fieri velit ostendit, atque omnes ad portum Itium convenire iubet, quo ex portu commodissimum in Britanniam traiectum esse cognoverat, circiter milium passuum triginta a continenti: huic rei quod satis esse visum est militum, reliquit. Ipse cum legionibus expeditis quattuor et equitibus octingentis in fines Treverorum 30 proficiscitur, quod hi neque ad concilia veniebant neque imperio parebant, Germanosque Transrhenanos sollicitare dicebantur.

His rebus constitutis Caesar ad portum Itium cum legionibus pervenit. Ibi cognoscit, sexaginta naves, quae 35 in Meldis factae erant, tempestate reiectas cursum tenere non potuisse atque eodem, unde erant profectae, revertisse; reliquias paratas ad navigandum atque omnibus rebus instructas invenit. Eodem totius Galliae equitatus convenit numero milium quattuor, principesque ex omnibus 40 civitatibus.

Circiter viginti quinque dies in eo loco commoratus, quod Corus ventus navigationem impediebat (qui magnam partem omnis temporis in his locis flare consuevit), tandem idoneam nactus tempestatem milites equitesque concendere 45 in naves iubet. Labienum in continenti cum tribus legionibus et equitum milibus duobus reliquit, ut portus tueretur et rem frumentariam provideret, consiliumque pro tempore et pro re caperet. Ipse autem cum quinque legionibus et pari numero equitum, quem in continenti reliquerat, ad solis occasum naves solvit.

Quem ad portum omnes convenire Caesar iussit?
Quid navigationem primum impeditiebat?
Quem in continenti, ut portus tueretur, reliquit Caesar?

Media circiter nocte vento intermisso, cursum non tenuit et longius delatus aestu orta luce sub sinistra Britanniam relictam conspexit. Tum rursus aestus commutationem secutus remis contendit, ut eam partem insulae caperet. 5 qua optimum esse egressum superiore aestate cognoverat. Quia in re maxime fuit militum virtus laudanda, qui gravibus navigijs, non intermisso remigandi labore, longarum navium cursum adaequaverunt.

Accessum est ad Britanniam omnibus navibus meridiano 10 fere tempore, neque in eo loco hostis est visus; sed, ut postea Caesar ex captivis cognovit, cum magna manus eo convenissent, multitudine navium perterritae, quae amplius octingentae uno erant visae tempore, a litore discesserant, ac se in superiora loca abdiderant.

15 Caesar, exposito exercitu et loco castris idoneo capto, ubi ex captivis cognovit quo in loco hostium copiae consedissent, cohortibus decem ad mare relictis et equitibus trecentis, qui praesidio navibus essent, tertia vigilia ad hostes contendit, eo minus veritus navibus, quod in litore 20 molli atque aperto deligatas ad ancoram relinquebat, et praesidio navibus Quintum Atrium praefecit. Ipse noctu progressus milia passuum circiter duodecim hostium copias conspicatus est.

Illi equitatu atque essedis ad flumen progressi ex 25 loco superiore nostros prohibere et proelium committere coeperunt. Repulsi ab equitatu se in silvas abdiderunt, locum nacti egregie et natura et opere munitum, quem domestici belli causa iam ante praeparaverant: nam, crebris arboribus succisis, omnes introitus erant paeclusi. 30 Ipsi ex silvis rari propugnabant, nostrosque intra munitiones ingredi prohibebant. At milites legionis septimae, testudine facta et aggere ad munitiones adiecto, locum ceperunt, eosque ex silvis expulerunt, paucis vulneribus acceptis. Sed eos fugientes longius Caesar prosequi vetuit, et quod loci naturam ignorabat, et quod, 35 magna parte diei consumpta, munitioni castrorum tempus relinqui volebat.

Postridie eius diei mane tripartito milites equitesque in expeditionem misit, ut eos, qui fugerant, persequerentur. His aliquantum itineris progressis, cum iam extremi essent 40 in prospectu, equites a Quinto Atrio ad Caesarem venerunt, qui nuntiarent, superiore nocte, maxima coorta tempestate, prope omnes naves afflictas atque in litore eiectas esse, quod neque ancorae funesque subsisterent, neque nautae gubernatoresque vim tempestatis pati possent: itaque ex 45 eo concursu navium magnum esse incommodum acceptum.

CAESAR IN BRITAIN.

Caesar legiones equitatumque revocari atque in itinere resistere iubet, ipse ad naves revertitur; eadem fere, quae ex nuntiis litterisque cognoverat, coram perspicit, sic ut, amissis circiter quadraginta navibus, reliquae tamen refici posse magno negotio viderentur. Itaque ex legionibus fabros deligit, et ex continenti alios arcessi iubet; Labieno scribit, ut, quam plurimas posset, iis legionibus, quae essent apud eum, naves institueret. Ipse, etsi res erat multae operae ac laboris, tamen commodissimum esse 10 statuit omnes naves subduci et cum castris una munitione coniungi.

In his rebus circiter dies decem consumit, ne nocturnis quidem temporibus ad laborem militum intermissis. Subductis navibus castrisque egregie munitis, easdem 15 copias, quas ante, praesidio navibus reliquit, ipse eodem, unde redierat, proficiscitur. Eo cum venisset, maiores iam undique in eum locum copiae Britannorum convenerant. Summum imperium belli communi consilio Cassivellauno permissum erat, cuius fines a maritimis civitatibus flumen 20 dividit, quod appellatur Tamesis, a mari circiter milia passuum octoginta.

Britanniae pars interior ab iis incolitur quos natos esse in insula memoria proditum est, maritima pars ab iis qui praedae ac belli inferendi causa ex Belgis transierunt et, 25 bello illato, ibi permanerunt atque agros colere coeperunt. Hominum est infinita multitudo creberrimaque aedificia fere Gallicis consimilia, pecorum magnus numerus. Utuntur aut nummo aureo aut taleis ferreis ad certum pondus examinatis pro nummo. Nascitur ibi plumbum 30 album in mediterraneis regionibus, in maritimis ferrum, sed eius exigua est copia; aere utuntur importato. Materia cuiusque generis, ut in Gallia, est praeter fagum atque abietem. Leporem et gallinam et anserem gustare fas non putant; haec tamen alunt animi voluptatisque causa. 35 Loca sunt temperatiora quam in Gallia, remissioribus frigoribus.

Equites hostium essedariique acriter proelio cum equitatu nostro in itinere conflixerunt, tamen ut nostri omnibus partibus superiores fuerint atque eos in silvas collesque 40 compulerint; sed compluribus imperfectis cupidius insecuri non nullos ex suis amiserunt. At illi, intermisso spatio, imprudentibus nostris atque occupatis in munitione castrorum, subito se ex silvis eiecerunt, impetuque in eos facto, qui erant in statione pro castris collocati, acriter pugnaverunt. 45

Duabus missis subsidio cohortibus a Caesare et novo genere pugnae perterritis nostris, per medios audacissime perruperunt, seque inde incolumes recuperunt. Eo die Quintus Laberius Durus tribunus militum interficitur. Illi, pluribus submissis cohortibus, repelluntur. 50

Postero die procul a castris hostes in collibus constiterunt, rarique se ostendere et lenius quam pridie nostros equites proelio laceссere cooperunt. Sed meridie, cum Caesar pabulandi causa tres legiones atque omnem equitatum cum Gaio Trebonio legato misisset, repente ex omnibus partibus ad pabulatores advolaverunt, sic ut ab signis legionibusque non absisterent. Nostri acriter in eos impetu facto reppulerunt, neque finem sequendi fecerunt, quoad subsidio confisi equites, cum post se

10 legiones viderent, praecepites hostes egerunt; magnoque eorum numero interfecto, neque sui colligendi neque consistendi aut ex essedis desiliendi facultatem dederunt. Ex hac fuga protinus quae undique convenerant auxilia discesserunt, neque post id tempus umquam summis 15 copiis nobiscum hostes contenderunt.

Caesar, cognito consilio eorum, ad flumen Tamesim in fines Cassivellauni exercitum duxit; quod flumen uno omnino loco pedibus, atque hoc aegre, transiri potest. Eo cum venisset, animum advertit ad alteram fluminis 20 ripam magnas copias hostium esse instructas. Ripa autem acutis sudibus praefixis munita erat, eiusdemque generis sub aqua defixaes sudes flumine tegebantur. His rebus cognitis a captivis perfugisque, Caesar praemissso equitatu confestim legiones subsequi iussit. Sed ea 25 celeritate atque eo impetu milites ierunt, cum capite solo ex aqua exstarent, ut hostes impetum legionum atque equitum sustinere non possent, ripasque dimitterent, ac se fugae mandarent.

Cassivellaunus, ut supra demonstravimus, omni deposita 30 spe contentionis, dimissis amplioribus copiis, milibus circiter quattuor essedariorum relictis, itinera nostra servabat paulumque ex via excedebat, locisque impeditis ac silvestribus sese occultabat, atque iis regionibus, quibus nos iter facturos cognoverat, pecora atque homines ex 35 agris in silvas compellebat; et, cum equitatus noster liberius praedandi vastandique causa se in agros effunderet, omnibus viis semitisque essedarios ex silvis emittebat, et magno cum periculo nostrorum equitum cum iis confliebat, atque hoc metu latius vagari prohibebat. Re- 40 linquebatur, ut neque longius ab agmine legionum discedi Caesar pateretur, et tantum in agris vastandis incendiisque faciendis hostibus noceretur, quantum labore atque itinere legionarii milites efficere poterant.

Trinobantibus defensis atque ab omni militum iniuria prohibitis, multi populi, legationibus missis, sese Caesari dedunt. Ab iis cognoscit non longe ex eo loco oppidum Cassivellauni abesse, silvis paludibusque munitum, quo satis magnus hominum pecorisque numerus convenerit. 5

Oppidum autem Britanni vocant, cum silvas impeditas vallo atque fossa munierunt, quo incursionis hostium vitandae causa convenire consuerunt. Eo proficiscitur cum legionibus : locum reperit egregie natura atque opere munitum ; tamen hunc duabus ex partibus oppugnare 10

contendit. Hostes paulisper morati militum nostrorum impetum non tulerunt, seseque alia ex parte oppidi eiecerunt. Magnus ibi numerus pecoris repertus est, multique in fuga sunt comprehensi atque interfecti.

15 Dum haec in his locis geruntur, Cassivellaunus ad Cantium nuntios mittit atque iis imperat, ut, coactis omnibus copiis, castra navalia de improviso adoriantur atque oppugnent. Ii cum ad castra venissent, nostri eruptione facta, multis eorum interfectis, capto etiam 20 nobili duce Lugotorige, suos incolumes reduxerunt.

Cassivellaunus, hoc proelio nuntiato, tot detrimentis acceptis, vastatis finibus, maxime etiam permotus defectione civitatum, legatos per Atrebatem Commium de ditione ad Caesarem mittit. Caesar, cum constituisset 25 hiemare in continenti propter repentinós Galliae motus, neque multum aestatis superesset, obsides imperat, et quid vectigalis in annos singulos populo Romano Britannia penderet, constituit; interdicit atque imperat Cassivellauno, ne Mandubracio neu Trinobantibus noceat.

30 Obsidibus acceptis exercitum reducit ad mare, naves invenit refectas. His deductis, quod et captivorum magnum numerum habebat, et non nullae tempestate deperierant naves, duabus commeatibus exercitum reportare instituit. Ac sic accidit, ut ex tanto navium 35 numero tot navigationibus neque hoc neque superiore anno ulla omnino navis, quae milites portaret, desideraretur, et ex iis, quae inanes ex continenti ad eum remitterentur, per paucae locum caperent, reliquae fere omnes reicerentur. Quas cum aliquamdiu Caesar frustra exspectavisset, ne 40 auni tempore a navigatione excluderetur, quod aequinoctium suberat, necessario angustius milites collocavit ac, summa tranquillitate consecuta, prima luce terram attigit, omnesque incolumes naves perduxit.

THE SECESSION OF THE PEOPLE.

Timor patres incessit, ne, si dimissus exercitus esset, rursus coetus occulti coniurationesque fierent. Itaque educi ex urbe legiones iussere. Quo facto maturata est seditio. Sicinio quodam auctore iniussu consulm in Sacrum montem plebs secessit. Trans Anienem amnem 5 est, tria ab urbe milia passuum. Ibi sine ullo duce per aliquot dies neque laccessiti neque laccessentes sese tenuere. Pavor ingens erat in urbe metuque mutuo suspensa erant omnia. Timere relicta ab suis plebes violentiam patrum, timere patres residem in urbe plebem, incerti utrum 10 manere eam an abire mallent.

Sic placuit igitur oratorem ad plebem mitti, Menenium Agrippain, facundum virum et, quod inde oriundus erat, plebi carum. Is intromissus in castra hanc fabulam narravisse fertur. "Quo tempore in homine, non ut 15 nunc, omnia in unum consentiebant, sed singulis membris suum cuique consilium, suus sermo erat, reliquae partes corporis indignabantur sua cura, suo labore ac ministerio ventri omnia quaeri, ventrem autem in medio quietum solum datis voluptatibus frui. Inde conspirav- 20 erunt ne manus ad os cibum ferrent, neve os acciperet datum, neve dentes conficerent. Dum ventrem fame domare volunt, ipsa membra totumque corpus ad ex- remain tabem venerunt.

25 "Inde apparuit ventris quoque haud segne ministerium esse, nec magis eum ali quam alere, reddentem in omnis corporis partes sanguinem, quo vivimus vigemusque." Itaque comparando quam intestina corporis seditio similis esset irae plebis in patres, mentes hominum Menenius 30 flexit.

Agit deinde de concordia coeptum est, concessumque in condiciones, ut plebi sui magistratus essent sacrosancti, quibus auxilii latio adversus consules esset, neve cui patrum capere eum magistratum liceret. Ita tribuni 35 plebei creati sunt duo, Gaius Licinius et Lucius Albinius. Hi tres collegas sibi creaverunt.

Per secessionem plebis Spurius Cassius et Postumus Cominius consulatum inierunt. His consulibus cum Latinis populis iustum est foedus. Ad id feriendum 40 consul alter Romae mansit; alter ad Volscum bellum missus Antiates Volscos fundit fugatque; compulsos in oppidum Longulam persecutus, moenibus potitur. Inde protinus Poluscum item Volscorum cepit, tum magna vi adortus est Coriolos.

THE FAMOUS EXPLOIT OF THE FABII.

Alia bella aut praesentia instabant, ut ab Aequis Volscisque, non diutius quiescentibus; aut mox moturos esse apparebat Sabinos semper infestos Etruriamque omnem. Sed Veiens hostis, assiduus magis quam gravis, contumeliis saepius quam periculo animos agitabat, quod 5 nullo tempore neglegi poterat aut averti alio sinebat.

Tum Fabia gens senatum adiit. Consul pro gente loquitur: "Assiduo magis quam magno praesidio, ut scitis, patres conscripti, bellum Veiens eget. Vos alia bella curate, Fabios hostes Veientibus date. Auctores sumus 10 tutam ibi maiestatem Romani nominis fore. Id bellum velut familiare privato sumptu gerere nobis in animo est." Gratiae ingentes actae sunt. Consul e curia egressus comitante Fabiorum agmine, qui in vestibulo curiae senatus consultum exspectantes steterant, domum reddit. 15 Iussi armati postero die ad limen consulis adesse; domos inde discedunt.

Manat tota urbe rumor, Fabios ad caelum laudibus ferunt: familiam unam subisse civitatis onus, Veiens bellum in privatam curam, in privata arma versum esse. 20 Fabii postero die arma capiunt, quo iussi erant conveniunt. Consul paludatus egrediens in vestibulo gentem omnem suam instructo agmine videt; acceptus in medium signa ferri iubet. Numquam exercitus neque minor numero neque clarior fama et admiratione hominum per urbem 25 incessit: sex et trecenti milites, omnes patricii, omnes unius gentis ibant, unius familiae viribus Veienti populo pestem minitantes. Sequebantur eos cognati sodalesque et alii publica sollicitudine excitati, favore et admiratione stupentes. Ire fortes, ire felices iubent, inceptis eventus 30

pares reddere; consulatus inde ac triumphos, omnia praemia ab se, omnes honores sperare. Praetereuntibus Capitolium arcemque et alia templa, deos precantur ut illud agmen faustum atque felix mittant, sospites brevi in 35 patriam ad parentes restituant. In cassum missae sunt preces. Profecti ad Cremeram flumen pervenient. Is opportunus visus est locus communiendo praesidio.

Lucius Aemilius inde et Gaius Servilius consules facti, et non ad praesidium modo tutandum Fabii satis erant, 40 sed tota regione, qua Tuscus ager Romano adiacet, sua tuta omnia, infesta hostium vagantes per utrumque finem fecere. Intervallum deinde haud magnum populationibus fuit, dum et Veientes accito ex Etruria exercitu praesidium Cremerae oppugnant, et Romanae legiones ab 45 Lucio Aemilio consule adductae comminus cum Etruscis dimicant acie; quamquam vix dirigendi aciem spatium Veientibus fuit; adeo inter primam trepidationem, dum post signa ordines introeunt subsidiaque locant, inventa subito ab latere Romana equitum ala non pugnae modo 50 incipienda sed consistendi ademit locum. Ita fusi retro ad Saxa Rubra—ibi castra habebant—pacem supplices

Rursus cum Fabiis erat Veienti populo sine ullo maioris belli apparatu certamen, nec erant incursiones modo in agros aut subiti impetus in incursantes, sed aliquotiens aequo campo collatisque signis certatum est, gensque una populi Romani saepe ex opulentissima Etruscorum 5 civitate victoriam tulit. Id primo acerbum indignumque Veientibus est visum; inde consilium ex re natum est insidiis ferocem hostem captandi. Gaudebant etiam multo successu Fabiis audaciam crescere. Itaque et pecora obviam acta sunt aliquotiens praedantibus, 10 velut casu incidissent, et agrestium fuga vasti relicti agri, et subsidia armatorum ad arcendas populationes missa saepius simulato quam vero pavore refugerunt.

Haec spes provexit, ut ad conspecta procul a Cremera magno campi intervallo pecora, quinquam rara hostium apparebant arma, decurrerent. Et cum improvidi effuso cursu insidias circa ipsum iter locatas super- 20 assent, palatique passim vaga raperent pecora, subito ex insidiis consurgitur, et adversi et undique hostes erant. Primo clamor circumlatus exterruit, dein tela ab omni parte accidebant; coeuntibusque Etruscis iam continentis agmine armatorum saepti, quo magis se hostis inferebat, 25 cogebantur breviore spatio et ipsi orbem colligere; quae res et paucitatem eorum insignem et multitudinem Etruscorum multiplicatis in arto ordinibus faciebat.

Tum omissa pugna, quam in omnes partes parem intenderant, in unum locum se omnes inclinant. Eo nisi 30 corporibus armisque rupere cuneo viam. Duxit via in editum leniter collem. Inde primo restitere; mox, ut spatium respirandi superior locus dedit recipiendique a pavore tanto animum, pepulere etiam subeuntes; vincebat-35 que auxilio loci paucitas, ni iugo circummissi Veientes in verticem collis evassisent. Ita superior rursus hostis est factus. Fabii caesi sunt ad unum omnes, praesidi-umque expugnatum est. Trecentos sex perisse satis convenit, unum prope puberem aetate relictum, stirpem

 40 genti Fabiae dubiisque rebus populi Romani maximum futurum auxilium.

CAPTURE AND PUNISHMENT OF BESSUS.

Iamque ad persecendum Bessum statuerat Alexander progreedi, cum ea, quae in Sogdianis evenerant, cognoscit. Spitamenes erat inter omnes amicos praecipuo honore cultus a Besso: sed nullis meritis perfidia mitigari potest, 5 quae tamen iam minus in eo invisa esse poterat, quia nihil ulli nefastum in Bessum, interfactorem regis sui, videbatur.

Titulus facinori speciosus praeferebatur, vindicta Darei, sed fortunam, non scelus oderat Bessi. Namque ut

Alexandrum flumen Oxum superavisse cognovit, 10
Dataphernen et Catanen, quibus a Besso maxima fides habebatur, in societatem asciscit. Illi assumptis octo fortissimis iuvenibus talem dolum intendunt. Spitamenes pergit ad Bessum, et remotis arbitris comperisse ait se insidiari ei Dataphernen et Catanen, ut vivum Alexandro 15 traderent: a se eos occupatos esse et vincetos teneri.
Bessus tanto merito obligatus gratias ei agit, et eos adduci iubet. Illi manibus sua sponte religatis a participibus consilii trahebantur: quos Bessus truci vultu intuens consurgit manibus non temperaturus. Atque illi 20 simulatione omissa eum circumsistunt, et frustra repugnantemvinciunt, derepto ex capite regni insigni lacerataque veste, quam e spoliis occisi regis induerat.

In equum impositum Alexandro tradituri ducunt, qui iam ad Tanain amnem processerat. Quo perductus est 25
Bessus non vincetus modo, sed etiam omni velamento corporis spoliatus. Spitamenes eum tenebat collo inserta catena, et barbaris et Macedonibus gratum spectaculum.
Tum Spitamenes: "Et te," inquit, "et Dareum, reges meos, ultus interfectorem domini sui adduxi, eo modo 30 captum, cuius ipse fecit exemplum. Aperiatur ad hoc spectaculum oculos Dareus! exsistat ab inferis, qui illo suppicio indignus fuit et hoc solatio dignus est!"
Alexander multum collaudato Spitamene conversus ad Bessum: "Cuius," inquit, "ferae rabies occupavit 35 animum tuum, cum regem de te optime meritum prius vincire, deinde occidere ausus es? Sed huius parricidii mercedem falso regis nomine persolvisti tibi."

Tum Alexander Oxathren, fratrem Darei, quem inter corporis custodes habebat, propius iussit accedere tradique 40 Bessum ei, ut cruci affixum mutilatis auribus naribusque sagittis configerent barbari asservarentque corpus, ut ne aves quidem contingent. Oxathres cetera sibi curae fore pollicetur: aves non ab alio quam a Catane posse

ALEXANDER'S ENTRY INTO BABYLON.

Alexandro Babylona procedenti Mazaeus, qui ex acie in eam urbem confugerat, cum adultis liberis occurrit, urbem seque dedens. Gratus adventus eius regi fuit: quippe magni operis obsidio futura erat tam munitae 5 urbis. Ad hoc vir tam illustris et manu promptus ceteros ad deditonem suo exemplo incitaturus videbatur. Igitur hunc quidem benigne cum liberis excipit: ceterum quadrato agmine, quod ipse ducebat, velut in aciem irent, ingredi suos iubet.

Magna pars Babyloniorum constiterat in muris avida 10 cognoscendi novum regem, plures obviam egressi sunt. Inter quos Bagophanes, arcis et regiae pecuniae custos, ne studio a Mazaeo vinceretur, totum iter floribus coronisque constraverat, argenteis altaribus in utroque latere dispositis, quae non ture modo, sed etiam omnibus odoribus cumul- 15 averat. Dona eum sequebantur greges pecudum equorumque, leones quoque caveis praeferebantur. Magi deinde suo more carmen canentes, post hos Chaldaei Babyloniorumque non vates modo, sed etiam artifices cum fidibus sui generis ibant: laudes hi regum canere soliti, 20 Chaldaeи siderum motus et statas vices temporum ostendere. Equites deinde Babylonii ultimi ibant. Rex armatis stipatus oppidanorum turbam post ultimos pedites ire iussit: ipse cum curru urbem ac deinde regiam intravit. Postero die supellectilem Darei et omnem 25 pecuniam recognovit.

Ipsius autem urbis pulchritudo ac vetustas non regis modo, sed etiam omnium oculos in semet haud immerito convertit. Semiramis eam condiderat, non, ut plerique credidere, Belus, cuius regia ostenditur. Murus spatium 30 triginta et duorum pedum in latitudinem amplectitur: quadrigae inter se occurrentes sine periculo commeare dicuntur. Altitudo muri quinquaginta cubitorum eminent spatio: turres denis pedibus quam murus altiores sunt. Totius operis ambitus trecenta sexaginta quinque stadia 35 complectitur. Aedificia non sunt admota muris, sed fere spatium iugeri unius absunt. Euphrates interfluit magnaeque molis crepidinibus coeretur.

Pons lapideus flumini impositus iungit urbem. Hic quoque inter mirabilia Orientis opera numeratus est. 40 Super arcem pendentes horti sunt, summam murorum altitudinem aequantes, multarumque arborum umbra et proceritate amoeni. Saxo pilae, quae totum onus sustineant, instructae sunt, super pilas lapide quadrato

45 solum stratum est patiens terrae, quam altam iniciunt, et humoris, quo rigant terras. Syriae regem Babylone regnantem hoc opus esse molitum memoriae proditum est, amore coniugis victum, quae desiderio nemorum silvarum-que in campestribus locis virum coegit amoenitatem 50 naturae genere huius operis imitari.

Ridebis, et licet rideas. Ego, ille quem nosti, apros non tamen ut omnino ab inertia mea et quiete discederem.

5 Ad retia sedebam: erat in proximo non venabulum aut genus: mirum est ut animus agitatione motuque corporis

10 excitetur. Iam undique silvae et solitudo ipsumque illud

C. Plinius Calvisio suo S.

Omne hoc tempus inter pugillares ac libellos iucundissima quiete transmisi. "Quem ad modum," inquis, "in urbe potuisti?" Circenses erant, quo genere spectaculi ne levissime quidem teneor. Nihil novum, nihil varium, nihil quod non semel spectasse sufficiat. Quo 20 magis miror tot milia virorum tam pueriliter identidem cupere currentes equos, insistentes curribus homines videre. Si tamen aut velocitate equorum aut hominum arte traherentur, esset ratio non nulla: nunc favent panno, pannum amant, et si in ipso cursu medioque 25 certamine hic color illuc, ille hue transferatur, studium favorque transibit, et repente agitatores illos, equos illos, quos procul agnoscunt, quorum clamitant nomina, relinquent.

Tanta gratia, tanta auctoritas in una vilissima tunica, 30 non solum apud vulgus, quod vilius est tunica, sed etiam apud quosdam graves homines; quos ego cum recordor in re inani frigida assidua tam insatiabiliter desidere, capio aliquam voluptatem, quod hac voluptate non capior. Ac per hos dies libentissime otium meum in 35 litteris colloco, quos alii otiosissimis occupationibus perdunt. Vale.

(c) HOW PLINY SPENDS HIS DAY.

C. Plinius Fusco suo S.

Quaeris quem ad modum in Tuscis diem aestate disponam. Evigilo cum libuit, plerumque circa horam 40 primam, saepe ante, tardius raro. Clausae fenestrae manent; mire enim silentio et tenebris abductus ab iis quae avocant, et liber et mihi relictus non oculos animo, tenerive potuerunt.

Notarium voco, et, die admisso, quae formaveram dicto :
 50 abit, rursusque revocatur, rursusque dimittitur. Ubi hora quarta vel quinta (neque enim certum dimensumque tempus), ut dies suasit, in xystum me confero, reliqua meditor et dicto. Vehiculum ascendo : ibi quoque idem facio quod ambulans aut iacens. Paulum redormio, dein 55 ambulo, mox orationem Graecam Latinamve clare et intente lego. Iterum ambulo, ungor, exerceor, lavor.
 Cenanti mihi, si cum uxore vel paucis, liber legitur : mox cum meis ambulo, quorum in numero sunt eruditi.

Ita variis sermonibus vespera extenditur, et quamquam 60 longissimus dies cito conditur. Non numquam ex hoc ordine aliqua mutantur. Nam si diu iacui vel ambulavi, post somnum demum lectionemque non vehiculo, sed quod brevius, quia velocius, equo gestor. Interveniunt amici ex proximis oppidis, partemque diei ad se trahunt, inter-65 dumque lasso mihi opportuna interpellatione subveniunt.

Venor aliquando, sed non sine pugillaribus, ut, quamvis nihil ceperim, non nihil referam. Datur et colonis, ut videtur ipsis, non satis temporis, quorum mihi agrestes querelae litteras nostras et haec urbana opera commen-

HANNIBAL.

Hannibal, Hamilcaris filius, fuit Carthaginiensis. Si verum est, quod nemo dubitat, omnes gentes a populo Romano virtute superatas esse, non est negandum Hannibalem tanto praestitisse ceteros imperatores prudentia, quanto populus Romanus fortitudine cunctas 5 nationes antecesserit. Nam quotiescumque cum eo congressus est in Italia, semper discessit superior. Sed multorum obtrectatio devicit unius virtutem.

Hic autem velut hereditate relictum odium paternum erga Romanos sic conservavit, ut cum patria pulsus esset 10 et alienarum opum indigeret, numquam desineret animo cum Romanis bellare. Nam ut omittam Philippum, quem absens hostem reddidit Romanis, omnium eis temporibus potentissimus rex Antiochus fuit. Hunc tanta cupiditate incendit bellandi, ut usque a Rubro mari conatus sit 15 bellum inferre Italiae. Ad quem cum legati venissent

Romani, qui de eius voluntate explorarent darentque operam consiliis clandestinis ut Hannibalem in suspicionem regi adducerent, tempore dato adiit Hannibal ad 20 regem, eique cum multa de fide sua et odio in Romanos commemoravisset, hoc adiunxit: "Pater meus," inquit, "Hamilcar, puerulo me, utpote non amplius octo annos nato, in Hispaniam imperator proficisciens Carthagini Iovi optimo maximo hostias immolavit. Quae divina res 25 dum conficiebatur, quae sivit a me vellemne secum in castra proficisci. Id cum libenter accepissem, atque ab eo petere coepissem ne dubitaret ducere, tum ille, 'Faciam,' inquit, 'si mihi fidem quam postulo dederis.' Simul me ad aram adduxit, apud quam sacrificare instituerat, eamque ceteris 30 remotis tenentem iurare iussit numquam me in amicitia cum Romanis fore. Id ego iuriandum patri datum usque ad hanc aetatem ita conservavi, ut nemini dubium esse debeat, quin reliquo tempore eadem mente sim futurus. Quare si quid amice de Romanis cogitabis, non im- 35 prudenter feceris, si me celaris; cum quidem bellum parabis, te ipsum frustraberis, si non me in eo principem elegeris."

Hac igitur, qua diximus, aetate cum patre in Hispaniam profectus est, cuius post obitum, Hasdrubale imperatore 40 suffecto, equitatui omni praefuit. Hoc quoque imperfecto exercitus summam imperii ad eum detulit. Id, Carthaginem delatum, publice comprobatum est.

Sic Hannibal, minor quinque et viginti annis natus, imperator factus proximo triennio omnes gentes Hispaniae 45 bello subegit, Saguntum, foederatam civitatem, vi expugnavit, tres exercitus maximos comparavit. Ex his unum in Africam misit, alterum cum Hasdrubale fratre in Hispania reliquit, tertium in Italiam secum duxit. Saltum Pyrenaeum transiit. Quacumque iter fecit, cum 50 omnibus incolis conflixit: neminem nisi victum dimisit. Ad Alpes posteaquam venit, quae Italiam ab Gallia seiungunt, Alpicos conantes prohibere transitu concidit, loca patefecit, itinera muniit, effecit ut ea elephantus ornatus ire posset, qua antea unus homo inermis vix poterat repere. Hac copias traduxit, in Italiamque 55 pervenit.

TALES OF AUGURY.

Attius Navius cum propter paupertatem suas puerasceret, una ex iis amissa, vovisse dicitur, si recuperavisset, se uvam deo daturum esse quae maxima esset in vinea : itaque sue inventa, ad meridiem spectans in vinea media dicitur constitisse ; cumque in quattuor partes vineam divisisset, tresque partes aves abdixissent, quarta parte, quae erat reliqua in regione distributa, mirabili magnitudine uvam invenit. Qua re celebrata, cum vicini omnes ad eum de suis rebus referrent, erat in magno nomine et gloria. 5 10

Ex quo factum est, ut eum ad se rex Tarquinius Priscus arcesseret. Cuius cum tentaret scientiam auguratus, dixit ei cogitare se quiddam ; id possetne fieri, consuluit Ille, augurio acto, posse respondit. Tarquinius autem dixit, se cogitasse cotem novacula posse praecidi. 15

Tum Attius iussit experiri. Ita eos in comitium allata, inspectante et rege et populo, novacula est discissa. Ex eo evenit ut et Tarquinius augure Attio Navio uteretur, et populus de suis rebus ad eum referret.
 20 Cotem autem illam et novaculam defossam esse in comitio accepimus.

Facta coniectura est in Dionysio paulo ante quam regnare coepit: qui cum per agrum Leontinum iter faciens equum ipse demisisset in flumen, submersus equus 25 voraginibus non exstitit: quem cum maxima contentione non potuisset extrahere, discessit, ut ait Philistus, aegre ferens. Cum autem aliquantulum progressus esset, subito exaudivit hinnitum, respexitque et equum alacrem laetus aspergit, cuius in iuba examen apum consederat. Quod 30 ostentum habuit hanc vim, ut Dionysius paucis post diebus regnare cooperit.

Midae illi Phrygio, cum puer esset, dormienti formicæ in os tritici grana congesserunt. Divitissimum fore prædictum est; quod evenit. At Platonis, cum in cunis 35 parvulo dormienti apes in labellis consedissent, responsum est illum fore singulari suavitate orationis. Ita futura eloquentia provisa in infante est.

Roscius cum esset in cunabulis educareturque in Solonio, qui est campus agri Lanuvini, noctu lumine 40 apposito experrecta nutrix animadvertit puerum dormientem circumplexatum serpentis amplexu. Quo aspectu exterrita clamorem sustulit, pater autem Roscius ad haruspices rettulit: qui responderunt, nihil illo puero clarius, nihil nobilius fore.

DREAMS AND PROPHECIES.

Ponticus Heraclides scribit matrem Phalaridis visam esse videre in sonnis simulacra deorum, quae ipsa domi consecravisset: ex his Mercurium e patera, quam dextra manu teneret, sanguinem visum esse fundere: qui, cum terram attigisset, refervescere videretur sic, ut tota domus 5 sanguine redundaret. Quod matris somnium immanis filii crudelitas comprobavit.

Dinon scribit Cyrum, cum dormienti ei sol ad pedes visus esset, ter frustra appetivisse manibus, cum se convolvens sol elaberetur et abiret: ei magos dixisse (quod 10 genus sapientum et doctorum habebatur in Persis) ex triplici appetitione solis triginta annos Cyrum regnaturum esse portendi. Quod ita contigit. Nam ad septuagesimum pervenit, cum quadraginta natus annos regnare coepisset. 15

Est profecto quiddam etiam in barbaris gentibus praesentiens atque divinans: Calanus Indus ad mortem proficiscens, cum ascenderet in rogam ardentem, "O præclarum discessum," inquit, "e vita! cum, ut Herculi

20 contigit, mortali corpore cremato, in lucem animus ex-cesserit!" Cumque Alexander eum rogaret, si quid vellet, ut diceret; "Optime," inquit: "prope diem te videobo."
Quod ita contigit. Nam Babylone paucis post diebus
Alexander mortuus est.

25 Qua nocte templum Ephesiae Dianaee deflagravit, eadem constat natum esse Alexandrum, atque, ubi lucere coepisset, clamitasse magos, pestem ac perniciem Asiae proxima nocte natam.

Hannibalem Caelius scribit, cum columnam auream 30 quae esset in Fano Iunonis Laciniae auferre vellet, dubitaretque utrum ea solida esset, an extrinsecus inaurata, perterebravisse: cumque solidam invenisset, statuissetque tollere, ei secundum quietem visam esse Iunonem praed-dicere ne id faceret, minarique, si fecisset, se curaturam 35 esse ut eum quoque oculum, quo bene videret, amitteret; idque ab homine acuto non esse neglectum. Itaque ex eo auro, quod exterebratum esset, buculam curasse faciendam, et eam in summa columna collocavisse.

Hoc idem est in Graeca historia Sileni, quem Caelius 40 sequitur; is autem diligentissime res Hannibal's persecutus est: Hannibalem, cum cepisset Saguntum, visum esse in somnis a Iove in deorum concilium vocari: quo cum venisset, Iovem imperasse ut Italiae bellum inferret, ducemque ei unum e concilio datum esse; quo illum uten-45 tem cum exercitu progredi coepisse; tum ei ducem illum praecepisse ne respiceret; illum autem elatum cupiditate respexisse: tum visam beluanam vastam et immanem, circumplacatam serpentibus, quacumque incederet, omnia arbusta, virgulta, tecta pervertere; et eum admiratum 50 quaesisse de deo quodnam illud esset tale monstrum: et deum respondisse vastitatem Italiae, praecepisseque ut pergeret protinus; quid retro atque a tergo fieret ne laboraret.

MORE STORIES OF DREAMS.

Apud Agathoclem scriptum in historia est, Hamilcarem Carthaginiensem, cum oppugnaret Syracusas, visum esse audire vocem, se postridie cenaturum Syracusis: cum autem is dies illuxisset, magnam seditionem in castris eius inter Poenos et Siculos milites esse factam: quod 5 cum sensissent Syracusani, improviso eos in castra irrupisse Hamilcaremque ab iis vivum esse sublatum. Ita res somnium comprobavit.

At vero Publius Decius ille, cum esset tribunus militum, a Samnitibusque premeretur noster exercitus, cum pericula 10 proeliorum iniret audacius, monereturque ut cautior esset, dixit, quod exstat in annalibus, sibi in somnis visum esse, cum in mediis hostibus versaretur, occidere cum maxima gloria. Et tum quidem incolumis exercitum obsidione liberavit. Post triennium autem, cum consul esset, 15 devovit se, et in aciem Latinorum irrupit armatus. Quo eius facto superati sunt et deleti Latini. Cuius mors ita gloriosa fuit ut eandem concupisceret filius.

Aristoteles scribit, Eudemum Cyprium, familiarem suum, iter in Macedoniam facientem Pheras venisse; ea 20 urbs tum ab Alexandro tyranno crudeli dominatu tenebatur: in eo igitur oppido ita graviter aegrum Eudemum fuisse, ut omnes medici diffiderent: ei visum in quiete egregia facie iuvenem dicere, fore ut perbrevi convalesceret, paucisque diebus interitum Alexandrum tyrannum, ipsum autem Eudemum quinquennio post domum esse redditum. Atque Aristoteles scribit prima statim consecuta esse, et convaluisse Eudemum, et ab uxoris fratribus interfectum esse tyrannum; quinto autem anno, 30 cum esset spes ex illo somnio in Cyprum illum ex Sicilia esse redditum, proeliantem eum ad Syracusas occidisse: ex quo ita illud somnum esse interpretatum, ut, cum animus Eudemus e corpore excesserit, tum domum revertisse videatur.

35 Adiungamus philosophis doctissimum hominem, poetam quidem divinum, Sophoclem: qui, cum ex aede Herculis patera aurea gravis surrepta esset, in somnis vidi ipsum deum dicentem, quis id fecisset. Quod semel ille iterumque neglexit. Ubi autem saepius idem ei dixit, 40 ascendit in Areopagum: detulit rem. Areopagitae comprehendi iubent eum, qui a Sophocle erat nominatus. Is, quaestione adhibita, confessus est, pateramque rettulit. Quo facto fanum illud Indicis Herculis nominatum est.

Illa duo sonnia quis tandem potest contemnere? 45 Unum de Simonide: qui cum ignotum quemdam projectum mortuum vidisset, eumque humavisset, haberetque in animo navem descendere, moneri visus est ne id faceret ab eo quem sepeliverat; si navigasset, eum naufragio esse periturum; itaque Simonidem redisse; perisse ceteros, qui 50 tum navigassent.

Alterum ita traditum est, clarum admodum somnum: cum duo quidam Areades familiares iter una facerent, et Megaram venissent, alterum ad cauponem devertisse, ad hospitem alterum. Ea nocte visum esse in somnis ei, 55 qui erat in hospitio, illum alterum orare ut subveniret, quod sibi a caupone interitus pararetur; eum primo perterritum somnio surrexisse; dein cum se collegisset idque visum pro nihilo habendum esse duxisset, recubuisse ; tum ei dormienti eundem illum visum esse rogare ne, quoniam sibi vivo non subvenisset, mortem suam 60 inultam pateretur ; se interfectum in plaustrum a caupone esse coniectum, et sterlus supra iniectum ; petere ut mane ad portam adesset, priusquam plaustrum ex oppido exiret. Hoc vero eum somnio commotum, mane ad portam affuisse ; quaesisse ex bubulco quid esset in plausto : 65 illum perterritum fugisse, mortuum erutum esse ; cauponem, re patefacta, poenas dedisse. Quid hoc somnio dici potest divinius ?

ON DAPHNIS' DEATH.

Extinctum Nymphae crudeli funere Daphnim
 Flebant ; vos coryli testes et flumina Nymphis ;
 Cum complexa sui corpus miserabile nati
 Atque deos atque astra vocat crudelia mater.

Non ulli pastos illis egere diebus 5
 Frigida, Daphni, boves ad flumina ; nulla nec amnem
 Libavit quadrupes, nec graminis attigit herbam.
 Daphni, tuum Poenos etiam ingemuisse leones
 Interitum montesque feri silvaeque loquuntur.
 Daphnis et Armenias curru subiungere tigres 10
 Instituit, Daphnis thiasos inducere Bacchi

Et foliis lenta intexere molibus hastas.
 Vitis ut arboribus decori est, ut vitibus uvae,
 Ut gregibus tauri, segetes ut pinguibus arvis,
 Tu decus omne tuis. Postquam te fata tulerunt, 15
 Ipsa Pales agros atque ipse reliquit Apollo.
 Grandia saepe quibus mandavimus hordea sulcis,
 Infelix lolium et steriles nascuntur avenae ;
 Pro molli viola, pro purpureo narciso,
 Carduus et spinis surgit paliurus acutis. 20
 Spargite humum foliis, inducite fontibus umbras,
 Pastores ; mandat fieri sibi talia Daphnis ;
 Et tumulum facite, et tumulo superaddite carmen :
 Daphnis ego in silvis, hinc usque ad sidera notus,
 Formosi pecoris custos, formosior ipse. 25

 Limus ut hic durescit et haec ut cera liquescit
 Uno eodemque igni, sic nostro Daphnis amore. 5

Sparge molam, et fragiles incende bitumine laurus.
 Daphnis me malus urit, ego hanc in Daphnide laurum.
 Ducite ab urbe domum, mea carmina, ducite Daphnus.
 Talis amor Daphnus, qualis cum fessa iuvencum
 Per nemora atque altos quaerendo bucula lucos 10
 Propter aquae rivum viridi procumbit in ulva,
 Perdita, nec serae meminit decadere nocti,
 Talis amor teneat, nec sit mihi cura mederi.
 Ducite ab urbe domum, mea carmina, ducite Daphnus.
 Has olim exuvias mihi perfidus ille reliquit, 15
 Pignora cara sui; quae nunc ego limine in ipso,
 Terra, tibi mando; debent haec pignora Daphnus.
 Ducite ab urbe domum, mea carmina, ducite Daphnus.
 Has herbas atque haec Ponto mihi lecta venena
 Ipse dedit Moeris; nascuntur plurima Ponto. 20
 His ego saepe lupum fieri et se condere silvis
 Moerium, saepe animas imis excire sepulchris
 Atque satas alio vidi traducere messes.
 Ducite ab urbe domum, mea carmina, ducite Daphnus.
 Fer cineres, Amarylli, foras, rivoque fluenti 25
 Transque caput iace; nec respexeris. His ego Daphnus Aggrediar; nihil ille deos, nil carmina curat.
 Ducite ab urbe domum, mea carmina, ducite Daphnus.
 Aspice, corripuit tremulis altaria flammis
 Sponte sua, dum ferre moror, cinis ipse. Bonum sit!
 Nescio quid certe est, et Hylax in limine latrat. 31

CAESAR'S LANDING IN BRITAIN.

Caesar nactus idoneam ad navigandum tempestate in tertia fere vigilia solvit equitesque in ulteriorem portum progredi et naves descendere et se sequi iussit. A quibus cum paulo tardius esset administratum, ipse hora circiter 5 diei quarta cum primis navibus Britanniam attigit atque ibi in omnibus collibus expositas hostium copias armatas conspexit. Cuius loci haec erat natura, atque ita montibus angustis mare continebatur, uti ex locis superioribus in litus telum adigi posset.

10 Hunc ad egrediendum nequaquam idoneum locum arbitratus, dum reliquae naves eo convenirent, ad horam nonam in ancoris exspectavit. Interim legatis tribunisque militum convocatis, et quae ex Voluseno cognosset et quae fieri vellet, ostendit monuitque, ut rei militaris ratio, 15 maxime ut maritimae res postularent, ut quae celerem atque instabilem motum haberent, ad nutum et ad tempus omnes res ab iis administrarentur. His dimissis et ventum et aestum uno tempore nactus secundum, dato signo et sublatis ancoris circiter milia passuum septem ab 20 eo loco progressus, aperto ac plano litore naves constituit.

At barbari, consilio Romanorum cognito, praemisso equitatu et essedariis, quo plerumque genere in proeliis

uti consuerunt, reliquis copiis subsecuti nostros navibus egredi prohibebant. Erat ob has causas summa difficultas, quod naves propter magnitudinem nisi in alto constitui 25 non poterant, militibus autem ignotis locis, impeditis manibus, magno et gravi onere armorum oppressis simul et de navibus desiliendum et in fluctibus consistendum et cum hostibus erat pugnandum, cum illi aut ex arido aut paulum in aquam progressi, omnibus membris expeditis, 30 notissimis locis audacter tela conicerent et equos insuetos incitarent. Quibus rebus nostri perterriti atque huius omnino generis pugnae imperiti non eadem alacritate ac studio, quo in pedestribus uti proeliis consuerant, 35 utebantur.

Quod ubi Caesar animadvertisit, naves longas, quarum et species erat barbaris inusitator et motus ad usum expeditior, paulum removeri ab onerariis navibus et remis incitari et ad latus apertum hostium constitui atque inde fundis, sagittis, tormentis hostes propelli ac summoveri 40 iussit; quae res magno usui nostris fuit. Nam et navium figura et remorum motu et inusitato genere tormentorum permoti barbari constiterunt ac paulum modo pedem rettulerunt.

Atque nostris militibus cunctantibus, maxime propter 45 altitudinem maris, qui decimae legionis aquilam ferebat, contestatus deos, ut ea res legioni feliciter eveniret, "Desilite," inquit, "milites, nisi vultis aquilam hostibus prodere: ego certe meum reipublicae atque imperatori officium praesttero." Hoc cum voce magna dixisset, se ex 50 navi proiecit atque in hostes aquilam ferre coepit. Tum nostri cohortati inter se, ne tantum dedecus admitteretur, universi ex navi desiluerunt. Hos item ex proximis navibus cum conspexissent, subsecuti hostibus approxinparunt.

subsequi poterant, atque alias alia ex navi quibuscumque signis occurrerat, se aggregabat, magnopere perturbabantur; hostes vero, notis omnibus vadis, ubi ex litore aliquos singulares ex navi egredientes conspexerant, incitatis equis impeditos adoriebantur, plures paucos circumstebant, alii ab latere aperto in universos tela coniebant.

65 Quod cum animadvertisset Caesar, scaphas longarum navium, item speculatoria navigia militibus compleri iussit et, quos laborantes conspexerat, his subsidia submittebat. Nostri, simul in arido constiterunt, suis omnibus consecutis, in hostes impetum fecerunt atque eos 70 in fugam dederunt, neque longius prosequi potuerunt, quod equites cursum tenere atque insulam capere non potuerant. Hoc unum ad pristinam fortunam Caesari defuit.

Hostes proelio superati, simul atque se ex fuga receperunt, statim ad Caesarem legatos de pace miserunt; obsides datus, quaeque imperasset, facturos polliciti sunt. Una cum his legatis Commius Atrebias venit, quem supra demonstraveram a Caesare in Britanniam praemissum. Hunc illi e navi egressum, cum ad eos oratoris modo 80 Caesaris mandata deferret, comprehenderant atque in vincula coniecerant; tum proelio facto remiserunt.

In petenda pace eius rei culpam in multitudinem coniecerunt et, propter imprudentiam ut ignoscetur, petiverunt. Caesar questus, quod, cum ultiro in continentem legatis missis pacem ab se petissent, bellum sine causa intulissent, ignoscere imprudentiae dixit obsidesque imperavit; quorum illi partem statim dederunt, partem ex longinquioribus locis arcessitam paucis diebus sese datus dixerunt. Interea suos remigrare in agros iusserunt, 90 principesque undique convenire et se civitatesque suas Caesari commendare coeperunt.

SIEGE OF A CAMP.

Tunc duces principesque Nerviorum, qui aliquem sermonis aditum causamque amicitiae cum Cicerone habebant, colloqui sese velle dicunt. Facta potestate, eadem, quae Ambiorix cum Titurio egerat, commemorant: omnem esse in armis Galliam; Germanos Rhenum transisse; Caesaris 5 reliquorumque hiberna oppugnari. Addunt etiam de Sabini morte; Ambiorigem ostentant fidei faciundae causa. Errare eos dicunt, si quicquam ab his praesidii sperent, qui suis rebus diffidant; sese tamen hoc esse in Ciceronem populumque Romanum animo, ut nihil nisi hiberna 10 recusent atque hanc inveterascere consuetudinem nolint; licere illis incolumibus per se ex hibernis discedere et, quascunque in partes velint, sine metu proficiisci.

Cicero ad haec unum modo respondit: non esse consuetudinem populi Romani, accipere ab hoste armato 15 condicionem: si ab arinis discedere velint, se adjutore utantur legatosque ad Caesarem mittant; sperare pro eius iustitia, quae petierint, impetraturos.

Ab hac spe repulsi Nervii vallo pedum ix et fossa pedum xv hiberna cingunt. Haec et superiorum annorum 20 consuetudine ab nobis cognoverant et, quos de exercitu

habebant captivos, ab his docebantur; sed nulla ferramentorum copia, quae esset ad hunc usum idonea, gladiis caespites circumcidere, manibus sagulisque terram exhauire 25 nitebantur. Qua quidem ex re hominum multitudo cognosci potuit: nam minus horis tribus milium passuum xv in circuitu munitionem perfecerunt, reliquisque diebus turres ad altitudinem valli, falces testudinesque, quas idem captivi docuerant, parare ac facere coeperunt.

30 Septimo oppugnationis die maximo coorto vento ferventes fusili ex argilla glandes fundis et fervefacta iacula in casas, quae more Gallico stramentis erant tectae, iacere coeperunt. Hae celeriter ignem comprehendenterunt et venti magnitudine in omnem locum castrorum distulerunt.
 35 Hostes maximo clamore, sicuti parta iam atque explorata victoria, turres testudinesque agere et scalis vallum ascendere coeperunt.

At tanta militum virtus atque ea praesentia animi fuit, ut, cum undique flamma torrentur maximaque telorum 40 multitudine premerentur suaque omnia impedimenta atque omnes fortunas conflagrare intellegent, non modo demigrandi causa de vallo decederet nemo, sed paene ne respiceret quidem quisquam, ac tum omnes acerrime fortissimeque pugnarent. Hie dies nostris longe gravissimus fuit: sed tamen hunc habuit eventum, ut eo die maximus numerus hostium vulneraretur atque interficeretur, ut se sub ipso vallo constipaverant recessumque primis ultimi non dabant.

45 Paulum quidem intermissa flamma et quodam loco turri adacta et contingente vallum, tertiae cohortis centuriones ex eo, quo stabant, loco recesserunt suosque omnes removerunt, nutu vocibusque hostes, si introire vellent, vocare coeperunt; quorum progredi ausus est nemo. Tum ex omni parte lapidibus coniectis deturbati, turrisque succensa est.

55 Erant in ea legione fortissimi viri, centuriones, qui primis ordinibus appropinquarent, Titus Pulio et Lucius Vorenum. Hi perpetuas inter se controversias habebant, quinam anteferretur, omnibusque annis de locis summis simultatibus contendebant. Ex his Pulio cum acerrime 60 ad munitiones pugnaretur, "Quid dubitas," inquit, "Vorene? aut quem locum tuae probandae virtutis expectas? hic dies de nostris controversiis iudicabit." Haec cum dixisset, procedit extra munitiones, quaeque pars hostium confertissima est visa, irrumptit. Ne Vorenum 65 quidem sese vallo continet, sed omnium veritus existimationem subsequitur.

Tum mediocri spatio relicto Pulio pilum in hostes immittit atque unum ex multitudine procurrentem traicit; quo percutso et exanimato, hunc scutis protegunt, in 70 hostem tela universi coniciunt neque dant regrediendi facultatem. Transfigitur scutum Pulioni et vernum in balteo defigitur. Avertit hic easus vaginam et gladium educere conanti dextram moratur manum, impeditumque hostes circumsistunt. Succurrit inimicus illi Vorenum et 75 laboranti subvenit.

Ad hunc se confestim a Pulione omnis multitudo convertit; illum veruto arbitrantur occisum. Gladio comminus rem gerit Vorenum atque uno imperfecto reliquos paulum propellit; dum cupidius instat, in locum delatus 80 inferiorem concidit. Huic rursus circumvento fert subsidium Pulio, atque ambo incolumes compluribus imperfectis summa cum laude sese intra munitiones recipiunt. Sic fortuna in contentione et certamine utrumque versavit, ut alter alteri inimicus auxilio salutique esset, neque 85 dijudicari posset, uter utri virtute anteferendus videretur.

STORIES OF GAIUS MUCIUS SCAEVOLA AND CLOELIA.

Obsidio erat nihilo minus et frumenti cum summa caritate inopia, sedendoque expugnaturum se urbem spem Porsinna habebat, eum C. Mucius, adolescens nobilis, cui indignum videbatur, populum Romanum servientem, cum 5 sub regibus esset, nullo bello nec ab hostibus ullis obsessum esse, liberum eundem populum ab iisdem Etruscis obsideri, quorum saepe exercitus fuderit—itaque magno audacieque aliquo facinore eam indignitatem vindicandam ratus primo sua sponte penetrare in hostium castra 10 constituit; dein metuens, ne, si consulum iniussu et ignaris omnibus iret, forte deprehensus a custodibus Romanis retraheretur ut transfuga, fortuna tum urbis crimen affirmante, senatum adit. "Transire Tiberim," inquit, "patres, et intrare, si possim, castra hostium volo, 15 non praedolo nec populationum in vicem ultor; maius, si di iuvant, in animo est facinus." Approbant patres; abdito intra vestem ferro proficiscitur.

Ubi eo venit, in confertissima turba prope regium tribunal constituit. Ibi cum stipendum militibus forte 20 daretur, et scriba cum rego sedens pari fere ornatu multa ageret, eum milites vulgo adirent, timens sciscitari, uter Porsinna esset, ne ignorando regem semet ipse aperiret

quis esset, quo temere traxit fortuna facinus, scribam pro rege obtruncat.

Vadentem inde, qua per trepidam turbam cruento 25 mucrone sibi ipse fecerat viam, cum, concursu ad clamorem facto, comprehensum regii satellites retraxissent, ante tribunal regis destitutus, tum quoque inter tantas fortunae minas metuendus magis quam metuens, "Romanus sum," inquit, "civis; C. Mucium me vocant. Hostis hostem occidi volui, nec ad mortem minus animi est, quam fuit ad caudem; et facere et pati fortia Romanum est. Nec unus in te ego hos animos gessi; longus post me ordo est idem petentium decus. Proinde in hoc disserim, si iuvat, accingere, ut in singulas horas capite dimices tuo, ferrum 35 hostemque in vestibulo habeas regiae. Hoc tibi iuventus Romana indicimus bellum. Nullam aciem, nullum proelium timueris; uni tibi et cum singulis res erit."

Cum rex simul ira incensus periculoque conterritus circumdari ignes minitabundus iuberet, nisi expromeret 40 propere, quas insidiarum sibi minas per ambages iaceret, "En tibi," inquit, "ut sentias, quam vile corpus sit iis, qui magnam gloriam vident," dextramque accenso ad sacrificium foculo inicit. Quam cum velut alienato ab sensu torreret animo, prope attonitus miraculo rex, cum 45 ab sede sua prosiliisset amoverique ab altaribus iuvenem iussisset, "Tu vero abi," inquit, "in te magis quam in me hostilia ausus. Iuberem macte virtute esse, si pro mea patria ista virtus staret; nunc iure belli liberum te, intactum inviolatumque hinc dimitto." Tunc Mucius, 50 quasi remunerans meritum, "Quando quidem," inquit, "est apud te virtuti honos, ut beneficio tuleris a me, quod minis nequisti, trecenti coniuravimus principes iuventutis Romanae, ut in te hac via grassaremur. Mea prima sors fuit; ceteri, utcumque ceciderit primo, quoad te oppor- 55 tunum fortuna dederit, suo quisque tempore aderunt."

Mucium dimissum, cui postea Scaevolae a clade dextrae

manus cognomen inditum, legati a Porsinna Romam secuti sunt; adeo moverat eum et primi periculi casus, 60 quo nihil se praeter errorem insidiatoris texisset, et subeunda dimicatio toties, quot coniurati superessent, ut pacis condiciones ultro ferret Romanis. Iactatum in condicionibus nequicquam de Tarquinii in regnum restituendis, magis quia id negare ipse nequiverat Tar- 65 quiniis, quam quod negatum iri sibi ab Romanis ignoraret. De agro Veientibus restituendo impetratum, expressaque necessitas obsides dandi Romanis, si Ianiculo praesidium deduci vellent. His condicionibus composita pace, exer- citum ab Ianiculo deduxit Porsinna et agro Romano 70 excessit. Patres C. Mucio virtutis causa trans Tiberim agrum dono dedere, quae postea sunt Mucia prata appellata.

Ergo, ita honorata virtute, feminae quoque ad publica decora excitatae, et Cloelia virgo una ex obsidibus, cum 75 castra Etruscorum forte haud procul ripa Tiberis locata essent, frustrata custodes, dux agminis virginum inter tela hostium Tiberim tranavit sospitesque omnes Romam ad propinquos restituit. Quod ubi regi nuntiatum est, primo incensus ira oratores Romam misit ad Cloeliam 80 obsidem deposcendam: alias haud magni facere; deinde in admirationem versus, supra Coclites Muciosque dicere id facinus esse, et prae se ferre, quemadmodum, si non dedatur obses, pro rupto foedus se habiturum, sic deditam intactam inviolatamque ad suos remissurum.

85 Utrumque constitit fides: et Romani pignus pacis ex foedere restituerunt, et apud regem Etruscum non tuta solum, sed honorata etiam virtus fuit, laudatamque virginem parte obsidum se donare dixit; ipsa, quos vellet, legeret. Pace redintegrata, Romani novam in femina 90 virtutem novo genere honoris, statua equestri, donavere; in summa Saera via fuit posita virgo insidens equo.

CURIOLANUS.

Erat in castris inter primores iuvenum Cn. Marcius, adulescens et consilio et manu promptus, cui cognomen postea Coriolano fuit. Cum subito exercitum Romanum Coriolos obsidentem atque in oppidanos, quos intus clausos habebat, intentum sine ullo metu extrinsecus imminentis 5 belli, Volscae legiones, profectae ab Antio, invasissent, eodemque tempore ex oppido erupissent hostes, forte in statione Marcius fuit. Is cum delecta militum manu non modo impetum erumpentium rettudit, sed per patentem portam ferox irrupit; caeleque in proxima parte facta 10 urbis, ignem temere arreptum imminentibus muro aedificiis iniecit.

Clamor inde oppidanorum mixtus muliebri puerilique ploratu ad terrorem, ut solet, primum ortus et Romanis auxit animum et turbavit Volscos, utpote capta urbe, cui 15 ad ferendam opem venerant. Ita fusi Volsci Antiates, Corioli oppidum captum; tantumque sua laude obstitit famae consulis Marcius, ut, nisi foedus cum Latinis columna aenea insculptum monumento esset, ab Sp.
 Cassio uno, quia collega afuerat, ictum, Postumum 20
 Cominium bellum gessisse cum Volscis memoria cessisset.

Consules deinde T. Geganius, P. Minucius facti. Eo anno cum et foris quies omnia a bello essent et domi sanata discordia, aliud multo gravius malum civitatem 25 invasit, caritas primum annonae ex incultis per secessionem plebis agris, fames deinde, qualis clausis solet. Ventumque ad interitum servitorum utique et plebis esset, ni consules providissent, dimissis passim ad frumentum coemendum, non in Etruriam modo dextris ab 30 Ostia litoribus, laevoque per Volscos mari usque ad Cumas, sed quaesitum in Siciliam quoque; adeo finitimorum odia longinquis coegerant indigere auxiliis.

Frumentum Cumis cum coemptum esset, naves pro bonis Tarquiniorum ab Aristodemo tyranno, qui heres 35 erat, retentae sunt; in Volscis Pomptinoque ne emi quidem potuit; periculum quoque ab impetu hominum ipsis frumentatoribus fuit; ex Tusciis frumentum Tiberi venit; eo sustentata est plebs. Incommodo bello in tam artis commeatis vexati forent, ni Volscos iam moventes 40 arma pestilentia ingens invasisset. Ea clade conterritis hostium animis, ut etiam, ubi ea remisisset, terrore aliquo tenerentur, et Velitris auxere numerum colonorum Romani, et Norbam in montes novam coloniam, quae arx in Pomptino esset, miserunt.

45 M. Minucio deinde et A. Sempronio consulibus magna vis frumenti ex Sicilia advecta, agitatumque in senatu, quanti plebi daretur. Multi venisse tempus premendae plebis putabant recuperandique iura, quae extorta secessione ac vi patribus essent. In primis Marcius 50 Coriolanus, hostis tribuniciae potestatis, "Si annonam," inquit, "veterem volunt, ius pristinum reddant patribus. Cur ego plebeios magistratus, eur Sicinium potentem video, sub iugum missus, tamquam ab latronibus redemptus? Egone has indignitates diutius patiar, quam necesse est? 55 Tarquinium regem qui non tulerim, Sicinium feram? Secedat nunc; avocet plebem; patet via in Sacrum mon-tem aliosque colles; rapiant frumenta ex agris nostris, quemadmodum tertio anno rapuere. Fruantur annona, quam furore suo fecere. Audeo dicere, hoc malo domitos ipsos potius cultores agrorum fore, quam ut armati per 60 secessionem coli prohibeant." Haud tam facile dictu est, faciendumne fuerit, quam potuisse arbitror fieri, ut conditionibus laxandi annonam et tribuniciam potestatem et omnia invitis iura imposita patres demerent sibi.

Et senatui nimis atrox visa sententia est et plebem ira 65 prope armavit. Fame se iam sicut hostes peti, cibo victuque fraudari; peregrinum frumentum, quae sola alimenta ex insperato fortuna dederit, ab ore rapi, nisi Cn. Marcio vinciti dedantur tribuni, nisi de tergo plebis Romanae satisfiat; eum sibi carnificem novum exortum, 70 qui aut mori aut servire iubeat. In exeuntem e curia impetus factus esset, ni peropportune tribuni diem dixissent. Ibi ira est suppressa; se iudicem quisque, se dominum vitae necisque inimici factum videbat. Contemptim primo Marcius audiebat minas tribunicias: 75 auxilii, non poenae ius datum illi potestati, plebisque, non patrum tribunos esse. Sed adeo infensa erat coorta plebs, ut unius poena defungendum esset patribus.

Restiterunt tamen adversa invidia, usque sunt qua suis quisque, qua totius ordinis viribus. Ac primo tentata 80 res est, si, dispositis clientibus, absterrendo singulos a coitionibus conciliisque, disicere rem possent. Universi deinde processere (quicquid erat patrum, reos diceres) precibus plebem exposcentes, unum sibi civem, unum senatorem, si innocentem absolvere nollent, pro nocente 85 donarent. Ipse cum die dicta non adesset, perseveratum in ira est. Damnatus absens in Volscos exsulatum abiit, minitans patriae hostilesque iam tum spiritus gerens.

Venientem Volsci benigne excepere, benigniusque in dies colebant, quo maior ira in suos eminebat crebraeque 90 nunc querelae, nunc minae percipiebantur. Hospitio utebatur Attii Tullii. Longe is tum princeps Volsci nominis erat Romanisque semper infestus. Ita cum alterum vetus odium, alterum ira recens stimularet, 95 consilia conferunt de Romano bello. Haud facile credebant plebem suam impelli posse, ut toties infeliciter tentata arma caperent: multis saepe bellis, pestilentia postremo amissa iuventute fractos spiritus esse; arte agendum in exoleto iam vetustate odio, ut recenti aliqua 100 ira exacerbarentur animi.

CORIOLANUS AND THE VOLSCIANS.

Imperatores ad id bellum de omnium popolorum sententia lecti Attius Tullius et Cn. Marcius, exsul Romanus, in quo aliquanto plus spei repositum. Quam spem nequam fefellit, ut facile appareret, ducibus validiorem quam 5 exercitu rem Romanam esse. Circeios profectus primum colonos inde Romanos expulit liberamque eam urbem Volscis tradidit; inde in Latinam viam transversis tramitis transgressus Satricum, Longulam, Poluscum, Coriolos, novella haec Romanis oppida ademit; inde Lavinium 10 recepit; tum deinceps Corbionem, Vitelliam, Trebium, Lavicos, Pedum cepit.

Postremum ad urbem a Pedo ducit, et ad fossas Cluilias quinque ab urbe millia passuum castris positis, populatur inde agrum Romanum, custodibus inter populores missis, qui patriciorum agros intactos servaront, 15 sive infensus plebi magis, sive ut discordia inde inter patres plebemque oreretur. Quae profecto orta esset (adeo tribuni iam ferocem per se plebem criminando in primores civitatis instigabant); sed exterius timor, maximum concordiae vinculum, quamvis suspectos infensosque inter se iungebat animos. Id modo non conveniebat, quod senatus consulesque nusquam alibi spem quam in armis ponebant, plebes omnia quam bellum malebat.

Sp. Nautius iam et Sex. Furius consules erant. Eos 25 recensentes legiones, praesidia per muros aliaque, in quibus stationes vigiliasque esse placuerat, loca distribuentes, multitudo ingens pacem poscentium primum seditiosos clamore conterruit, deinde vocare senatum, referre de legatis ad Cu. Marcium mittendis coegit. Acceperunt 30 relationem patres, postquam apparuit labare plebis animos; missique de pace ad Marcium oratores atrox responsum rettulerunt: si Volscis ager redderetur, posse agi de pace; si praeda belli per otium frui velint, memorem se et civium iniuria et hospitum beneficii annisurum, ut 35 appareat exsilio sibi irritatos, non fractos animos esse. Iterum deinde iidem missi non recipiuntur in castra. Sacerdotes quoque suis insignibus velatos isse supplices ad castra hostium traditum est; nihil magis quam legatos flexisse animum. 40

Tum matronae ad Veturiā matrem Coriolani Volumniamque uxorem frequentes eocunt. Id publicum consilium an muliebris timor fuerit, parum invenio; pervicere certe, ut et Veturia, magno natu mulier, et Volumnia duos parvos ex Marcio ferens filios secum in 45 castra hostium irent et, quoniam armis viri defendere

urbem non possent, mulieres precibus lacrimisque defenderent. Ubi ad castra ventum est nuntiatumque Coriolano est, adesse ingens mulierum agmen, primo, ut 50 qui nec publica maiestate in legatis nec in sacerdotibus tanta offusa oculis animoque religione motus esset, multo obstinatior adversus lacrimas muliebres erat; dein familiarium quidam, qui insignem maestitia inter ceteras cognoverat. Veteriam, inter nurum nepotesque stantem, 55 "Nisi me frustrantur," inquit, "oculi, mater tibi coniuxque et liberi adsunt."

Coriolanus prope ut amens consternatus ab sede sua cum ferret matri obviae complexum, mulier in iram ex precibus versa, "Sine, priusquam complexum accipio, 60 sciam," inquit, "ad hostem an ad filium venerim, captiva materne in castris tuis sim. In hoc me longa vita et infelix senecta traxit, ut exsulem te, deinde hostem viderem! Potuisti populari hanc terram, quae te genuit atque aluit? Non tibi, quamquam infesto animo et minaci 65 perveneras, ingredienti fines ira cecidit? Non, cum in conspectu Roma fuit, succurrit: Intra illa moenia domus ac penates mei sunt, mater, coniux liberique? Ergo ego nisi peperisset, Roma non oppugnaretur; nisi filium haberem, libera in libera patria mortua essem. Sed ego 70 nihil iam pati nec tibi turpius nec mihi miserius possum, nec, ut sim miserrima, diu futura sum; de his videris, quos, si pergis, aut immatura mors aut longa servitus manet."

Uxor deinde ac liberi amplexi, fletusque ab omni turba
75 mulierum ortus et comploratio sui patriaeque fregere tandem virum. Complexus inde suos dimittit; ipse retro ab urbe castra movit. Abductis deinde legionibus ex agro Romano, invidia rei oppressum perisse tradunt, alii alio leto. Apud Fabium, longe antiquissimum auctorem, 80 usque ad senectutem vixisse eundem invenio; refert certe, hanc saepè eum exacta aetate usurpasse vocem, multo miserius seni exsilium esse. Non inviderunt laude sua mulieribus viri Romani (adeo sine obtrectatione gloriae alienae vivebatur), monumentoque quod esset, templum Fortunae muliebri aedificatum dedicatumque est. 85

THE BATTLE OF CANNAE.

Postero die Varro, cuius sors eius diei imperii erat, nihil consulto collega signum proposuit instructasque copias flumen traduxit sequente Paulo, quia magis non probare quam non adiuvare consilium poterat. Transgressi flumen eas quoque, quas in castris minoribus 5 habuerant, copias suis adiungunt atque ita instruunt aciem: in dextro cornu—id erat flumini proprius—Romanos equites locant, deinde pedites; laevum cornu extremi equites sociorum, intra pedites, ad medium iuncti legionibus Romanis, tenuerunt; iaculatores cum ceteris 10 levium armorum auxiliis prima acies facta. Consules cornua tenuere, Terentius laevum, Aemilius dextrum; Gemino Servilio media pugna tuenda data.

Hannibal luce prima Baliliaribus levique alia armatura praemissa transgressus flumen, ut quosque traduxerat, ita 15 in acie locabat, Gallos Hispanosque equites prope ripam laevo in cornu adversus Romanum equitatum, dextrum cornu Numidis equitibus datum, media acie peditibus firmata, ita ut Afrorum utraque cornua essent, interponerentur his medii Galli atque Hispani. Afros Romanam magna ex parte crederes aciem; ita armati erant armis et ad Trebiam, ceterum magua ex parte ad Trasumennum captis. Gallis Hispanisque scuta eiusdem formae fere erant, dispares ac dissimiles gladii, Gallis praelongi ac sine mucronibus, Hispano, punctum magis quam caesim assueto petere hostem, brevitate habiles et cum mucronibus.

Clamore sublato procursum ab auxiliis et pugna levibus primum armis commissa; deinde equitum Gallorum Hispanorumque laevum cornu cum dextro Romano concurrit, minime equestris more pugnae; frontibus enim adversis concurrendum erat, quia nullo circa ad evagandum relicto spatio hinc annis hinc peditum acies claudebant in directum utrimque nitentes. Stantibus ac confertis postremo turba equis, vir virum amplexus detrahebat equo. Pedestre magna iam ex parte certamen factum erat; aerius tamen quam diutius pugnatum est, pulsique Romani equites terga vertunt. Sub equestris finem certaminis coorta est peditum pugna, primo et viribus et animis par, dum constabant ordines Gallis Hispanisque; tandem Romani, diu ac saepe conisi, obliqua fronte acieque densa impulere hostium cuneum nimis tenuem coque parum validum, a cetera prominentem acie.

Impulsis deinde ac trepide referentibus pedem institere, ac tenore uno per praeceps pavore fugientium agmen in medianum primum aciem illati, postremo nullo resistente ad subsidia Afrorum pervenorunt, qui utrimque reductis aliis constituerant, media, qua Galli Hispanique steterant, aliquantum prominente acie. Qui cuneus ut pulsus aequavit frontem primum, dein cedendo etiam sinum in medio dedit, Afri circa iam cornua fecerant irruentibusque incaute in medium Romanis circumdedere alas; mox cornua extendendo clausere et ab tergo hostes. Hinc Romani, defuncti nequ quam proelio uno, omissis Gallis Hispanisque, quorum terga ceciderant, adversus Afros 55 integrum pugnari ineunt non tantum eo iniquam, quod inclusi adversus circumfossos, sed etiam quod fessi cum recentibus ac vegetis pugnabant.

Iam et sinistro cornu Romano, ubi sociorum equites adversus Numidas steterant, consertum proelium erat, 60 segne primo et a Punica coeptum fraude. Quingenti ferme Numidae, praeter solita arma telaque gladios occultos sub loricis habentes, specie transfugarum cum ab suis parmas post terga habentes adequitassent, repente ex equis desiliunt parmisque et iaculis ante pedes hostium 65 projectis in median aciem accepti ductique ad ultimos considere ab tergo iubentur. Ac dum proelium ab omni parte conseritur, quieti manserunt; postquam omnium animos oculosque occupaverat certamen, tum arrep is scutis, quae passim inter acervos caesorum corporum 70 strata erant, aversam adoriuntur Romanam aciem tergaque ferientes ac poplites caedentes stragem ingentem ac maiorem aliquanto pavorem ac tumultum fecerunt. Cum alibi terror ac fuga, alibi pertinax in mala iam spe proelium esset, Hasdrubal, qui ea parte praeerat, sub- 75 ductos ex media acie Numidas, quia segnis eorum cum adversis pugna erat, ad persequendos passim fugientes mittit, Hispanos et Gallos equites Afris prope iam fassis caede magis quam pugna adiungit.

Parte altera pugnae Paulus, quamquam primo statim 80 proelio funda graviter ictus fuerat, tamen et occurrit saepe cum confertis Hannibali et aliquot locis proelium restituit, protegentibus eum equitibus Romanis, omissis postremo equis, quia consulem et ad regendum equum vires deficiebant. Tum denuntianti cuidam iussisse con- 85 sulem ad pedes descendere equites, dixisse Hannibalem ferunt: "quam malleum, vincetos mihi traderet!" Equitum pedestre proelium, quale iam haud dubia hostium victoria, fuit, cum victi mori in vestigio mallent quam fugere, 90 victores morantibus victoriam irati trucidarent, quos pellere non poterant. Pepulerunt tamen iam paucos superantes et labore ac vulneribus fessos. Inde dissipati omnes sunt equosque ad fugam qui poterant repetebant.

Tum undique effuse fugiunt. Septem milia hominum 95 in minora castra, decem in maiora, duo ferme in vicum ipsum Cannas perfugerunt; qui extemplo a Carthalone atque equitibus nullo munimento tegente vicum circumventi sunt. Consul alter, seu forte seu consilio nulli fugientium insertus agmini, cum quinquaginta fere 100 equitibus Venusiam perfugit. Quadraginta quinque milia quingenti pedites, duo milia septingenti equites, et tantadem prope civium socrorumque pars, caesi dicuntur; in his ambo consulum quaestores, L. Atilius et L. Furius Bibaculus, et undetriginta tribuni militum, consulares 105 quidam praetoriique et aedilicij—inter eos Cn. Servilium Gemimum et M. Minucium numerant, qui magister equitum priore anno, aliquot annis ante consul fuerat— octoginta praeterea aut senatores aut qui eos magistratus gessissent, unde in senatum legi deberent, cum sua 110 voluntate milites in legionibus facti essent. Capta eo proelio tria milia peditum et equites mille et quingenti dicuntur.

Haec est pugna Cannensis, Alliensi cladi nobilitate par, ceterum ut illis, quae post pugnam accidere, levior, quia ab 115 hoste est cessatum, sic strage exercitus gravior foediorque. Fuga namque ad Alliam sicut urbem prodidit, ita exercitum servavit; ad Cannas fugientem consulem vix quinquaginta secuti sunt, alterius morientis prope totus exercitus fuit.

MARIUS TAKES THE TOWN OF CAPSA.

Erat inter ingentes solitudines oppidum magnum atque valens nomine Capsa, cuius conditor Hercules Libys memorabatur. Eius cives apud Iugurtham immunes, levi imperio et ob ea fidelissimi habebantur, muniti adversum hostes non moenibus modo et armis atque viris, verum etiam multo magis locorum asperitate. Nam praeter oppido propinqua alia omnia vasta, inculta, egentia aquae, infesta serpentibus, quarum vis sicuti omnium ferarum inopia cibi acrior. Ad hoc natura serpentium ipsa perniciosa siti magis quam alia re acceditur. 10

Eius potiendi Marium maxima cupido invaserat, cum propter usum belli tum quia res aspera videbatur et Metellus oppidum Thalam magna gloria ceperat, haud dissimiliter situm munitumque, nisi quod apud Thalam non longe a moenibus aliquot fontes erant, Capsenses una 15 modo atque ea intra oppidum iugi aqua, cetera pluvia utebantur. Id ibique et in omni Africa, quae procul a mari incultius agebat, eo facilius tolerabatur, quia Numidae plerumque lacte et ferina carne vescebantur et neque salem neque alia irritamenta gulæ quaerebant: cibus illis 20 adversus famem atque sitim, non libidini neque luxuriaæ erat.

Igitur consul omnibus exploratis, credo dis fretus—nam contra tantas difficultates consilio satis providere non poterat, quippe etiam frumenti inopia tentabatur, quia Numidae pabulo pecoris magis quam arvo student et, quodcumque natum fuerat, iussu regis in loca munita contulerant, ager autem aridus et frugum vacuus ea tempestate, nam aestatis extremum erat—tamen pro rei copia satis providenter exornat. Pecus omne, quod superioribus diebus praedae fuerat, equitibus auxiliariis agendum attribuit, A. Manlium legatum cum cohortibus expeditis ad oppidum Laris, ubi stipendium et commatum locaverat, ire iubet dicitque se praedabundum post paucos dies eodem venturum. Sic incepto suo occultato pergit ad flumen Tanain.

Ceterum in itinere cotidie pecus exercitui per centurias, item turmas aequaliter distribuerat et, ex coriis utres utilierent, curabat; simul inopiam frumenti lenire et ignaris omnibus parare, quae mox usui forent. Denique sexto die, cum ad flumen ventum est, maxima vis utrius effecta. Ibi castris levi munimento positis milites cibum capere atque, uti simul cum occasu solis egredierentur, paratos esse iubet, omnibus sarcinis abiectis aqua modo seque et iumenta onerare. Dein postquam tempus visum, castris egreditur noctemque totam itinere facto consedit; idem proxima facit; dein tertia multo ante lucis adventum pervenit in locum tumulosum ab Capsa non amplius duum milium intervallo ibique, quam occultissime potest, cum omnibus copiis opperitur.

Sed ubi dies coepit et Numidae nihil hostile metuentes multi oppido egressi, repente omnem equitatum et cum eis velocissimos pedites cursu tendere ad Capsam et portas obsidere iubet. Deinde ipse intentus propere sequi neque milites praedari sinere. Quae postquam oppidani cognovere, res trepidae, metus ingens, malum improvisum, ad hoc pars civium extra moenia in hostium potestate coegere, uti dditionem facerent. Ceterum oppidum incensum, Numidae puberes interfecti, alii omnes venumdati, praeda militibus divisa. Id facinus contra ius belli 60 non avaritia neque scelere consulis admissum, sed quia locus Iugurthae opportunus, nobis aditu difficilis, genus hominum mobile, infidum, neque beneficio neque metu coercitum.

Postquam tantam rem peregit Marius sine ullo suorum 65 incommodo, magnus et clarus antea, maior atque clarior haberi coepit: omnia non bene consulta in virtutem trahebantur; milites, modesto imperio habitu simul et locupletes, ad caelum ferre, Numidae magis quam mortalem timere; postremo omnes, socii atque hostes, credere illi 70 aut mentem divinam esse aut deorum nutu cuncta portendi.

Sed consul, ubi ea res bene evenit, ad alia oppida pergit, pauca repugnantibus Numidis capit, plura deserta propter Capsensium miserias igni corrumpit: luctu atque caede 75 omnia complentur. Denique, multis locis potitus ac plerisque exercitu incruento, aliam rem aggreditur, non eadem asperitate qua Capsensium, ceterum haud secus difficilem.

THE ATTACK ON ZAMA.

Romanus imperator ubi se dolis fatigari videt neque ab hoste copiam pugnandi fieri, urbem magnam et in ea parte, qua sita erat, arcem regni nomine Zamam statuit oppugnare, ratus, id quod negotium poscebat, Iugurtham
 5 laborantibus suis auxilio venturum ibique proelium fore.
 At ille, quae parabantur, a perfugis edoctus, magnis itineribus Metellum antevenit. Oppidanos hortatur, moenia defendant, additis auxilio perfugis, quod genus ex copiis regis, quia fallere nequibat, firmissimum erat.
 10 Praeterea pollicetur in tempore semet cum exercitu affore.

Ita compositis rebus in loca quam maxime occulta discedit ac post paulo cognoscit Marium ex itinere fru-mentatum cum paucis cohortibus Sicciam missum, quod oppidum primum omnium post malam pugnam ab rege 15 defecerat. Eo cum delectis equitibus noctu pergit et iam egredientibus Romanis in porta pugnam facit, simul magna voce Siccenses hortatur, uti cohortes ab tergo circumveniant: fortunam illis praeclari facinoris casum dare; si id fecerint, postea sese in regno, illos in libertate 20 sine metu aetatem acturos. Ac ni Marius signa inferre atque evadere oppido properavisset, profecto cuncti aut magna pars Siccensium fidem mutavissent: tanta mobilitate sese Numidae gerunt. Sed milites Iugurthini, paulisper ab rege sustentati, postquam maiore vi hostes urgent, paucis 25 amissis profugi discedunt.

Marius ad Zamam pervenit. Id oppidum, in campo situm, magis opere quam natura munitum erat, nullius idoneae rei egens, armis virisque opulentum. Igitur
 Metellus pro tempore atque loco paratis rebus cuncta 30 moenia exercitu circumvenit, legatis imperat, ubi quisque curaret. Deinde signo dato undique simul clamor ingens oritur, neque ea res Numidas terret: infensi intentique sine tumultu manent, proelium incipitur. Romani pro ingenio quisque pars eminus glande aut lapidibus pugnare, alii succedere ac murum modo suffodere modo sealis 35 aggredi, cupere proelium in manibus facere. Contra ea oppidani in proximos saxa volvere, sudes, pila, praeterea picem sulfure et taeda mixtam ardentia mittere. Sed ne illos quidem, qui procul manserant, timor animi satis muniverat; nam plerosque iacula tormentis aut manu 40 emissis vulnerabant, parique periculo, sed fama impari boni atque ignavi erant.

Dum apud Zamam sic certatur, Iugurtha ex improviso castra hostium cum magna manu invadit: remissis, qui in praesidio erant, et omnia magis quam proelium exspectantibus, portam irrumpit. At nostri repentina metu perculti sibi quisque pro moribus consulunt: alii fugere, alii arma capere. Magna pars vulnerati aut occisi. Ceterum ex omni multitudine non amplius quadraginta memores nominis Romani grege facto locum cepere paulo 50 quam alii editorem neque inde maxima vi depelli quiverunt, sed tela eminus missa remittere, pauci in pluribus minus frustrari; sin Numidae proprius accessissent, ibi vero virtutem ostendere et eos maxima vi caedere, fundere atque fugare.

Interim Metellus cum acerrime rem gereret, clamorem velut tumultum hostilem a tergo accepit, dein converso equo animadvertis fugam ad se versum fieri, quae res indicabat populares esse. Igitur equitatum omnem ad castra propere misit ac statim C. Marium cum cohortibus 60 sociorum eumque lacrimans per amicitiam perque rem publicam obsecrat, ne quam contumeliam remanere in exercitu victore neve hostes inultos abire sinat. Ille brevi mandata efficit. At Iugurtha munimento castrorum impeditus, cum alii super vallum praecipitarentur, alii in 65 angustiis ipsi sibi properantes officerent, multis amissis in loca munita sese recepit. Metellus infecto negotio, postquam nox aderat, in castra cum exercitu revertitur.

Igitur postero die, priusquam ad oppugnandum egrede-70 retur, equitatum omnem in ea parte, qua regis adventus erat, pro castris agitare iubet, portas et proxima loca tribunis dispergit, deinde ipse pergit ad oppidum atque uti superiore die murum aggreditur. Interim Iugurtha ex occulto repente nostros invadit: qui in proximo locati 75 fuerant, paulisper territi perturbantur, reliqui cito sub-veniunt. Neque diutius Numidae resistere quivissent, ni pedites cum equitibus permixti magnam cladem in congressu facerent. Quibus illi freti non, uti equestri proelio solet, sequi, dein cedere, sed adversis equis concurrere, 80 implicare ac perturbare aciem: ita expeditis peditibus suis hostes paene victos dare.

Eodem tempore apud Zamam magna vi certabatur: ubi quisque legatus aut tribunus curabat, eo acerrime niti, neque aliis in alio magis, quam in se-e, spem habere 85 pariterque oppidani agere: oppugnare aut parare omnibus locis, avidius alteri alteros sauciare, quam semet tegere, clamor permixtus hortatione laetitia gemitu, item strepitus armorum ad caelum ferri, tela utrimque volare. Sed illi, qui moenia defensabant, ubi hostes paulum modo pugnam 90 remiserant, intenti proelium equestre prospectabant. Eos, uti quaeque Iugurthae res erant, laetos modo modo pavidos animadverteres, ac, sicuti audiri a suis aut cerni possent, monere alii alii hortari, aut manu significare aut niti corporibus et ea huc et illuc quasi vitabundi aut iacentes 95 tela agitare.

Quod ubi Mario cognitum est—nam is in ea parte curabat—consulto lenius agere ac diffidentiam rei simulare, pati Numidas sine tumultu regis proelium visere. Ita illis studio suorum astrictis repente magna vi murum 100 aggreditur. Et iam scalis egressi milites prope summa ceperant, cum oppidani concurrunt, lapides ignem alia praeterea tela ingerunt. Nostri primo resistere, deinde, ubi unae atque alterae scalae comminutae, qui supersternerant, afficti sunt, ceteri, quoquo modo potuere, pauci integri magna pars vulneribus confecti, abeunt. 105 Denique utrimque proelium nox diremit.

CATILINE'S SPEECH; HIS DEFEAT AND DEATH.

"Compertum ego habeo, milites, verba virtutem non addere, neque ex ignavo strenuum neque fortem ex timido exercitum oratione imperatoris fieri. Quanta cuiusque animo audacia natura aut moribus inest, tanta in bello patere solet. Quem neque gloria neque pericula excitant, 5 neququam hortere: timor animi auribus officit. Sed ego vos, quo pauca monerem, advocavi, simul uti causam mei consili aperirem. Scitis equidem, milites, socordia atque ignavia Lentuli quantam ipsi nobisque cladem attulerit quoque modo, dum ex urbe praesidia opperior, in Galliam 10 proficiisci nequiverim.

"Nunc vero quo loco res nostrae sint, iuxta mecum omnes intellegitis. Exercitus hostium duo, unus ab urbe alter a Gallia, obstant. Diutius in his locis esse, si maxime animus ferat, frumenti atque aliarum rerum egestas 15

prohibet. Quocumque ire placet, ferro iter aperiendum est. Quapropter vos moneo uti forti atque parato animo sitis et, cum proelium inibitis, memineritis vos divitias decus gloriae, praeterea libertatem atque patriam in dextris 20 vestris portare. Si vincimus, omnia nobis tuta erunt, commatus abunde, municipia atque coloniae patebunt: si metu cesserimus, eadem illa adversa fient, neque locus neque amicus quisquam teget quem arma non texerint.

“ Praeterea, milites, non eadem nobis et illis necessitudo 25 impendet: nos pro patria pro libertate pro vita certamus, illis supervacaneum est pro potentia paucorum pugnare. Quo audacius aggrediamini, memores pristinae virtutis. Licuit vobis cum summa turpitudine in exsilio aetatem agere, potuistis non nulli Romae amissis bonis alienas 30 opes exspectare: quia illa foeda atque intoleranda viris videbantur, haec sequi decrevistis. Si haec relinquere vultis, audacia opus est: nemo nisi victor pace bellum mutavit. Nam in fuga salutem sperare, cum arina, quibus corpus tegitur, ab hostibus averteris, ea vero dementia 35 est. Semper in proelio eis maximum est periculum, qui maxime timent, audacia pro muro habetur. Cum vos considero, milites, et cum facta vestra aestimo, magna me spes victoriae tenet. Animus aetas virtus vestra me hortantur, praeterea necessitudo, quae etiam timidos 40 fortis facit. Nam multitudo hostium ne circumvenire queat, prohibent angustiae loci.

“ Quodsi virtuti vestrae fortuna inviderit, cavete inulti animam amittatis, neu capti potius sicuti pecora trucidemini quam virorum more pugnantes cruentam atque 45 luctuosam victoriam hostibus relinquatis.”

Haec ubi dixit, paululum commoratus signa canere iubet atque instructos ordines in locum aequum deducit. Dein remotis omnium equis, quo militibus exaequato periculo animus amplior esset, ipse pedes exercitum pro loco atque 50 copii instruit. Nam uti planities erat inter sinistros montes et ab dextera rupes aspera, octo cohortes in fronte constituit, reliquarum signa in subsidio artius collocat. Ab eis centuriones, omnis lectos, et evocatos, praeterea ex gregariis militibus optimum quemque armatum in primam aciem subducit. C. Manlius in dextra, Faesulanum 55 quendam in sinistra parte curare iubet. Ipse cum libertis et calonibus propter aquilam assistit, quam bello Cimbrico C. Marius in exercitu habuisse dicebatur. At ex altera parte C. Antonius, pedibus aeger, quod proelio adesse nequibat, M. Petreio legato exercitum permittit. 60

Ille cohortes veteranas, quas tumultus causa conscriperat, in fronte, post eas ceterum exercitum in subsidiis locat; ipse equo circumiens unum quemque nominans appellat, hortatur, rogit ut meminerint se contra latrones inermos pro patria pro liberis pro aris atque focis suis certare. 65 Homo militaris, quod amplius annos triginta tribunus aut praefectus aut legatus aut praetor cum magna gloria in exercitu fuerat, plerosque ipsos factaque eorum fortia noverat: ea commemorando militum animos accendebat.

Sed ubi omnibus rebus exploratis Petreius tuba signum 70 dat, cohortes paulatim incedere iubet. Idem facit hostium exercitus. Postquam eo ventum est, unde a ferentariis proelium committi posset, maximo clamore cum infestis signis concurrunt: pila omittunt, gladiis res geritur. Veterani pristinae virtutis memores communis acriter 75 instare, illi haud timidi resistunt: maxima vi certatur. Interea Catilina cum expeditis in prima acie versari, laborantibus succurrere, integros pro sauciis arcessere, omnia providere, multum ipse pugnare, saepe hostem ferire: strenui militis et boni imperatoris officia simul exsequebatur. 80

Petreius, ubi videt Catilinam contra ac ratus erat magna vi tendere, cohortem praetoriam in medios hostes inducit eosque perturbatos atque alios alibi resistentes interficit. Deinde utrumque ex lateribus ceteros aggreditur. Manlius et Faesulanus in primis pugnantes cadunt. 85

Catilina postquam fusas copias seque cum paucis relictum videt, memor generis atque pristinae suae dignitatis in confertissimos hostes incurrit ibique pugnans confoditur.

Sed confecto proelio tum vero cerneret, quanta audacia
 90 quantaque animi vis fuisset in exercitu Catilinæ. Nam fere quem quisque vivus pugnando locum ceperat, eum amissa anima corpore tegebat. Pauci autem, quos medios cohors praetoria disiecerat, paulo diversius sed omnes tamen adversis vulneribus conciderant. Catilina vero
 95 longe a suis inter hostium cadavera repertus est, paululum etiam spirans ferociamque animi, quam habuerat vivus, in vultu retinens. Postremo ex omni copia neque in proelio neque in fuga quisquam civis ingenuus captus est: ita cuncti suae hostiumque vitae iuxta pepercérant. Neque
 100 tamen exercitus populi Romani laetam aut ineruentam victoriam adeptus erat. Nam strenuissimus quisque aut occiderat in proelio aut graviter vulneratus discesserat. Multi autem qui e castris visendi aut spoliandi gratia processerant, volventes hostilia cadavera amicum alii pars 105 hospitem aut cognatum reperiebant; fuere item qui iniunicos suos cognoscerent. Ita varie per omnem exercitum laetitia mæror luctus atque gaudia agitabantur.

UNEASY LIES THE HEAD, ETC.

Duodequadraginta annos tyrannus Syracusanorum fuit Dionysius, cum quinque et viginti natus annos dominatum occupavisset. Qua pulchritudine urbem, quibus autem opibus praeditam servitute oppressam tenuit civitatem! Atqui de hoc homine a bonis auctoribus sic scriptum accepimus, summam fuisse eius in victu temperantiam in rebusque gerendis virum acerem et industrium, eundem tamen maleficum natura et iniustum. Ex quo omnibus bene veritatem intuentibus videri necesse est miserrimum. Ea enim ipsa, quae concupierat, ne tum quidem, cum omnia se posse censebat, consequebatur.

Qui cum esset bonis parentibus atque honesto loco natus, etsi id quidem alias alio modo tradidit, abundaretque aequalium familiaritatibus et consuetudine propinquorum, haberet etiam more Graeciae quosdam adulescentes amore coniunetos, credebat eorum nemini, sed iis, quos ex familiis locupletium servos delegerat, quibus nomen servitutis ipse detraxerat, et quibusdam convenis et feris barbaris corporis custodiam committebat. Ita propter iniustam dominatus cupiditatem in carcere 20 quodam modo ipse se incluserat. Quin etiam, ne tonsori collum committeret, tondere filias suas docuit. Ita sordido atque ancillari artificio regiae virginis ut tonstriculae tondebant barbam et capillum patris. Et tamen ab iis 25 ipsis, cum iam essent aduluae, ferrum removit instituitque ut candardibus iuglandium putaminibus barbam sibi et capillum adurerent.

Idemque cum in communibus suggestis consistere non auderet, contionari ex turri alta solebat. Atque is cum pila ludere vellet—studiose enim id factitabat—tunicam- que poneret, adulescentulo, quem amabat, tradidisse gla-dium dicitur. Hic cum quidam familiaris iocans dixisset:

Huic quidem certe vitam tuam committis, arrisissetque adulescens, utrumque iussit interfici, alterum, quia viam 35 demonstravisset interimendi sui, alterum, quia dictum id risu approbavisset. Atque eo facto sic doluit, nihil ut tulerit gravius in vita: quem enim vehementer amarat occiderat. Sic distrahuntur in contrarias partes impotentium cupiditates. Cum huic obsecutus sis, illi est 40 repugnandum.

Quamquam hic quidem tyrannus ipse iudicavit quam esset beatus. Nam cum quidam ex eius assentatoribus, Damocles, commemoraret in sermone copias eius, opes, maiestatem dominatus, rerum abundantiam, magnificentiam 45 aedium regiarum, negaretque umquam beatiorem quemquam fuisse: Visne igitur, inquit, o Damocle, quoniam te haec vita delectat, ipse eandem degustare et fortunam experiri meam? Cum se ille cupere dixisset, collocari iussit hominem in aureo lecto strato pulcherrimo textili 50 stragulo, magnificis operibus picto, abacosque complures ornavit argento auroque caelato. Tum ad mensam eximia forma pueros delectos iussit consistere eosque nutum illius intuentes diligenter ministrare.

Aderant unguenta, coronae: incendebantur odores:
 55 mensae conquisitissimis epulis exstrebantur. Fortunatus sibi Damocles videbatur. In hoc medio apparatu fulgentem gladium e lacunari saeta equina aptum demitti iussit, ut impenderet illius beati cervicibus. Itaque nec pulchros illos ministratores aspiciebat nec plenum artis argentum 60 nec manum porrigebat in mensam, iam ipsae defluebant coronae: denique exoravit tyrannum, ut abire liceret, quod iam beatus nollet esse. Satisne videtur declarasse Dionysius nihil esse ei beatum, cui semper aliqui terror impendeat? Atque ei ne integrum quidem erat, ut ad 65 iustitiam remigraret, civibus libertatem et iura redderet:
 iis enim se adulescens improvida aetate irretierat erratis eaque commiserat, ut salvus esse non posset, si sanus esse coepisset.

THE MORALS OF SELLING.

C. Canius, eques Romanus, nec infacetus et satis litteratus, cum se Syracusas otiandi, ut ipse dicere solebat, non negotiandi causa contulisset, dictitabat se hortulos aliquos emere velle, quo invitare amicos et ubi se oblectare sine interpellatoribus posset. Quod cum percrebruisset, 5 Pythius ei quidam, qui argentariam faceret Syracusis, venales quidem se hortos non habere, sed licere uti Canio, si vellet, ut suis, et simul ad cenam hominem in hortos invitavit in posterum diem. Cum ille promisisset, tum Pythius, qui esset ut argentarius apud omnes ordines 10 gratiosus, piscatores ad se convocavit et ab iis petivit, ut ante suos hortulos postridie piscentur, dixitque quid eos facere vellet. Ad cenam tempore venit Canius: opipare a Pythio apparatum convivium, cymbarum ante oculos multitudo, pro se quisque quod ceperat afferebat, ante 15 pedes Pythii pisces abiciebantur.

Tum Canius: "Quaeso," inquit, "quid est hoc, Pythi? tantumne piscium? tantumne cymbarum?" Et ille:
 "Quid mirum?" inquit, "hoc loco est Syracusis quidquid 20 est piscium, hic aquatio, hac villa isti carere non possunt." Incensus Canius cupiditate contendit a Pythio ut venderet.
 Gravate ille primo. Quid multa? impetrat. Emit homo cupidus et locuples tanti quanti Pythius voluit et emit instructos. Nomina facit, negotium conficit. Invitat 25 Canius postridie familiares suos, venit ipse mature, scalmum nullum videt. Quaerit ex proximo vicino num feriae quaedam piscatorum essent, quod eos nulos videret.
 "Nullae quod sciām," inquit, "sed hic piscari nulli solent.
 Itaque heri mirabar quid accidisset."
 30 Stomachari Canius: sed quid faceret? Nondum enim Aquilius collega et familiaris meus protulerat de dolo malo formulas: in quibus ipsis cum ex eo quaereretur quid esset dolus malus, respondebat, cum esset aliud simulatum, aliud actum. Hoc quidem sane luculente, ut 35 ab homine perito definiendi. Ergo et Pythius et omnes aliud agentes, aliud simulantes perfidi, improbi, malitiosi.
 Nullum igitur eorum factum potest utile esse, cum sit tot vitiis inquinatum.

PLINY'S ADVENTURES DURING THE ERUPTION OF VESUVIUS.

C. Plinius Tacito suo S.

Ais te adductum litteris, quas exigenti tibi de morte avunculi mei scripsi, cupere cognoscere, quos ego Miseni relictus (il enim ingressus abruperam) non solum metus, verum etiam casus pertulerim: "quamquam animus meminisse horret, incipiam."

Profecto avunculo ipse reliquum tempus studiis (ideo enim remanseram) impendi; mox balineum, cena, somnus inquietus et brevis. Praecesserat per multos dies tremor terrae minus formidolosus, quia Campaniae solitus; illa vero nocte ita invaluit, ut non moveri omnia, sed verti 10 crederentur. Irrumpit cubiculum meum mater: surgebam invicem, si quiesceret, excitaturus. Resedimus in area domus, quae mare a tectis modico spatio dividebat. Dubito, constantiam vocare an imprudentiam debeam (agebam enim duodevicensimum annum): posco librum 15 Titi Livi et quasi per otium lego atque etiam, ut cooperam, excerpto. Ecce amicus avunculi, qui nuper ad eum ex Hispania venerat, ut me et matrem sedentes, me vero etiam legeuentem vident, illius patientiam, securitatem meam corripit. Nihilo segnus ego intentus in librum. Iam 20 hora diei prima, et adhuc dubius et quasi languidus dies. Iam quassatis circumiacentibus tectis, quamquam in aperto loco, angusto tamen, magnus et certus ruinae metus.

Tum demum exceedere oppido visum: sequitur vulgus 25 attonitum, quodque in pavore simile prudentiae, alienum consilium suo praefert ingentique agmine abeuntes premit et impellit. Egressi tecta consistimus. Multa ibi miranda, multas formidines patimur. Nam vehicula, quae produci iusseramus, quamquam in planissimo campo, 30 in contrarias partes agebantur ac ne lapidibus quidem fulta in eodem vestigio quiescebant. Praeterea mare in se resorberi et tremore terrae quasi repelli videbamus. Certe processerat litus multaque animalia maris siccis arenis detinebat. Ab altero latere nubes atra et horrenda ignei spiritus tortis vibratisque discursibus rupta in longas flamarum figurās dehiscebat: fulguribus illae et similes et maiores erant. Tum vero idem ille ex Hispania amicus aerius et instantius, "Si frater," inquit, "tuus, tuus 40 avunculus vivit, vult esse vos salvos; si perit, superstites voluit: proinde quid cessatis evadere?" Respondimus non commissuros nos, ut de salute illius incerti nostrae consuleremus. Non moratus ultra proripit se effusoque cursu periculo aufertur. Nec multo post illa 45 nubes descendere in terras, operire maria, cinxerat Capreas et absconderat, Miseni quod procurrit, abstulerat. Tum mater orare, hortari, iubere, quoquo modo fugerem; posse enim iuvenem, se et annis et corpore gravem bene moritoram, si nihi causa mortis non fuisset. Ego contra salvum 50 me nisi una non futurum; deinde manum eius amplexus addere gradum cogo. Paret aegre incusatque se, quod me moretur. Iam cinis, adhuc tamen rarus. Respicio: densa caligo tergis imminebat, quae nos torrentis modo infusa terrae sequebatur. "Deflectamus," inquam, "dum 55 videmus, ne in via strati comitantium turba in tenebris obteramur." Vix consideramus, et nox, non qualis illunis aut nubila, sed qualis in locis clausis lumine extincto.

Audires ululatus feminarum, infantium quiritatus, clamores virorum; alii parentes, alii liberos, alii coniuges 60 vocibus requirebant, vocibus noscibant; hi suum casum, illi suorum miserabantur; erant, qui metu mortis mortem precarentur; multi ad deos manus tollere, plures nusquam iam deos ullos aeternamque illam et novissimam noctem mundo interpretabantur. Nec defuerunt, qui factis men- 65 titisque terroribus vera pericula augerent. Aderant, qui Miseni illud ruisse, illud ardere falso, sed credentibus nuntiabant. Paulum reluxit; quod non dies nobis, sed adventantis ignis indicium videbatur. Et ignis quidem longius substitit, tenebrae rursus, cinis rursus multus et gravis. Hunc identidem assurgentes excutiebamus; 70 operti alioqui atque etiam oblixi pondere essemus. Possem gloriari non gemitum mihi, non vocem parum fortem in tantis periculis excidisse, nisi me cum omnibus, omnia mecum perire misero, magno tamen mortalitatis solatio credidisse. Tandem illa caligo tenuata quasi in 75 fumum nebulamve discessit; mox dies verus, sol etiam effulsit, luridus tamen, qualis esse, cum deficit, solet. Occursabant trepidantibus adhuc oculis mutata omnia altoque cinere tamquam nive obducta. Regressi Misenum curatis utecumque corporibus suspensam dubiamque noctem 80 spe ac metu exegimus. Metus praevalebat; nam et tremor terrae perseverabat, et plerique lymphati terrificis vaticinationibus et sua et aliena mala ludificabantur. Nobis tamen ne tunc quidem, quamquam et expertis periculum et exspectantibus, abeundi consilium, donec de 85 avunculo nuntius.

Haec nequaquam historia digna non scripturus leges et tibi, scilicet qui requisisti, imputabis, si digna ne epistula quidem videbantur. Vale.

ORAL EXERCISE.

Ubi manebat hoc tempore Plinius?
 Profecto avunculo quomodo tempus impendebat?
 Cur tremor terrae non fuit formidolosus?
 Quot annos natus erat hoc tempore Plinius?
 Quid accidit vehiculis, quae produci iusserant?
 Quid respondit Plinius matri quae eum orabat ut quoquo modo fugeret?
 Qualis erat illa nox?
 Qualis videbatur sol illo die?

THE STORY OF A DOLPHIN.

C. Plinius Caninio suo S.

Incidi in materiam veram, sed simillimam fictae dignamque isto laetissimo, altissimo planeque poëtico ingenio, incidi autem, dum super cenam varia miracula hinc inde referuntur. Magna auctori fides: tametsi 5 quid poëtae cum fide? Is tamen auctor, cui bene vel historiam scripturus credidisses. Est in Africa Hippo-nensis colonia mari proxima. Adiacet navigabile stagnum: ex hoc in modum fluminis aestuarium emergit, quod vice alterna, prout aestus aut repressit aut impulit, 10 nunc infertur mari, nunc redditur stagno. Omnis hic aetas piscandi, navigandi atque etiam natandi studio tenetur, maxime pueri, quos otium lususque sollicitat. His gloria et virtus altissime provehi: victor ille, qui longissime ut litus ita simul natantes reliquit. Hoc 15 certamine puer quidam audentior ceteris in ulteriora tendebat.

Delphinus occurrit et nunc praecedere puerum, nunc sequi, nunc circumire, postremo subire, deponere, iterum subire trepidantemque praeferre primum in altum, mox 20 flectit ad litus redditque terrae et aequalibus. Serpit per coloniam fama: concurrere omnes, ipsum puerum tamquam miraculum aspicere, interrogare, audire, narrare. Postero die obsident litus, prospectant mare et si quid est mari simile. Natant pueri, inter hos ille, sed cautius. 25 Delphinus rursus ad tempus, rursus ad puerum. Fugit ille cum ceteris. Delphinus, quasi invitet, revocet, exsilit, mergitur variosque orbes implicat expeditque. Hoc altero die, hoc tertio, hoc pluribus, donec homines innutritos mari subiret timendi pudor. Accedunt et alludunt et 30 appellant, tangunt etiam pertractantque praebentem.

Crescit audacia experimento. Maxime puer, qui primus expertus est, annat at nanti, insilit tergo, fertur referturque, agnoscit se, amari putat, amat ipse; neuter timet, neuter timetur; huius fiducia, mansuetudo illius augetur.

Nec non alii pueri dextra laevaque simul eunt hortantes 35 monentesque. Ibat una (id quoque mirum) delphinus aliis, tantum spectator et comes. Nihil enim simile aut faciebat aut patiebatur, sed alterum illum ducebat, reducebat ut puerum ceteri pueri. Incredibile, tam verum tamen quam priora, delphinum gestatorem collusoremque 40 puerorum in terram quoque extrahi solitum arenisque siccatum, ubi incaluisset, in mare revolvi. Constat Octavium Avitum, legatum proconsulis, in litus educto religione prava superfudisse unguentum, cuius illum novitatem odoremque in altum refugisse nec nisi post 45 multos dies visum languidum et maestum, mox redditis viribus priorem lasciviam et solita ministeria repetisse.

Confluebant omnes ad spectaculum magistratus, quorum adventu et mora modica res publica novis sumptibus atterebat. Postremo locus ipse quietem suam secreta 50 tumque perdebat: placuit occulte interfici, ad quod coibatur. Haec tu qua miseratione, qua copia deflebis, ornabis, attolles! Quamquam non est opus affingas aliquid aut astruas; sufficit, ne ea, quae sunt vera, minuantur. Vale.

ALEXANDER AND HIS TROOPS.

“Quamdiu vobiscum in acie stabo, nec mei nec hostium exercitus numero. Vos modo animos mihi plenos alacritatis ac fiduciae adhibete. Non in limine operum laborumque nostrorum, sed in exitu stamus. Pervenimus ad 5 solis ortum et Oceanum: nisi obstat ignavia, inde victores perdomito fine terrarum revertemur in patriam. Nolite, quod pigri agricultae faciunt, maturos fructus per inertiam amittere e manibus. Maiora sunt periculis praemia: dives eadem et imbellis est regio. Itaque non tam ad gloriam 10 vos duco, quam ad praedam. Digni estis, qui opes, quas illud mare litoribus invehit, referatis in patriam, digni, qui nihil inexpertum, nihil metu omissum relinquatis.

Per vos gloriamque vestram, qua humanum fastigium exceditis, perque et mea in vos et in me vestra merita, 15 quibus invicti contendimus, oro quaequoque, ne humanarum rerum terminos adeuntem alumnnum commilitonemque vestrum, ne dicam regem, deseratis. Cetera vobis imperavi, hoc unum debiturus sum. Et is vos rogo, qui nihil umquam vobis praecepi, quin primus me periculis 20 obtulerim, qui saepe aciem clipeo meo taxi. Ne infregeritis in manibus meis palmam, qua Herculem Liberumque Patrem, si invidia afuerit, aequabo. Date hoc precibus meis et tandem obstinatum silentium rumpite. Ubi est ille clamor, alacritatis vestrae index? ubi ille meorum 25 Macedonum vultus? Non agnosco vos, milites, nec agnoscvi video a vobis. Surdas iamdudum aures pulso, aversos animos et infractos excitare conor.”

Cumque illi in terram demisis capitibus tacere perseverarent, “Nescio quid,” inquit, “in vos imprudens 30 deliqui, quod me ne intueri quidem vultis. In solitudine mihi videor esse. Nemo respondet, nemo saltem negat. Quos alloquor? quid autem postulo? Vestram gloriam et magnitudinem vindicamus. Ubi sunt illi, quorum certamen paulo ante vidi contendentium, qui potissimum vulnerati regis corpus exciperent? desertus, destitutus sum, 35 hostibus deditus. Sed solus quoque ire perseverabo. Obcite me fluminibus et beluis et illis gentibus, quarum nomina horretis. Inveniam, qui desertum a vobis sequantur: Scythaes Bactrianique erunt mecum, hostes paulo ante, nunc milites nostri. Mori praestat, quam precario 40 imperatorem esse. Ite reduces domos! ite deserto rege ovantes! Ego hic a vobis desperatae victoriae aut honestae morti locum inveniam."

Ne sic quidem ulli militum vox exprimi potuit. Expectabant, ut duces principesque ad regem perferrent, 45 vulneribus et continuo labore militiae fatigatos non detrectare munia, sed sustinere non posse. Ceterum illi metu attoniti in terram ora defixerant. Igitur primo fremitus sua sponte, deinde gemitus quoque oritur paulatimque liberius dolor erigi coepit manantibus lacrimis, adeo ut 50 rex ira in misericordiam versa ne ipse quidem, quamquam cuperet, temperare oculis potuerit.

Tandem universa contione effusius flente Coenus ausus est cunctantibus ceteris proprius tribunal accedere, significans se loqui velle. Quem ut videre milites detrahentem 55 galeam capiti—ita enim regem alloqui mos est—hortari coeperunt, ut causam exercitus ageret. Tum Coenus, “Di prohibeant,” inquit, “a nobis impias mentes: et profecto prohibent. Idem animus est tuis, qui fuit semper, ire quo iusseris, pugnare, periclitari, sanguine nostro com- 60 mendare posteritati tuum nomen. Proinde si perseveras, inermes quoque et nudi et exsangues, utcumque tibi cordi est, sequimur vel antecedimus. Sed si audire vis non fictas tuorum militum voces, verum necessitate ultima expressas, praebe, quaeso, propitias aures imperium atque 65

auspiciū tuū constantissime secutis et, quocumque pergis, secuturis.

"Vicisti, rex, magnitudine rerum non hostes modo, sed etiam milites. Quidquid mortalitas capere poterat, im-70 plevimus. Emensis maria terrasque melius nobis quam incolis omnia nota sunt. Paene in ultimo mundi fine consistimus. In alium orbem paras ire et Indianam quaeris Indis quoque ignotam: inter feras serpentesque degentes eruere ex latebris ex cubilibus suis expetis, ut plura, quam 75 sol videt, victoria lustres. Digna prorsus cogitatio animo tuo, sed altior nostro. Virtus enim tua semper in incre-mento erit, nostra vis iam in fine est. Intuere corpora exsanguia, tot perfossa vulneribus, tot cicatricibus putria.
Iam tela hebetia sunt, iam arma deficiunt. Vestem Per-80 sicā induimus, quia domestica subvehi non potest. In externum degeneravimus cultum. Quoto cuique lorica est? quis equum habet? Iube quaeri, quam multos servi ipsorum persecuti sint, quid cuique supersit ex praeda.
Omnium victores, omnium inopes sumus. Nec luxuria
85 laboramus, sed bello instrumenta belli consumpsimus.
Hunc tu pulcherrimum exercitum nudum obicies beluis?
Quarum ut multitudinem augeant de industria barbari, magnum tamen esse numerum etiam ex mendacio in-tellego.

90 "Quodsi adhuc penetrare in Indianam certum est, regio a meridie minus vasta est, qua subacta licebit decurrere in illud mare, quod rebus humanis terminum voluit esse natura. Cur circuitu petis gloriam, quae ad manum posita est? sic quoque occurrit Oceanus. Nisi mavis 95 errare, pervenimus, quo tua fortuna dicit. Haec tecum quam sine te cum his loqui malui, non uti inirem circumstantis exercitus gratiam, sed ut vocem loquentium potius quam gemitum murmurantium audires."

Ut finem orationi Coenus imposuit, clamor undique cum 100 ploratu oritur, regem, patrem, dominum confusis appelllantium vocibus. Iamque et alii duces praecipueque seniores, quibus ob aetatem et excusatio honestior erat et auctoritas maior, eadem precabantur. Ille nec castigare obstinatos nec mitigare poterat iratos. Itaque inops consilii desiluit e tribunali claudique regiam iussit omnibus praeter assuetos adire prohibitis. Biduum irae datum est. Tertio die processit erigique duodecim aras ex quadrato saxo, monumentum expeditionis suae, munimenta quoque castrorum iussit extendi cubiliaque amplioris formae quam pro corporum habitu relinqu, ut speciem omnium augeret, posteritati fallax miraculum praeparans.

ALEXANDER WOUNDED BY AN INDIAN.

Indus duorum cubitorum sagittam—namque Indis, ut antea diximus, huius magnitudinis sagittae erant—ita excussit, ut per thoracem paulum super latus dextrum infigeret. Quo vulnere afflictus magna vi sanguinis emicante remisit arma moribundo similis adeoque resolutus, ut ne ad vellendum quidem telum sufficeret dextera. Itaque ad spoliandum corpus, qui vulneraverat, alacer gaudio accurrit. Quem ut inicere corpori suo manus sensit, credo, ultimi dedecoris indignitate commotus 10 linquentem revocavit animum et nudum hostis latus subiecto mucrone hausit.

Iacebant circa regem tria corpora procul stupentibus ceteris. Ille ut, antequam ultimus spiritus deficeret, dimicans tamen extingueretur, clipeo se allevare conatus 15 est: et postquam ad conitendum nihil supererat virium, dextera impendentes ramos complexus tentabat assurgere. Sed ne sic quidem potens corporis rursus in genua procumbit manu provocans hostes, si quis congredi auderet.

Tandem Peucestes per aliam oppidi partem perturbatis 20 propugnatoribus muri vestigia persequens regi supervenit. Quo conspecto Alexander, iam non vitae suae, sed mortis solatum supervenisse ratus, clipeo fatigatum corpus excepit. Subit inde Timaeus et paulo post Leonnatus; huic Aristonius supervenit. Indi quoque, cum intra 25 moenia regem esse comperissent, omissis ceteris illuc concurrerunt urgebantque protegentes. Ex quibus Timaeus multis adverso corpore vulneribus acceptis egregiaque edita pugna cecidit: Peucestes quoque tribus iaculis confossus non se tamen scuto, sed regem tuebatur: Leon- 30 natus, dum avide ruentes barbaros summovet, cervice graviter icta semianimis procubuit ante regis pedes. Iam et Peucestes vulneribus fatigatus submiserat clipeum, in Aristono spes ultima haerebat.

Hic quoque graviter sauciis tantam vim hostium ultra 35 sustinere non poterat. Inter haec ad Macedonas regem cecidisse fama perlata est. Terruisset alios, quid illos incitavit. Namque periculi omnis immemores dolabris perfregere murum et, qua moliti erant aditum, irrupere in urbem Indosque plures fugientes quam congredi ausos 40 ceciderunt. Non senibus, non feminis, non infantibus parcitur: quisquis occurrerat, ab illo vulneratum regem esse credebant. Tandemque internecione hostium iustae irae parentatum est. Ptolemaeum, qui postea regnavit, huic pugnae affuisse auctor est Clitarchus et Timagenes. Sed ipse, scilicet, gloriae suae non refragatus, afuisse se 45 missum in expeditionem memoriae tradidit. Tanta componentium vetusta rerum monumenta vel securitas vel, par huic vitium, credulitas fuit.

Rege in tabernaculum relato medici lignum sagittae corpori infixae ita, ne spiculum moveretur, abscidunt. 50 Corpore deinde nudato animadvertisunt hamos inesse telo nec aliter id sine pernicie corporis extrahi posse, quam ut secando vulnus augerent. Ceterum, ne secantes profluvium sanguinis occuparent, verebantur: quippe ingens telum adactum erat et penetrasse in viscera videbatur. 55 Critobulus, inter medicos artis eximiae, sed in tanto periculo territus, manus admovere metuebat, ne in ipsius caput parum prosperae curationis recideret eventus. Lacrimantem eum ac metuentem et sollicitudine prope modum exsanguem rex conspexerat. "Quid," inquit, 60 "quodve tempus exspectas et non quam primum hoc dolore me saltem moriturum liberas? An times, ne reus sis, cum insanabile vulnus acceperim?" At Critobulus tandem vel finito vel dissimulato metu hortari eum coepit, ut se continentum praeberet, dum spiculum evelleret: etiam levem 65 corporis motum noxiun fore. Rex cum affirmasset nihil opus esse iis, qui semet continerent, sicut praeceptum erat, sine motu praebuit corpus. Igitur patefacto latius vulnera et spicula evulso ingens vis sanguinis manare coepit linquique animo rex et caligine oculis offusa velut 70 moribundus extendi. Cumque profluvium medicamentis frustra inhiberent, clamor simul atque ploratus amicorum oritur regem exspirasse credentium. Tandem constitit sanguis paulatimque animum recepit et circumstantes coepit agnoscere. Toto eo die ac nocte, quae secuta est, 75 armatus exercitus regiam obsedit, confessus omnes unius spiritu vivere. Nec prius recesserunt, quam compertum est somno paulisper acquiescere. Hinc certiorem spem salutis eius in castra rettulerunt.

FIGHT BETWEEN A MACEDONIAN AND AN ATHENIAN BOXER.

Interim regem duarum gentium, de quibus ante dictum est, centum legati adeunt. Omnes curru vehebantur, eximia magnitudine corporum, decoro habitu: lineae vestes intextae auro purpuraque distinctae. Ei se dedere 5 ipsos, urbes agrosque referebant, per tot aetates inviolatam libertatem illius primum fidei dicionique permissuros : deos sibi deditiois auctores, non metum: quippe intactis viribus iugum excipere. Rex consilio habito deditos in fidem accepit, stipendio, quod Arachosiis utraque natio pensitabat, imposito. Praeterea duo milia et quingentos ¹⁰ equites imperat et omnia oboedienter a barbaris facta. Invitatis deinde ad epulas legatis gentium regulisque exornari convivium iussit. Centum aurei lecti modicis intervallis positi erant, lectis circumdederat aulaea purpura auroque fulgentia; quidquid aut apud Persas ¹⁵ vetere luxu aut apud Macedonas nova immutatione corruptum erat, confusis utriusque gentis vitiis in illo convivio ostendens.

Intererat epulis Dioxippus Atheniensis, pugil nobilis et ob eximiam virtutem virium regi pernotus et gratus. ²⁰ Invidi malignique increpabant per seria et ludum saginati corporis sequi inutilem beluam, cum ipsi proelium inirent, oleo madentem praeparare ventrem epulis. Eadem igitur in convivio Horratas Makedo iam temulentus exprobrare ei coepit et postulare, ut, si vir esset, postero die secum ferro ²⁵ decerneret: regem tandem vel de sua temeritate vel de illius ignavia iudicaturum. Et a Dioxippo contemptim militarem eludente ferociam accepta condicio est ac postero die rex, cum etiam acrius certamen exposcerent, quia deterrire non poterat, destinata exsequi passus est. ³⁰

Ingens vis militum, inter quos erant Graeci, Dioxippo studebant. Makedo iusta arma sumpserat, aereum clipeum, hastam laeva tenens, dextera lanceam gladioque cinctus, velut cum pluribus simul dimicaturus. Dioxippus oleo nitens et coronatus laeva puniceum amiculum, dextra ³⁵ validum nodosumque stipitem praeferebat. Ea ipsa res omnium animos exspectatione suspenderat: quippe armato congregdi nudum dementia, non temeritas videbatur. Igitur Makedo, haud dubius eminus interfici posse, lanceam emisit; quam Dioxippus cum exigua corporis declinatione ⁴⁰ vitasset, antequam ille hastam transferret in dextram, assiluit et stipite medium eam fregit Amisso utroque telo Macedo gladium cooperat stringere: quem occupatum complexu pedibus repente subductis Dioxippus arietavit in 45 terram ereptoque gladio pedem super cervicem iacenti imposuit, stipitem intentans elisurusque eo victum, ni prohibitus esset a rege.

Tristis spectaculi eventus non Macedonibus modo, sed etiam Alexandro fuit, maxime quia barbari affuerant: 50 quippe celebratam Macedonum fortitudinem ad ludibrium recidisse verebatur. Hinc ad criminationem invidorum apertae sunt regis aures. Et post paucos dies inter epulas aureum poculum ex composito subducitur ministrique, quasi amisissent quod amoverant, regem adeunt. Coniectum oculorum, quibus ut fur destinabatur, Dioxippus ferre non potuit et, cum excessisset convivio, litteris conscriptis, quae regi redderentur, ferro se interemit.

A ROMAN ARMY ENTRAPPED BY THE SAMNITES.

Ab Saticula profectus Cornelius consul exercitum incaute in saltum cava valle pervium circaque insessum ab hoste induxit, nec prius, quam recipi tuto signa non poterant, imminentem capiti hostem vidit. Dum id morae Samnitibus est, quoad totum in vallem infimam 5 demitteret agmen, Publius Decius, tribunus militum, conspicit unum editum in saltu collem, imminentem hostium castris, aditu arduum impedito agmini, expeditis haud difficilem.

Itaque consuli territo animi, "Videsne tu," inquit, 10 "Aule Cornelii, cacumen illud supra hostem? Arx illa est spei salutisque nostrae, si eam, quoniam caeci reliquere Samnites, impigre capimus. Ne tu mihi plus quam unius legionis principes hastatosque dederis; cum quibus ubi evasero in sumnum, perge hinc omni liber metu, teque et 15 exercitum serva; neque enim moveri hostes sine sua pernicie poterunt. Nos deinde aut fortuna populi Romani aut nostra virtus expediet." Collaudatus ab consule, accepto praesidio, vadit occultus per saltum; nec prius ab hoste est visus, quam loco, quem petebat, appropinquavit. 20

Inde admiratione parentibus cunctis, cum omnium in se vertisset oculos, et spatium consuli dedit ad subducendum agmen in aequiore locum et ipse in summo constituit vertice. Samnites dum huc illuc signa vertunt, utriusque rei amissa occasione, neque insequi consulem nisi per 25 eandem vallem, in qua paulo ante subiectum eum telis suis habuerant, possunt nec erigere agmen in captum super se ab Decio tumulum; sed nunc circumdare undique collem armatis volunt, ut a consule Decium intercludant, nunc viam patefacere, ut degressos in vallem adoriantur. 30 Incertos, quid agerent, nox oppressit. Decium primuni spes tenuit, cum subeuntibus in adversum collem ex superiore loco se pugnaturum; deinde admiratio incessit, quod nec pugnam inirent nec, si ab eo consilio iniquitate loci deterrerentur, opere se valloque circumdarent. 35

Tum centurionibus ad se vocatis: "Quaenam illa inscitia belli ac pigritia est? Aut quo modo isti ex Sidicinis Campanisque victoriam pepererunt? Huc atque

illuc signa moveri ac modo in unum conferri, modo diduci 40 videtis ; opus quidem incipit nemo, cum iam circumdati vallo potuerimus esse. Tum vero nos similes istorum simus, si diutius hic moremur, quam commodum sit.
 Agite dum, ite mecum, ut, dum lucis aliquid superest, quibus locis praesidia ponant, qua pateat hinc exitus, 45 exploremus."

Haec omnia sagulo gregali amictus, centurionibus item hostes notarent, perlustravit.

 Contra quos iam pugnabant Romani ?
 Quae spes Decium tenet ?
 Quos ad se vocavit ?

65.

P. DECIUS SAVES THE ARMY.

Vigiliis deinde dispositis, ceteris omnibus tesseram dari iubet, ubi secundae vigiliae bucina datum signum esset, et armatos cum silentio ad se convenire Quo ubi, sicut edictum erat, taciti convenerunt, " Hoc silentium, milites," 5 inquit, " omisso militari assensu, in me audiendo servandum est. Nunc, quae mente agitem, audite. Virtute cepistis locum, virtute hinc oportet evadere. Veniendo huc exercitum egregium populo Romano servavistis; erumpendo hinc vosmet ipsos servate. Me modo sequi-10 mini, quem secuti estis; ego eandem, quae duxit huc, sequar fortunam. Quibus haec salutaria videntur, agite, in dextram partem pedibus transite." Omnes transierunt, vadentemque per intermissa custodiis loca Decium secuti sunt.

Iam evaserant media castra, cum superscandens vigilum 15 strata somno corpora miles offenso scuto praebuit sonitum; quo excitatus vigil cum proximum movisset, erectique alios concitarent, ignari utrum cives an hostes essent, Decius, clamorem tollere iussis militibus, torpidos somno insuper pavore exanimat, quo praepediti nec arma impigre 20 capere nec obsistere nec insequi poterant.

Inter trepidationem tumultumque Samnitium praesidium Romanum, obviis custodibus caesis, ad castra consulis pervadit. Aliquantum supererat noctis, iamque in tuto videbantur esse, cum Decius, "Macte virtute," 25 inquit, "milites Romani, este. Vestrum iter ac redditum omnia saecula laudibus ferent; sed ad conspiendam tantam virtutem luce ac die opus est, nec vos digni estis, quos cum tanta gloria in castra reduces silentium ac nox tegat. Hic lucem quieti opperiemur." Dictis obtempera- 30 tum; atque ubi primum illuxit, praemissso nuntio ad consulem, castra ingenti gaudio concitantur, et, tessera data, incolumes revertuntur; pro se quisque obviam effusi laudant, gratulantur, singulos universosque servatores suos vocant, dis laudes gratesque agunt, Decium in 35 caelum ferunt.

Ubi ad praetorium ventum est, consul classico ad contionem convocat, orsusque meritas Decii laudes, interfante ipso Decio distulit contionem; qui auctor omnia posthabendi, dum occasio in manibus esset, perpulit 40 consulem, ut hostes et nocturno pavore attonitos et circa collem castellatum dissipatos aggrederetur: credere etiam, aliquos ad se sequendum emissos per saltum vagari. Iussae legiones arma capere, egressaeque castris, cum per exploratores notior iam saltus esset, via patentiore ad 45 hostem ducuntur; quem incautum improviso adortae, cum palati passim Samnitium milites, plerique inermes, nec coire in unum nec arma capere nec recipere intra vallum se possent, paventem primum in castra compellunt, 50 deinde castra ipsa, turbatis stationibus, capiunt. Per-fertur circa collem clamor fugatque ex suis quemque praesidiis.

Ita magna pars absenti hosti cessit; quos intra vallum egerat pavor (fuere autem ad triginta milia) omnes caesi 55 sunt; castra direpta.

ORAL EXERCISE.

Quomodo militibus signum datum est?
 Quid faciendum est iis quibus consilium Decii salutare videbatur?
 Quid vigilem quendam excitavit?
 Quid ut faceret consulem perpulit Decius?
 Quid accidit iis quos intra vallum pavor egerat?
 Quot Samnitium caesi sunt?

THE STORY OF LAOCOON.

Laocoön, ductus Neptuno sorte sacerdos,
 Sollemnes taurum ingentem mactabat ad aras.
 Ecce autem gemini a Tenedo tranquilla per alta—
 Horresco referens—immensis orbibus angues
 Incubunt pelago, pariterque ad litora tendunt;
 Pectora quorum inter fluctus arrecta iubaeque
 Sanguineae superant undas; pars cetera pontum
 Pone legit sinuatque immensa volumine terga;
 Fit sonitus spumante salo. Iamque arva tenebant, Ardentesque oculos suffecti sanguine et igni,

Sibila lambebant linguis vibrantibus ora.
 Diffugimus visu exsangues. Illi agmine certo
 Laocoonta petunt; et primum parva duorum
 Corpora natorum serpens amplexus uterque
 Implicat et miseros morsu depascitur artus; 15
 Post ipsum, auxilio subeuntem ac tela ferentem,
 Corripiunt, spirisque ligant ingentibus; et iam
 Bis medium amplexi, bis collo squamea circum
 Terga dati, superant capite et cervicibus altis.
 Ille simul manibus tendit divellere nodos, 20
 Perfusus sanie vittas atroque veneno,
 Clamores simul horrendos ad sidera tollit.
 Qualis mugitus, fugit cum saucius aram
 Taurus et incertam excussit cervice securim.

At gemini lapsu delubra ad summa dracones 25
 Effugiunt saevaeque petunt Tritonidis arcem,
 Sub pedibusque deae clipeique sub orbe teguntur.
 Tum vero tremefacta novus per pectora cunctis
 Insinuat pavor, et scelus expendisse merentem
 Laocoonta ferunt, sacrum qui cuspidre robur 30
 Laeserit et tergo sceleratam intorserit hastam.
 Ducendum ad sedes simulacrum orandaque divae
 Numina conclamat.

Dividimus muros et moenia pandimus urbis.
 Accingunt omnes operi, pedibusque rotarum 35
 Subiciunt lapsus, et stupaea vincula collo
 Intendunt. Scandit fatalis machina muros,
 Feta armis. Pueri circum innuptaeque puellae
 Sacra canunt, funemque manu contingere gaudent.
 Illa subit, mediaeque minans illabitur urbi. 40
 O patria, o divum domus, Ilium, et incluta bello
 Moenia Dardanidum! quater ipso in limine portae
 Substitit, atque utero sonitum quater arma dedere;
 Instamus tamen immemores caecique furore,
 Et monstrum infelix sacrata sistimus arce. 45

Tunc etiam fatis aperit Cassandra futuris
 Ora, dei iussu non umquam credita Teucris.
 Nos delubra deum miseri, quibus ultimus esset
 Ille dies, festa velamus fronde per urbem.

VERGIL, Aeneid, II. 201-249.

ORAL EXERCISE.

Quae animalia a Tenedo ad litus Troianum tendebant ?
 Quales erant serpentium oculi ?
 Quem petebant serpentes ?
 Quos primum amplexi implicuerunt ?
 Quales clamores tollebat Laocoon ?
 Quo postea effugerunt dracones ?
 Qua de causa scelus expendisse merentem Laocoonta dixerunt Troiani ?

THE BOAT RACE.

Exspectata dies aderat nonamque serena
 Auroram Phaethontis equi iam luce vehebant,
 Famaque finitos et clari nomen Acestae
 Excierat ; laeto complebant litora coetu,
 Visuri Aeneadas, pars et certare parati. 5
 Munera principio ante oculos circoque locantur
 In medio, sacri tripodes viridesque coronae
 Et palmae pretium victoribus, armaque et ostro
 Perfusae vestes, argenti aurique talenta ;
 Et tuba commissos medio canit aggere ludos. 10
 Prima pares ineunt gravibus certamina remis
 Quattuor ex omni delectae classe carinae.
 Velocem Mnestheus agit acri remige Pristim,
 Mox Italus Mnestheus, genus a quo nomine Memmi, Ingentemque Gyas ingenti mole Chimaeraim, 15
 Urbis opus, triplici pubes quam Dardana versu

- Impellunt, terno consurgunt ordine remi;
 Sergestusque, domus tenet a quo Sergio nomen,
 Centauro invehitur magna, Scyllaque Cloanthus
 Caerulea, genus unde tibi, Romane Cluenti. 20
- Est procul in pelago saxum spumantia contra
 Litora, quod tumidis submersum tunditur olim
 Fluctibus, hiberni condunt ubi sidera Cori;
 Tranquillo silet, immotaque attollitur unda
 Campus et apricis statio gratissima mergis. 25
- Hic viridem Aeneas frondenti ex ilice meta
 Constituit signum nautis pater, unde reverti
 Scirent et longos ubi circumflectere cursus.
 Tum loca sorte legunt, ipsique in puppibus auro
 Ductores longe effulgent ostroque decori; 30
- Cetera populea velatur fronde iuventus
 Nudatosque humeros oleo perfusa nitescit.
 Considunt transtris, intentaque bracchia remis;
 Intenti exspectant signum, exsultantiaque haurit
 Corda pavor pulsans laudumque arrecta cupido. 35
- Inde, ubi clara dedit sonitum tuba, finibus omnes,
 Haud mora, prosiluere suis; ferit aethera clamor
 Nauticus, adductis spumant freta versa lacertis.
 Infindunt pariter sulcos, totumque dehiscit
 Convulsum remis rostrisque tridentibus aequor. 40
- Non tam praecipites biugo certamine campum
 Corripuere ruuntque effusi carcere currus,
 Nec sic immissis aurigae undantia lora
 Concussere iugis pronique in verbera pendent.
- Tum plausu fremituque virum studiisque faventum
 Consonat omne nemus, vocemque inclusa volant 46
- Litora, pulsati colles clamore resultant.
 Effugit ante alios primisque elabitur undis Turbam inter fremitumque Gyas; quem deinde Cloanthus
- Consequitur, melior remis, sed pondere pinus 50

Tarda tenet. Post hos aequo discriminis Pristis
 Centaurusque locum tendunt superare priorem ;
 Et nunc Pristis habet, nunc victam praeterit ingens
 Centaurus, nunc una ambae iunctisque feruntur
 Frontibus et longa sulcant vada salsa carina. 55
 Iamque propinquabant scopulo metaque tenebant,
 Cum princeps medioque Gyas in gurgite victor
 Rectorem navis compellat voce Menoeten :
 "Quo tantum mihi dexter abis ? huc dirige gressum ;
 Litus ama, et laevas stringat sine palmula cautes ; 60
 Altum alii teneant." Dixit ; sed caeca Menoetes Saxa timens proram pelagi detorquet ad undas.
 "Quo diversus abis ?" iterum, "Pete saxa, Menoete !"
 Cum clamore Gyas revocabat ; et ecce Cloanthum
 Respicit instantem tergo et propiora tenentem. 65
 Ille inter navemque Gyae scopulosque sonantes
 Radit iter laevum interior, subitoque priorem
 Praeterit et metis tenet aequora tuta relicta.

Tum vero exarsit iuveni dolor ossibus ingens,
 Nec lacrimis caruere genae, segnemque Menoeten, 70
 Oblitus decorisque sui sociumque salutis,
 In mare praecipitem puppi deturbat ab alta ;
 Ipse gubernaclo rector subit, ipse magister,
 Hortaturque viros, clavumque ad litora torquet.
 At gravis, ut fundo vix tandem redditus imo est, 75
 Iam senior madidaque fluens in veste Menoetes
 Summa petit scopuli siccaque in rupe resedit.
 Illum et labentem Teucri et risere natantem,
 Et salsos rident revomentem pectore fluctus.
 Hie laeta extremis spes est accensa duabus, 80
 Sergesto Mnestheique, Gyan superare morantem.
 Sergestus capit ante locum scopuloque propinquat,
 Nec tota tamen ille prior praeeunte carina ;
 Parte prior ; partem rostro premit aemula Pristis.
 At media socios incedens nave per ipsos 85

Hortatur Mnestheus : " Nunc, nunc insurgite remis, Hectorei socii, Troiae quos sorte suprema
 Delegi comites ; nunc illas promite vires,
 Nunc animos, quibus in Gaetulis Syrtibus usi
 Ionioque mari Maleaeque sequacibus undis. 90
 Non iam prima peto Mnestheus, neque vincere certo ; Quamquam o !—Sed superent, quibus hoc, Neptune, dedisti ;
 Extremos pudeat rediisse ; hoc vincite, cives,
 Et prohibete nefas." Olli certamine summo
 Procumbunt ; vastis tremit ictibus aerea puppis, 95
 Subtrahiturque solum ; tum creber anhelitus artus
 Aridaque ora quatit ; sudor fluit undique rivis.

VERGIL, Aeneid, V. 104-200.

ORAL EXERCISE.

Quae munera ante oculos virorum locata sunt ?
 Quot carinae inierunt certamen ?
 Quae nomina erant his navibus ?
 Ubi Aeneas metam constituit nautis ?
 Quis primus aequora tuta tenuit, metis relictis ?
 Quid accidit Menoeti ?

THE BOAT RACE (continued).

Attulit ipse viris optatum casus honorem.
 Namque furens animi dum proram ad saxa suburget
 Interior spatioque subit Sergestus iniquo, Infelix saxis in procurentibus haesit.
 Concussae cautes, et acuto in murice remi 5
 Obnixi crepue, illisaque prora pependit.
 Consurgunt nautae et magno clamore morantur,
 Ferratasque trudes et acuta cuspide contos

Expediunt, fractosque legunt in gurgite remos.
 At laetus Mnestheus successuque acrior ipso 10
 Agmine remorum celeri ventisque vocatis
 Prona petit maria et pelago decurrit aperto.
 Qualis spelunca subito commota columba,
 Cui domus et dulces latebroso in pumice nidi,
 Fertur in arva volans, plausumque exterrita pennis 15
 Dat tecto ingentem, mox aere lapsa quieto
 Radit iter liquidum, celeres neque commovet alas.
 Sic Mnestheus, sic ipsa fuga secat ultima Pristis
 Aequora, sic illam fert impetus ipse volantem.

Et primum in scopulo luctantem deserit alto 20
 Sergestum brevibusque vadis frustraque vocantem
 Auxilia et fractis discentem currere remis.
 Inde Gyan ipsumque ingenti mole Chimaeram
 Consequitur; cedit, quoniam spoliata magistro est.
 Solus iamque ipso superest in fine Cloanthus : 25
 Quem petit, et summis annixus viribus urget.
 Tum vero ingeminat clamor, cunctique sequentem
 Instigant studiis, resonatque fragoribus aether.
 Hi proprium decus et partum indignantur honorem
 Ni teneant, vitamque volunt pro laude pacisci ; 30
 Hos successus alit : possunt, quia posse videntur.
 Et fors aequatis cepissent praemia rostris,
 Ni palmas ponto tendens utrasque Cloanthus
 Fudissetque preces, divosque in vota vocasset :
 "Di, quibus imperium est pelagi, quorum aequora curro,
 Vobis laetus ego hoc carentem in litore taurum 36
 Constituam ante aras, voti reus, extaque salsos
 Porricia in fluctus et vina liquentia fundam."

Dixit, eumque imis sub fluctibus audiit omnis
 Nereidum Phorcique chorus Panopeaque virgo, 40
 Et pater ipse manu magna Portunus euntem
 Impulit: illa Noto citius voluerique sagitta
 Ad terram fugit, et portu se condidit alto.

Tum satus Anchisa, cunctis ex more vocatis,
 Victore magna praeconis voce Cloanthum 45
 Declarat, viridique advelat tempora lauro ;
 Muneraque in navis ternos optare iuvencos
 Vinaque et argenti magnum dat ferre talentum.
 Ipsiis praecipuos ductoribus addit honores :
 Victor chlamydem auratam, quam plurima circum 50
 Purpura Maeandro duplice Meliboea cucurrit,
 Intextusque puer frondosa regius Ida
 Veloces iaculo cervos cursuque fatigat,
 Acer, anhelanti similis, quem praepes ab Ida
 Sublimem pedibus rapuit Iovis armiger uncis ; 55
 Longaevi palmas nequiquam ad sidera tendunt
 Custodes, saevitque canum latratus in auras.

At qui deinde locum tenuit virtute secundum,
 Levibus huic hamis consertam auroque trilicem
 Loricam, quam Demoleo detraxerat ipse 60
 Victor apud rapidum Simoenta sub Ilio alto,
 Donat habere viro, decus et tutamen in armis.
 Vix illam famuli Phegeus Sagarisque ferebant
 Multiplicem, conixi humeris ; induitus at olim
 Demoleos cursu palantes Troas agebat. 65
 Tertia dona facit geminos ex aere lebetas,
 Cymbiaque argento perfecta atque aspera signis.

Iamque adeo donati omnes opibusque superbi
 Puniceis ibant evincti tempora taenis,
 Cum saevo e scopulo multa vix arte revulsus, 70
 Amissis remis atque ordine debilis uno,
 Irrisam sine honore ratem Sergestus agebat.
 Qualis saepe viae deprehensu in aggere serpens,
 Aerea quem obliquum rota transiit, aut gravis ictu
 Seminecem liquit saxo lacerumque viator, 75
 Nequiquam longos fugiens dat corpore tortus,
 Parte ferox, ardensque oculis, et sibila colla
 Arduus attollens ; pars vulnere clauda retentat

Nexantem nodis seque in sua membra plicantem.

Tali remigio navis se tarda movebat;

80

Vela facit tamen, et velis subit ostia plenis.

Sergestum Aeneas promisso munere donat,

Servatam ob navem laetus sociosque reductos.

VERGIL, Aeneid, V. 201-283.

ORAL EXERCISE.

Ubi haesit Sergestus infelix?

Cui avi confert Vergilius Pristim?

Quos deos precatus est Cloanthus?

Quem declaravit Aeneas victorem?

Quid victori dedit Aeneas?

Quid secundo?

Quae navis ostia subiit ultima?

69.

CACUS AND HERCULES.

Hic spelunca fuit, vasto summota recessu,
Semihominis Caci facies quam dira tenebat,
Solis inaccessam radiis; semperque recenti
Caede tepebat humus, foribusque affixa superbis

Ora virum tristi pendebant pallida tabo.

Huic monstro Vulcanus erat pater: illius atros

Ore vomens ignes magna se mole ferebat.

Attulit et nobis aliquando optantibus aetas

Auxilium adventumque dei. Nam maximus ultor,

Tergemini nece Geryonae spoliisque superbus,

10

Alcides aderat, taurosque hac victor agebat

Ingentes, vallemque boves amnemque tenebant.

At furis Caci mens effera, ne quid inausum

Aut intractatum scelerisve dolive fuisset,

- Quattuor a stabulis praestanti corpore tauros 15
 Avertit, totidem forma superante iuvencas.
 Atque hos, ne qua forent pedibus vestigia rectis,
 Cauda in speluncam tractos versisque viarum
 Indiciis raptos saxo occultabat opaco.
 Quaerenti nulla ad speluncam signa ferebant. 20
 Interea, cum iam stabulis saturata moveret
 Amphitryoniades armenta abitumque pararet,
 Discessu mugire boves, atque omne querelis
 Impleri nemus, et colles clamore relinqu. 25
 Reddidit una boum vocem vastoque sub antro
 Mugiit et Caci spem custodita fefellit.
 Hic vero Alcidae furiis exarserat atro
 Felle dolor ; rapit arma manu nodisque gravatum
 Robur, et aerii cursu petit ardua montis.
 Tum primum nostri Cacum videre timentem 30
 Turbatumque oculis : fugit illicet ocior Euro
 Speluncamque petit ; pedibus timor addidit alas.
 Ut sese inclusit, ruptisque immane catenis
 Deiecit saxum, ferro quod et arte paterna
 Pendebat, fultosque emuniit obiice postes, 35
 Ecce furens animis aderat Tirynthius, omnemque
 Accessum lustrans hic ora ferebat et illuc, Dentibus infrendens. Ter totum fervidus ira
 Lustrat Aventini montem ; ter saxea tentat
 Limina nequ quam ; ter fessus valle resedit. 40
 Stabat acuta silex, praecisis undique saxis
 Speluncae dorso insurgens, altissima visu,
 Dirarum nidis domus opportuna volucrum.
 Hanc, ut prona iugo laevum incumbebat ad amnem,
 Dexter in adversum nitens concussit, et imis 45
 Avulsam solvit radicibus ; inde repente
 Impulit ; impulsu quo maximus intonat aether,
 Dissultant ripae refluitque exterritus amnis.
 At specus et Caci detecta apparuit ingens

- Regia, et umbrosae penitus patuere cavernae : 50
 Non secus, ac si qua penitus vi terra dehiscens
 Infernas reseret sedes et regna recludat
 Pallida, dis invisa, superque immane barathrum
 Cernatur, trepidantque immisso lumine Manes.
 Ergo insperata deprensum luce repente 55
 Inclusumque cavo saxo atque insueta rudentem
 Desuper Alcides telis premit, omniaque arma
 Advocat, et ramis vastisque molaribus instat.
 Ille autem, neque enim fuga iam super ulla pericli,
 Faucibus ingentem fumum, mirabile dictu, 60
 Evomit involvitque domum caligine caeca,
 Prospectum eripiens oculis, glomeratque sub antro
 Fumiferam noctem commixtis igne tenebris.
 Non tulit Alcides animis, seque ipse per ignem
 Praecipi iecit saltu, qua plurimus undam 65
 Fumus agit nebulaque ingens specus aestuat atra.
 Hic Cacum in tenebris incendia vana vomentem
 Corripit in nodum complexus, et angit inhaerens
 Elisos oculos et siccum sanguine guttur.
 Panditur extemplo foribus domus atra revulsis, 70
 Abtractaeque boves abiurataeque rapinae
 Caelo ostenduntur, pedibusque informe cadaver
 Protrahitur. Nequeunt expleri corda tuendo
 Terribiles oculos, vultum villosaque saetis
 Pectora semiferi atque extinctos faucibus ignes. 75
 Ex illo celebratus honos, laetique minores
 Servavere diem, primusque Potitius auctor
 Et domus Herculei custos Pinaria sacri.
 Hanc aram luco statuit, quae Maxima semper
 Dicetur nobis, et erit quae maxima semper. . . 80
 Quare agite, o iuvenes, tantarum in munere laudum
 Cingite fronde comas et pocula porgite dextris
 Communemque vocate deum et date vina volentes.

ORAL EXERCISE.

Qualis fuit spelunca Caci ?
 Quis fuit pater Caci ?
 Quot boves a stabulis avertit Cacus ?
 Qua de causa nulla signa ad speluncam ferebant ?
 Quid stabat speluncae dorso insurgens ?
 Quid evomuit Cacus ?
 Quae ostenduntur, foribus revulsis ?

70.

AENEAS AT THE STYX.

Hinc via, Tartarei quae fert Acherontis ad undas.
 Tubridus hic caeno vastaque voragine gurges
 Aestuat atque omnem Cocyo eructat arenam.
 Portitor has horrendus aquas et flumina servat
 Terribili squalore Charon, cui plurima mento 5
 Canities inulta iacet, stant lumina flamma,
 Sordidus ex umeris nodo dependet amictus.
 Ipse ratem conto subigit, velisque ministrat,
 Et ferruginea subvectat corpora cymba,
 Iam senior, sed cruda deo viridisque senectus. 10
 Huc omnis turba ad ripas effusa ruebat,
 Matres atque viri, defunctaque corpora vita
 Magnanimum heroum, pueri innuptaeque puellae,
 Impositique rogis iuvenes ante ora parentum :
 Quam multa in silvis autumni frigore primo 15
 Lapsa cadunt folia, aut ad terram gurgite ab alto
 Quam multae glomerantur aves, ubi frigidus annus
 Trans pontum fugat et terris immittit apricis.
 Stabant orantes primi transmittere cursum,
 Tendebantque manus ripae ulterioris amore. 20
 Navita sed tristis nunc hos nunc accipit illos,
 Ast alios longe summotos arcet arena.

Aeneas miratus enim motusque tumultu
 "Dic," ait, "o virgo, quid vult concursus ad amnem ?
 Quidve petunt animae ? vel quo discrimine ripas 25
 Hae linquunt, illae remis vada livida verrunt ?"
 Olli sic breviter fata est longaeva sacerdos :
 "Anchisa generate, deum certissima proles,
 Cocytii stagna alta vides Stygiamque paludem,
 Di cuius iurare timent et fallere numen. 30
 Haec omnis, quam cernis, inops inhumataque turba est ;
 Portitor ille Charon ; hi, quos vehit unda, sepulti.
 Nec ripas datur horrendas et rauca fluenta
 Transportare prius, quam sedibus ossa quierunt.
 Centum errant annos volitantque haec litora circum ; 35
 Tum demum admissi stagna exoptata revisunt."
 Constitit Anchisa satus et vestigia pressit,
 Multa putans, sortemque animi miseratus iniquam.
 Cernit ibi maestos et mortis honore carentes
 Leucaspim et Lyciae ductorem classis Oronten, 40
 Quos simul a Troia ventosa per aequora vectos
 Obruit Auster, aqua involvens navemque virosque.
 Eece gubernator sese Palinurus agebat,
 Qui Libyco nuper cursu, dum sidera servat,
 Exciderat puppi mediis effusus in undis. 45
 Hunc ubi vix multa maestum cognovit in umbra,
 Sic prior alloquitur : "Quis te, Palinure, deorum
 Eripuit nobis, medioque sub aequore mersit ?
 Dic age. Namque mihi, fallax haud ante repertus,
 Hoc uno responso animum delusit Apollo, 50
 Qui fore te ponto incolunem, finesque canebat
 Venturum Ausonios. En haec promissa fides est ?"
 Ille autem : "Neque te Phoebi cortina fefellit,
 Dux Anchisiade, nec me deus aequore mersit.
 Namque gubernaculum multa vi forte revulsum, 55
 Cui datus haerebam custos cursusque regebam,
 Praecipitans traxi mecum. Maria aspera iuro

Non ullum pro me tantum cepisse timorem,
 Quam tua ne, spoliata armis, excussa magistro,
 Deficeret tantis navis surgentibus undis. 60

“ Tres Notus hibernas immensa per aequora noctes
 Vexit me violentus aqua ; vix lumine quarto
 Prospexi Italiam summa sublimis ab unda.
 Paulatim annabam terrae ; iam tuta tenebam,
 Ni gens crudelis madida cum veste gravatum 65
 Prensantemque uncis manibus capita aspera montis
 Ferro invasisset, praedamque ignara putasset.
 Nunc me fluctus habet, versantque in litore venti.
 Quod te per caeli iucundum lumen et auras,
 Per genitorem oro, per spes surgentis Iuli, 70
 Eripe me his, invicte, malis : aut tu mihi terram
 Inice, namque potes, portusque require Velinos ;
 Aut tu, si qua via est, si quam tibi diva creatrix
 Ostendit—neque enim, credo, sine numine divum
 Flumina tanta paras Stygiamque innare paludem— 75
 Da dextram misero, et tecum me tolle per undas, Sedibus ut saltem placidis in morte quiescam.”
 Talia fatus erat, coepit cum talia vates :
 “ Unde haec, o Palinure, tibi tam dira cupido ?
 Tu Stygias inhumatus aquas amnemque severum 80
 Eumenidum aspicies, ripamve iniussus adibis ?
 Desine fata deum flecti sperare precando.
 Sed cape dicta memor, duri solatia casus.
 Nam tua finitimi, longe lateque per urbes
 Prodigii acti caelestibus, ossa piabunt, 85
 Et statuent tumulum, et tumulo sollemnia mittent, Aeternumque locus Palinuri nomen habebit.”

VERGIL, Aeneid, VI. 295-381.

ORAL EXERCISE.

Quis flumina Tartarea servabat ?
 Quomodo vestitus est Charon ?
 Quibus rebus confert Vergilius turbam ad ripas fluminis effusam ?
 Quos arcet a cymba Charon ?
 Quot annos illi circum litora errant ?
 Quomodo gubernator Palinurus perierat ?
 Quot dies Notus Palinurum per aequora vexit ?
 Quod solatium duri casus Palinuro dedit vates ?

NISUS AND EURYALUS.

Silva fuit late dunnis atque ilice nigra
 Horrida, quam densi complerant undique sentes ;
 Rara per occultos lucebat semita calles.
 Euryalum tenebrae ramorum onerosaque praeda
 Impediunt, fallitque timor regione viarum. 5
 Nisus abit ; ianque imprudens evaserat hostes
 Atque locos, qui post Albae de nomine dicti
 Albani, tum rex stabula alta Latinus habebat,
 Ut stetit, et frustra absentem respexit amicum.
 " Euryale infelix, qua te regione reliqui ? 10
 Quave sequar, rursus perplexum iter omne revolvens
 Fallacis silvae ? " Simul et vestigia retro
 Observata legit, dumisque silentibus errat.
 Audit equos, audit strepitus et signa sequentum.
 Nec longum in medio tempus, cum clamor ad aures 15
 Pervenit, ac videt Euryalum ; quem iam manus omnis, Fraude loci et noctis, subito turbante tumultu,
 Oppressum rapit et conantem plurima frustra.
 Quid faciat ? qua vi iuvenem, quibus audeat armis
 Eripere ? an sese medios moriturus in enses 20
 Inferat, et pulchram properet per vulnera mortem ?

Ocius adducto torquens hostile lacerto,
 Suspiciens altam Lunam, et sic voce precatur :
 “ Tu, dea, tu praesens nostro succurre labori,
 Astrorum decus et nemorum Latonia custos : 25
 Si qua tuis umquam pro me pater Hyrtacus aris
 Dona tulit, si qua ipse meis venatibus auxi,
 Suspendive tholo, aut sacra ad fastigia fixi ;
 Hunc sine me turbare globum, et rege tela per auras.”
 Dixerat, et toto conixus corpore ferrum 30
 Conicit. Hasta volans noctis diverberat umbras,
 Et venit aversi in tergum Sulmonis, ibique
 Frangitur, ac fisso transit praecordia ligno.
 Volvitur ille vomens calidum de pectore flumen
 Frigidus, et longis singultibus ilia pulsat. 35
 Diversi circumspiciunt. Hoc acrior idem
 Ecce aliud summa telum librabat ab aure.
 Dum trepidant, iit hasta Tago per tempus utrumque,
 Stridens, trajectoque haesit tepefacta cerebro.
 Saevit atrox Volscens, nec teli conspicit usquam 40
 Auctorem, nec quo se ardens immittere possit.
 “ Tu tamen interea calido mihi sanguine poenas Persolves amborum,” inquit; simul ense recluso
 Ibat in Euryalum. Tum vero exterritus, amens,
 Conclamat Nisus ; nec se celare tenebris 45
 Amplius, aut tantum potuit perferre dolorem :
 “ Me, me, adsum, qui feci, in me convertite ferrum,
 O Rutuli ! mea fraus omnis ; nihil iste nec ausus,
 Nec potuit ; caelum hoc et conscientia sidera testor ;
 Tantum infelicem nimium dilexit amicum.” 50
 Talia dicta dabat ; sed viribus ensis adactus
 Transabiit costas et candida pectora rumpit.
 Volvitur Euryalus leto, pulchrosque per artus
 It crux, inque umeros cervix collapsa recumbit :
 Purpureus veluti cum flos succisus aratro 55
 Languescit moriens, lassove papavera collo

Demisere caput, pluvia cum forte gravantur.
 At Nisus ruit in medios, solumque per omnes
 Volscentem petit ; in solo Volscente moratur.
 Quem circum glomerati hostes hiuc comminus atque hinc
 Proturbant. Instat non setius, ac rotat ensem 61
 Fulmineum, donec Rutuli clamantis in ore
 Condidit adverso, et moriens animam abstulit hosti.
 Tum super exanimum sese proiecit amicum
 Confossus, placidaque ibi demum morte quievit. 65

VERGIL, Aeneid, IX. 381-445.

ORAL EXERCISE.

Qualis erat silva in qua errabat Euryalus ?
 Quam deam precatus est Nisus ut telum suum regeret ?
 Contra quem coniecit hastam Nisus ?
 Quis ense recluso in Euryalum ibat ?
 Post Euryali mortem quem solum petebat Nisus ?
 Ubi Nisus confossus sese proiecit ?

THE FABII.

Haec fuit illa dies, in qua Veientibus armis
 Ter centum Fabii ter cecidere duo.
 Una domus vires et onus suscepérat urbis :
 Sumunt gentiles arma professa manus.
 Egreditur castris miles generosus ab isdem, 5
 E quis dux fieri quilibet aptus erat.
 Carmenitis portae dextro est via proxima Ianus.
 Ire per hanc noli, quisquis es : omen habet.
 Ut celeri passu Cremeram tetigere rapacem
 (Turbidus hibernis ille fluebat aquis), 10
 Castra loco ponunt, destrictis ensibus ipsi
 Tyrrhenum valido Marte per agmen eunt,

Non aliter quam cum Libyca de gente leones
 Invadunt sparsos lata per arva greges.
 Diffugiunt hostes inhonestaque vulnera tergo 15
 Accipiunt: Tusco sanguine terra rubet.
 Sic iterum, sic saepe cadunt. Ubi vincere aperte
 Non datur, insidias armaque tecta parant.
 Campus erat, campi cladebant ultima colles
 Silvaque montanas occulere apta feras. 20
 In medio paucos armentaque rara relinquunt
 Cetera virgultis abdita turba latet.
 Ecce velut torrens undis pluvialibus auctus
 Aut nive, quae zephyro victa tepente fluit,
 Per sata perque vias fertur, nec, ut ante solebat, 25
 Riparum clausas margine finit aquas:
 Sic Fabii vallem latis discursibus implent,
 Quodque vident, sternunt, nec metus alter inest.
 Quo ruitis, generosa domus? male creditis hosti!
 Simplex nobilitas, perfida tela cave! 30
 Fraude perit virtus. In apertos undique campos
 Prosiliunt hostes et latus omne tenent.
 Quid faciant pauci contra tot milia fortis?
 Quidve, quod in misero tempore restet, adest?
 Sicut aper longe silvis Laurentibus actus 35
 Fulmineo celeres dissipat ore canes,
 Mox tamen ipse perit: sic non moriuntur inulti
 Vulneraque alterna dantque feruntque manu.
 Una dies Fabios ad bellum miserat omnes:
 Ad bellum missos perdidit una dies. 40
 Ut tamen Herculeae superessent semina gentis, Credibile est ipsos consuluisse deos.
 Nam puer impubes et adhuc non utilis armis
 Unus de Fabia gente relictus erat:
 Scilicet ut posses olim tu, Maxime, nasci, 45
 Cui res cunctando restituenda foret.

ORAL EXERCISE.

Quot Fabii in Veientibus arvis uno die ceciderunt ?
 Per quam portam fama refert Fabios exiisse ?
 Quibus cum animalibus conferuntur Fabii ?
 Qualia vulnera acceperunt hostes ?
 Quomodo clausus est campus ?
 Omnesne Fabii interfecti sunt ?
 Quis domi relictus erat ?
 Quare relictus erat ille ?

73.

NARCISSUS.

Fons erat illimis, nitidis argenteus undis,
 Quem neque pastores neque pastae monte capellae
 Contigerant aliudve pecus, quem nulla volucris
 Nec fera turbarat nec lapsus ab arbore ramus ;
 Gramen erat circa, quod proximus umor alebat, 5
 Silvaque sole locum passura tepescere nullo.
 Hic puer et studio venandi lassus et aestu
 Procubuit faciemque loci fontemque secutus,
 Dumque sitim sedare cupit, sitis altera crevit,
 Dumque bibit, visae correptus imagine formae 10
 Spem sine corpore amat, corpus putat esse, quod unda est.

Astupet ipse sibi vultuque immotus eodem
 Haeret, ut e Paro formatum marmore signum ;
 Spectat humi positus geminum sua lumina sidus,
 Et dignos Baccho, dignos et Apolline crines 15
 Impubesque genas et eburnea colla decusque
 Oris et in niveo mixtum candore ruborem,
 Cunctaque miratur, quibus est mirabilis ipse :
 Se cupid imprudens et, qui probat, ipse probatur,
 Dumque petit, petitur, pariterque accendit et ardet, 20
 Irrita fallaci quotiens dedit oscula fonti,

In medias quotiens visum captantia collum
 Bracchia mersit aquas nec se deprendit in illis !
 Quid videat, nescit ; sed quod videt, uritur illo,
 Atque oculos idem, qui decipit, incitat error. 25
 Credule, quid frusta simulacula fugacia captas ?
 Quod petis, est nusquam , quod amas, avertere, perdes !
 Ista reperecussae, quam cernis, imaginis umbra est .
 Nil habet ista sui tecum, venitque manetque ;
 Tecum discedit, si tu discedere possis ! 30

Non illum Cereris, non illum cura quietis
 Abstrahere inde potest, sed opaca fusus in herba
 Spectat inexpleto mendacem lumine formam
 Perque oculos perit ipse suos ; paullumque levatus
 Ad circumstantes tendens sua bracchia silvas, 35
 “ Ecquis, io silvae, crudelius,” inquit, “ amavit ?
 Scitis enim et multis latebra opportuna fuitis.
 Ecquem, cum vestrae tot agantur saecula vitae,
 Qui sic tabuerit, longo meministis in aevo ?
 Et placet et video ; sed quod videoque placetque, 40
 Non tamen invenio : tantus tenet error amantem.
 Quoque magis doleam, nec nos mare separat ingens
 Nec via nec montes nec clausis moenia portis ;
 Exigua prohibemur aqua ! Cupit ipse teneri :
 Nam quotiens liquidis porrexiimus oscula lymphis, 45
 Hic totiens ad me resupino nititur ore.

Posse putas tangi : minimum est, quod amantibus obstat.

“ Quisquis es, huc exi ! quid me, puer unice, fallis
 Quove petitus abis ? Certe nec forma nec aetas
 Est mea, quam fugias, et amarunt me quoque nymphae !
 Spem mihi nescio quam vultu promittis amico, 51
 Cumque ego porrexi tibi bracchia, porrigitis ultro ;
 Cum risi, arrides ; lacrimas quoque saepe notavi
 Me lacrimante tuas ; nutu quoque signa remittis
 Et, quantum motu formosi suspicor oris,
 Verba refers aures non pervenientia nostras ! 55

Iste ego sum : sensi, nec me mea fallit imago ;
Uror amore mei : flaminas moveoque feroque.

“ Quid faciam ? Rogeranne rogem ? Quid deinde rogabo ?
Quod cupio mecum est : inopem me copia fecit. 60
O utinam a nostro secedere corpore possem !
Votum in amante novum, vellem, quod amamus, abesset.
Iamque dolor vires adimit, nec tempora vitae
Longa meae superant, priernoque extinguor in aevo.
Nec mihi mors gravis est posituro morte dolores, 65
Hic, qui diligitur, vellem diurnior esset ;
Nunc duo concordes anima moriemur in una.”

Dixit et ad faciem reliit male sanus eandem
Et lacrimis turbavit aquas, obscuraque moto
Reddita forma lacu est ; quam cum vidisset abire, 70
“ Quo refugis ? remane nec me, crudelis, amantem
Desere ! ” clamavit ; “ liceat, quod tangere non est,
Aspicere et misero praebere alimenta furori ! ”
Dumque dolet, summa vestem deduxit ab ora
Nudaque marmoreis percussit pectora palmis. 75
Pectora traxerunt roseum percussa ruborem,
Non aliter quam poma solent, quae candida parte,
Parte rubent, aut ut variis solet uva racemis
Ducere purpureum nondum matura colorem.
Quae simul aspergit liquefacta rursus in unda, 80
Non tulit ulterius, sed ut intabescere flavae
Igne levi cerae matutinaeque pruinae
Sole tepente solent, sic attenuatus amore
Liquitur et tecto paullatim carpitur igni ;
Et neque iam color est mixto candore rubori, 85
Nec vigor et vires et quae modo visa placebant,
Nec corpus remanet, quondam quod amaverat Echo.

Quae tamen ut vidi quamvis irata memorque
Indoluit, quotiensque puer miserabilis “ eheu ”
Dixerat, haec resonis iterabat vocibus “ eheu ” ; 90
Cumque suos manibus percutserat ille lacertos,

Haec quoque reddebat sonitum plangoris eundem.
 Ultima vox solitam fuit haec spectantis in undam :
 " Heu frustra dilecte puer ! " Totidemque remisit
 Verba locus, dictoque vale " vale " inquit et Echo.

Ille caput viridi fessum summisit in herba.
 Lumina mors clausit domini mirantia formam .
 Tum quoque se, postquam est inferna sede receptus,
 In Stygia spectabat aqua. Planxere sorores
 Naides et sectos fratri posuere capillos, 100
 Planxerunt Dryades ; plangentibus assonat Echo.
 Iamque rogum quassasque faces feretrumque parabant ;
 Nusquam corpus erat ; croceum pro corpore florem
 Inveniunt, foliis medium cingentibus albis.

OVID, Metamorphoses, III. 407-510.

ORAL EXERCISE.

Qualis erat fons Narcissi ?
 Quid vidit Narcissus dum bibit ?
 Quid interrogavit silvas ?
 Quomodo Narcissus turbavit aquam ?
 Quae quondam Narcissum amaverat ?
 Quae erant ultima verba Narcissi ?
 Quae planxerunt mortem Narcissi ?
 Quid pro corpore eius invenerunt ?

ON THE DEATH OF A PARROT.

Psittacus, Eois imitatrix ales ab Indis,
 Occidit : exsequias ite frequenter, aves ;
 Ite, piae volucres, et plangite pectora pinnis
 Et rigido teneras ungue notate genas ;
 Horrida pro maestis lanietur pluma capillis,

Pro longa resonent carmina vestra tuba!
 Quod scelus Ismarii quereris, Philomela, tyranni,
 Expleta est annis ista querela suis;
 Alitis in rarae miserum devertere funus.
 Magna, sed antiqua est causa doloris Itys. 10
 Omnes, quae liquido libratis in aere cursus,
 Tu tamen ante alios, turtur amice, dole!
 Plena fuit vobis omni concordia vita,
 Et stetit ad finem longa tenaxque fides:
 Quod fuit Argolico iuvenis Phoebus Orestae, 15
 Hoc tibi, dum licuit, psittace, turtur erat.
 Quid tamen ista fides, quid rari forma coloris,
 Quid vox mutandis ingeniosa sonis,
 Quid iuvat, ut datus es, nostrae placuisse puellae?
 Infelix, avium gloria, nempe iaces! 20
 Tu poteras fragiles pinnis hebetare smaragdos
 Tineta gerens rubro Punica rostra croco.
 Non fuit in terris vocum simulantior ales:
 Reddebas blaeso tam bene verba sono!
 Raptus es invidia: non tu fera bella movebas; 25
 Garrulus et placidae pacis amator eras.
 Ecce, coturnices inter sua proelia vivunt,
 Forsitan et fiant inde frequenter anus.
 Plenus eras minimo nec prae sermonis amore
 In multos poteras ora vacare cibos;
 Nux erat esca tibi causaeque papavera somni, 30
 Pellebatque sitim simplicis umor aquae.
 Vivit edax vultur ducensque per aera gyros
 Miluus et pluviae graculus auctor aquae;
 Vivit et armiferae cornix invisa Minervae, 35
 Illa quidem saeclis vix moritura novem:
 Occidit illa loquax humanae vocis imago,
 Psittacus, extremo munus ab orbe datum!
 Optima prima fere manibus rapiuntur avaris,
 Implentur numeris deteriora suis: 40

Tristia Phylacidae Thersites funera vidit,
 Iamque cinis vivis fratribus Hector erat.
 Quid referam timidae pro te pia vota puellae,
 Vota procelloso per mare rapta Noto ?
 Septima lux venit non exhibitura sequentem 45
 (Et stabat vacuo iam tibi Parca colo),
 Nec tamen ignavo stupuerunt verba palato :
 Clamavit moriens lingua " Corinna, vale ! "
 Colle sub Elycio nigra nemus ilice frondet,
 Udaque perpetuo gramine terra viret : 50
 Siqua fides dubiis, voluerum locus ille piarum
 Dicitur, obscenae quo prohibentur aves ;
 Illuc innocui late pascuntur olores
 Et vivax phoenix, unica semper avis ;
 Explicat ipsa suas ales Iunonia pinnas, 55
 Oscula dat cupido blanda columba mari.
 Psittacus has inter nemorali sede receptus
 Convertit volueres in sua verba pias.
 Ossa tegit tumulus, tumulus pro corpore magnus,
 Quo lapis exiguus pur sibi carmen habet : 60
 " Colligor ex ipso dominae placuisse sepulcro ; Ora fuere mihi plus ave docta loqui."

OVID, Amores, II. vi.

ORAL EXERCISE.

De qua ave scripta est haec elegia ?
 Quo colore erant pinnae psittaci ?
 Quali sono psittacus reddebat verba ?
 Quae avis erat auctor pluviae aquae ?
 Cui erat cornix invisa ?
 Unde venit psittacus ?
 Quid erat epitaphium psittaci ?

NOTES.

PART I.

1.

1. Numa Pompilius: this king is supposed to have reigned from 714 B.C. to 671 B.C. He taught the Roman people the arts of peace, and was the founder of their religious institutions. It may be mentioned that the names and acts of all the Roman kings are a matter of legend rather than of history.

5. in decem menses: the Roman year originally contained ten months, beginning with March and ending with December, and included only 304 days. Numa is usually supposed to have added January and February at the end of the year, making it one of twelve months, and not ten (as Eutropius says).

7. sacra ac tempia: Numa appointed the Augurs, Flamens (who looked after the sacred fire), and Salii (dancing priests of Mars), and built the temple of Janus, the god of war.

9. Tullus Hostilius: this king reigned from 671 to 639 B.C., and was chiefly noted for the conquest of Alba Longa, the most ancient town in Latium.

1. Ancus Martius: Numa's grandson, and the fourth king, 639 to 615 B.C.

ex flia: "on his mother's side," literally "from his daughter."

2. Aventinum montem: the Aventine was one of the Seven Hills of Rome.

3. Ianiculum: a hill on the western side of the Tiber.

ostium: "mouth." This settlement was called Ostia, from its position at the mouth of the Tiber.

6. Priscus Tarquinius: the fifth king; he reigned from 615 to 577 B.C. He had been guardian to the sons of Ancus Martius, after whose death he was elected to the throne.

7. senatorum: the senatus was a body of "old men" (senes), originally 100 in number, which at the time of the expulsion of the kings in 509 B.C. had been increased to 300. The original senatus was merely an advisory body to the king, but afterwards attained much more authority.

circum: a permanent building called the Circus Maximus, in which chariot races were held. It was oblong in shape, and was surrounded by rows of seats for spectators.

12. cloacas: the cloaca maxima was the great sewer that drained Rome.

1. Servius Tullius: the sixth king, 577 to 532 B.C.; he was said to have been the son of a slave of noble birth. There was a story that flames were seen to shine round his head one day when he was an infant. This was taken as a sign of future greatness, and he was held in high favour by Tarquinius Priscus, whose daughter he married.

3. montes tres: these three hills lay to the north of Rome, and were included within the walls built round the city by this king.

5. censum: this was a formal reckoning (censeo, "I reckon") or counting of the people, held every five years, first of all by the king, and, in the time of the Republic, by specially appointed officers called censors.

1. dictator: a magistrate appointed only in times of great danger to Rome. He had unlimited power, judicial and military, and there was practically no appeal from his decisions. He held office for not more than six months, but usually resigned on completing the task for which he was appointed.

Gallos: the Gauls had invaded Italy and actually taken Rome in 390 B.C., after defeating the Roman army at the battle of the Allia. They were probably bought off by a sum of money, though one story tells how Camillus, the dictator, pursued them and recovered all they had taken.

3. Anienem fluvium: the Anio, a tributary of the Tiber. Anienis is the adjective from the noun Anio or Anien.

4. iuvenis: the contrast between senatoribus, "the old men," and iuvenis, "young man," is only apparent. The word iuvenis, however, was applied to any man between the ages of twenty and forty, while our word "youth" could certainly not be applied to a man of forty.

7. cognomen: the Roman had three names: (1) praenomen, or "first name," equivalent to our Christian name, (2) nomen, "name of the gens or clan," (3) cognomen, "family name," corresponding to our surname. The cognomina were often personal and like our nicknames, Naso (nasus, "nose"), Flaccus ("flap-eared"), etc. In T. Manlius Torquatus, T. (= Titus) is the praenomen, Manlius the nomen, Torquatus the cognomen.

1. census: see I. 3. 5, n.

3. legiones: the legio was the chief division of the Roman army. Each consul had two legiones; thus the normal strength of the Roman army was four legions, though, of course, under special circumstances this number was greatly exceeded. The original number of infantry in a legion was 3,000, afterwards 4,200, and from the time of Marius (100 B.C.) 6,000. Eutropius is wrong in assigning 6,000 men to a legion at this period.

14. nomen: rather cognomen; see I. 4. 7, n.

1. belli Punicī: i.e. the First Punic War, which broke out in 264 B.C. and lasted till 241. Carthage, a city on the north coast of Africa, a Phoenician (Punicus) colony, was famous for its commerce and wealth. The war actually broke out in Sicily owing to a revolt in Messana, but in any case the two rival powers, Rome and Carthage, were bound to come into conflict sooner or later.

3. rostratis: "beaked"; the rostrum was a ram made of bronze or iron. The rostra of the Carthaginian ships were taken to Rome and made into a monument, the Columna Rostrata. The Romans before the war had only a few triremes, ships with three banks of oars, while the Carthaginians had quinqueremes, "five-banked ships." One of the latter, the story goes, was wrecked and fell into the hands of the Romans, who, using it as a model, in a short time built a fleet of 130 similar vessels.

4. Liburnas: the Liburni were Illyrian pirates, who used beaked vessels called Liburnae (naves).

5. commisso proelio: the battle took place off Mylae on the north coast of Sicily. The victory was due in great measure to the boarding-bridges used by Duilius.

This passage is taken from Caesar's account of Britain. He was of opinion that the south coast of Britain lay parallel to Gaul, and that Land's End faced south in the direction of Spain.

4. inferior (angulus): "the lower corner"; i.e. "the more southerly," Land's End.

meridem: "south"; meridiēs = medius dies, "mid-day." Where is the sun at noon?

8. atque ex Gallia: atque after patri means "as"; cp. simil atque, "as soon as," and idem atque, "the same as."

9. Mona: "the Isle of Man." The name Mona is also applied to the Isle of Anglesey.

12. bruma: "mid-winter"; bruma = brevima (i.e. brevissima, "shortest").

5. vitro: "wood." The ordinary meaning of this word is "glass." The glass of the ancients was probably bluish or greenish in colour; hence the word vitrum was applied to any substance of like colour.

The origin of Druidism is wrapped in obscurity, and but little is known for certain about its nature. It probably had its origin in Britain, and was carried thence to Gaul by missionaries. The Druids taught the doctrine of the immortality of the soul, and they held their sway by the powerful aid of mysterious rites. Human sacrifices were offered, criminals being the usual victims. The oak and mistletoe were sacred, and had much to do with their rites.

3. tantis excitati praemissis: exemption from taxes and other burdens no doubt attracted young men to join the Druids.

5. propinquis: "blood-relations"; affinis = "a relation by marriage."

7. ea: i.e. "the secrets of their worship."

9. Graecis: the people of Massilia (Marseilles), an ancient Greek colony, no doubt introduced their alphabet to the surrounding peoples.

10.

1. Mercurium: Mercury, the Latin god of commerce, was the messenger of the gods, the god of trading, thieves, and roads, and the conductor of the souls of the dead to the Lower World.

5. Apollinem: Apollo, the sun-god, the god of poetry, music, and healing.

Martem: Mars, or Mavors, and Iuppiter were the chief deities of the Romans. Mars was their war-god and the supposed father of Romulus, the founder of Rome.

Iovem: Iuppiter corresponded to the Greek Zeus, the highest god in heaven, the bringer of light. His name, sometimes found in the form Diespiter, means "father of day or light."

Minervam: this goddess was the goddess of wisdom, arts (especially of spinning and weaving), and sciences.

10. ceperint: subjunctive, because the clause is virtual oratio obliqua; with deponent supply some such words as se daturos esse.

1. Cimon: the son of Miltiades, a famous Athenian general; he was himself a famous general, and rendered able assistance in repelling the Persians.

2. satis eloquentiae : "fair eloquence"; for this meaning of satis cp. the French assez.

4. fuerat versatus : "had been engaged"; versari, frequentative form of vertere, "to keep turning," often means little more than esse; cp. the phrase versari in republica, "to be engaged in politics."

7. Strymona: a river in Macedonia, north of Greece. Cimon gained a victory over the Persians here in 476 B.C.

8. Amphipolis: a town in Macedonia on the Strymon. The Strymon flowed almost round the town, whence its name Amphipolis, from two Greek words meaning "round the city."

10. Mycalen : Nepos is inaccurate here, as the battle of Mycale was fought in 479 B.C. The battle at the river Eurymedon in Asia Minor is probably meant. Cimon defeated the Persians at this river in 468.

3. testarum suffragiis : "by the votes of the potsherds." This mode of judgment by the people (ostrakismos in Greek) was practised in various Greek States, especially at Athens. All who possessed the vote assembled in the market-place, and each wrote upon a sherd the name of anyone he thought dangerous to the State. If the name of any single person was found on not less than 6,000 of the sherds, that person was banished for ten years, but did not suffer any loss of property.

5. hospitio : amongst the ancients generally hospitality was a very formal matter. Hospitium was the tie between two guest-friends of different cities, who were bound to show hospitality to one another in their respective States. In certain cases the same tie existed between an individual, as Cimon here, and a city, as Sparta.

This passage and the following one are taken from the Tristia of Ovid, written in exile at Tomi on the shores of the Black Sea. He had offended the Emperor Augustus, and was punished by relegatio, a form of banishment which forbade his return to Rome but did not deprive him of his citizenship.

1. subit : "steals upon me"; sub in composition with a verb sometimes has the idea of "secrecy" or "stealthiness."

5. Caesar : Augustus, the nephew of C. Julius Caesar, and the first Emperor of Rome. He died in 14 A.D., and was succeeded by Tiberius.

6. Ausoniae: Ausonia was a poetical name for Italy. The Ausones were the ancient inhabitants of central and southern Italy.

1. Iovis ignibus: i.e. "lightning." Jupiter, as the god of the sky, was lord also of the thunderbolt.

5. extremum: cognate accusative, which is found after certain intransitive verbs; cp. somniavi somnum, "I dreamt a dream."

6. unus et alter: "one or two."

7. flentem flens: this juxtaposition of similar words was a favourite device of Latin writers to give emphasis.

8. imbre: a very strong word to show the storm of tears shed by Ovid's wife.

indignas: "innocent," literally "unworthy"; they did not deserve such sorrow.

9. nata: Perilla, Ovid's daughter, had accompanied her husband to Africa, where he probably had some official position.

Libycis . . . sub oris: "on Libyan shores"; by Libya is meant a district in northern Africa.

This fable, the moral of which teaches men to bear present ills rather than fly to those they know not of, was one of Aesop's, written to rebuke the Athenians for complaining about the rule of the tyrant Pisistratus (sixth century B.C.).

1. paludibus: local ablative; poetical for in paludibus.

7. diutius: "quite a long time"; the comparative in Latin sometimes denotes that the quality exists in a considerable degree.

10. posito: i.e. deposito, "having been laid aside."

15. illis: in prose we should find ad illos, the accusative of motion after misiit.

16.

3. fauce improba: "ravenous throat." Improbus, literally "not good," has a variety of meanings derived from the context.

6. laniger: literally "wool-bearer"; cp. armiger.

7. qui: "how"; qui is an old form of the ablative singular of quis, the interrogative.

10. male . . . dixisti: "you slandered"; the verb is generally found as one word, maledicere.

12. hercule: "by Hercules," an oath used for emphasis.

This fable points out the danger of forming friendships with people much more powerful than ourselves.

18.

1. Pyrri: Pyrrhus, son of Achilles, was one of the victorious Greeks who had just entered Troy after their ten years' siege.

2. Priami: Priam was the aged king of Troy.

3. atria: poetic plural for singular. The atrium, "hall," was originally the only room in the house; it was afterwards the fore-court or hall.

9. voci iraeque: "angry words," literally "voice and anger." This figure of speech, when two nouns are used to convey a single idea, is called Hendiadys ("one thing through two").

11. pietas: this word denotes "dutiful affection" towards gods, parents, and relations, and had a much wider application than our word "piety."

13. cernere: infinitive of purpose; in prose we should find u cernerem.

14. funere: "dead body," literally "funeral" or "burial."

19.

Tacitus is writing about German tribes in the North living round the Elbe. They worshipped in common this Nerthus or Earth-goddess. The name here has been taken as the female form of the Northern god Niördhr, father of Freyr and Freya (the goddess of fertility).

3. insula: probably Alsen, off the coast of Schleswig.

castum: "holy," in the sense of freedom from human traffic.

5. bubus feminis: found in sacred formulae for vaccis.

13. haurit: probably to ensure that the secrets would not be divulged; it may have been, however, part of the ceremonial.

Hannibal, the great Carthaginian general, gained a victory at Lake Trasimene, in Etruria, over the consul Flaminius, in 217 B.C. Hannibal had crossed the Alps in the face of enormous difficulties and was now in Italy. His way was blocked by Flaminius, but he managed to make him fall into a trap between the lake and the mountains, and inflicted a crushing defeat on the Roman arms.

2. consulem: i.e. Flaminius.

3. robora virorum: "the flower of his army."

6. Insuber eques: the Insubres were a Gallic tribe who had crossed the Alps and settled in Gallia Transpadana, their chief town being Mediolanum (Milan).

Ducario: dative by attraction to cui understood.

10. mānibus: manes ("the good") was the name given by the Romans to the spirits of the dead, who were considered to be immortal.

14. triarii: the third line of the Roman legion, a body of tried veterans; the first two lines were called hastati and principes.

Sparta or Lacedaemon, the chief city of the Peloponnesus (South Greece), was famous in ancient times for the bravery and hardness of its citizens.

3. eam: i.e. mortem.

ephoris: Spartan magistrates, five in number, and elected annually. They had powers of life and death over the citizens generally.

5. Lycurgi: the great Spartan law-giver, probably a legendary figure. He made the people promise not to alter any of his laws before his return; accordingly he left Sparta for ever, and spent the rest of his life in exile.

8. Thermopylis: the "Hot Gates," a pass in Thessaly in Greece, celebrated on account of its defence by Leonidas and 300 Spartans against the great army of Persians under Xerxes, 480 B.C.

8. pipiabat: "peeped," an onomatopoeic word, that is, a word imitating some sound; cp. "buzz," "hiss," etc.

10. unde . . . quemquam: cp. "The undiscovered country, from whose bourn no traveller returns."

12. Orci: the god of the Lower World, otherwise Hades ("Unseen") or Pluto.

23.

5. horrenti capillo: "with bristling hair," ablative of description.

7. vigilabantur: "were passed in watching."

12. proscribebatur: "was advertised for sale or to let." A notice (titulus) was put up on the property, as now, to that effect.

4. ferri vis: Lucretius is very fond of periphrasis; instead of simply naming the substance he prefers to add to it its special property; cp. plumbi potestas (= "lead"), argenti pondus (= "silver").

8. serebant: "sowed," from sēro, -ēre, sēvi, satum, not from sēro, -ēre, sērui, sertum, "plait," "twine."

PART II.

25.

In the year 54 b.c. Caesar landed in Britain for the second time. This year he penetrated further and defeated the Britons in several battles. Cassivellaunus led the native tribes, but was defeated, and the British had to pay tribute to Rome.

7. nostro mari : the Mediterranean.

17. conventibus : Roman citizens in a province were under the jurisdiction of the proconsul, who at certain times held assizes. Judges were chosen from the assembly to try the cases and assess damages.

citeriore Galliam : also called Gallia Cisalpina, i.e. "Gaul on this (the Roman) side of the Alps," opposed to Gallia ulterior or Transalpina.

25. portum Itium : a harbour on the north coast of Gaul, probably Wissant, near Calais.

30. Treverorum : the Treveri were a Belgic tribe whose chief town was Augusta Treverorum, the modern Treves, on the Mosella.

26.

2. sub sinistra : Caesar was carried by the tide up the Channel into the North Sea.

7. gravibus navigiis : the transport vessels as well as the naves longae were manned by soldiers, who, of course, had to do the work of sailors in the passage across.

12. amplius octingentae : amplius does not affect the construction ; "eight hundred (more than)," i.e. more than eight hundred.

18. tertia vigilia : i.e. between 12 o'clock midnight and 3 a.m.

24. essedis : a carriage or war-chariot used by Britons and Gauls. They had wide poles to enable the driver to run along them and retreat at will into the body of the car.

Caesar is forced to stop his expedition into the interior, and returns to repair and refit his vessels, which had been shattered by the storm.

7. iis legionibus : "by means of those legions," ablative of instrument; not "for those legions."

18. Cassivellauno : Cassivellaunus was a British prince, ruler of the country north of the Thames ; to him the Britons entrusted the chief command against Caesar. The site of his capital is not known for certain, but there is some probability of its being Verulamium (St. Albans).

20. a mari circiter milia passuum octoginta: Caesar, of course, means from the sea at the place where he had landed.

29. plumbum album: "tin." The Phoenicians had long before this visited Cornwall for the tin that was there; it was known that there were islands in the north called Cassiterides, or Tin Islands, probably the Scilly Isles and Cornwall.

Caesar continues his expedition northwards in pursuit of Cassivellaunus, and after one or two light engagements the British no longer dared to meet the Roman legions in a pitched battle. Caesar crosses the Thames, and drives the Britons back through woody and difficult country.

14. summis copiis: "in force."

39. hoc metu: "through fear of this."

44. Trinobantes: a powerful British tribe inhabiting that part of the country which is now Essex.

The Trinobantes and other tribes now began to treat with Caesar about surrender. Caesar then captured Cassivellaunus' "town," and took much cattle there. The men of Kent having made an abortive attempt on Caesar's naval camp, Cassivellaunus surrenders.

3. oppidum: the British "town" was merely a fortified camp surrounded by woods, a place of refuge when hard pressed by their enemies.

5. satis magnus: "fairly large."

33. duobus commeatibus: "in two convoys." Caesar had now a number of captives to take back, and so was unable to carry all across comfortably in one passage. The empty ships which were returning from the Continent were nearly all beaten back by the weather.

40. aequinoctium: it was now late in September, and equinoctial gales were to be expected.

The plebs formed the body of commons of the Roman people, while the patricii formed the upper or aristocratic and wealthier citizens. The earlier history of the Republic tells of constant struggles between the two classes, until at length the plebeians were admitted to all public official posts and the two hostile classes were fused together in one great body with equal political rights and powers.

In 493 B.C. the plebs seceded or revolted under the leadership of Sicinius to the Sacred Mountain. Peace was made and the people gained certain advantages. Special magistrates were appointed for their protection, Tribuni Plebis, and a law was passed forbidding the patricians from charging usurious interest on loans.

5. Sacrum montem: a hill in the Sabine country on the Anio, three miles from Rome.

34. tribuni plebei: the original purpose for which these magistrates were appointed was to afford protection to the commons against abuses on the part of the patricians.

41. Volskos: an ancient people of Latium, originally distinct from the Latins.

The Fabii formed one of the most ancient patrician families in Rome. In 479 B.C. the head of the family was consul, and advocated the plebeians' cause. His proposals being rejected, he and his house, 306 in all, left Rome, and built a fortress on the banks of the Cremera, whence for two years they constantly devastated the territory of the people of Veii.

4. Veiens hostis: Veii was an ancient and powerful city of Etruria about twelve miles from Rome. For over 300 years it waged war, almost without cessation, against the Romans. It was finally taken after a siege which lasted ten years.

13. gratiae ingentes: the story as given by Livy is probably quite inaccurate, as the Fabii really left the city in anger on account of the consul's proposals on behalf of the plebs having been rejected.

22. paludatus: the paludamentum was the cloak worn by a Roman general commanding an army, as opposed to the toga, the garb of peace. He was not allowed to enter the gates of Rome until he had removed this emblem of his power.

The Fabii had frequent engagements with the Veientines and often defeated them. The Veientines then laid an ambush against their over-confident enemy; at length they led them into a narrow place, and surrounded them with a much superior force, and annihilated them.

4. collatisque signis: "in battle array"; literally "the standards having been brought together."

26. orbem colligere: "to concentrate their forces"; orbis corresponds to our military term "square."

39. unum prope puberem: the ancestor of the great Q. Fabius Cunctator, who by his policy of delay kept Hannibal in check in the Second Punic War. He avoided any direct engagement with the enemy, but merely contented himself with following his movements closely and cutting off stragglers. He died in 203 B.C. (Cp. lines 40-1.)

After the battle of Gaugamela, 331 b.c., in which Alexander defeated the Persians, Bessus, a satrap of Bactria, seized King Darius. In the following year, when pursued by Alexander, he murdered Darius and assumed the royal title. He was betrayed into Alexander's hands and put to death.

2. Sogdianis: Sogdiana was a province of the Persian Empire, including parts of Turkestan and Bokhara.

6. regis sui: Darius (or Dareus).

10. Oxum: the Oxus was a river of Central Asia flowing into the Caspian Sea.

22. regni insigni: i.e. the crown.

28. et barbaris et Macedonibus: the capture of Bessus was pleasing to the Persians on account of his treachery towards Darius their king, and to the followers of Alexander as one of the enemy.

33. hoc solatio: i.e. the consolation of seeing his own murderer suffer death.

37. parricidii: literally "murder of a father," but here "murder" generally.

41. cruci affixum: Bessus was fastened to a cross with mutilated eyes and nose. Catanes with bow and arrow kept off the vultures, that the murderer might be kept alive for still further torture at the spot where he murdered Darius.

Babylon was one of the oldest cities of the world, built on both sides of the Euphrates. It was supposed to have been built by Belus, the god Baal, and enlarged by Semiramis, queen of Assyria. Under Nebuchadnezzar the Babylonian Empire grew very powerful, extending from the Euphrates to Egypt. Its power then gradually declined until Cyrus took possession of it (538 b.c.) and made it one of the chief towns of the Persian empire.

21. siderum motus: the Magi or Wise Men who followed the Star to find the child Jesus came doubtless from Chaldaea in the East. These magi were astrologers who foretold events from a study of the stars.

29. Semiramis: Semiramis and Ninus were the mythical founders of the Assyrian empire. Marvellous stories were told of her achievements—the building of Babylon, the hanging gardens, and an enormous tomb for her husband Ninus. She conquered Egypt and Ethiopia, and went on an expedition to India.

35. stadia: the stadium was a Greek measure of length, about 200 yards in our measure.

37. iugeri: the iugerum was a Roman measure of area, about $\frac{5}{8}$ ths of an acre.

5. ad retia: the Roman method of hunting the deer, wild boar, etc., was to set up a wide extent of nets, into which were driven the quarry. The driven animals were thus easily slain. To the English mind this method savours too much of slaughter to be true sport.

6. stilus et pugillares: the pugillares or tabulae were thin pieces of wood covered with wax (cera), which were written on by means of the stilus, or pointed iron pen. The stilus had one end pointed and the other flat and circular; with the latter the wax could be smoothed and made ready for writing on again.

13. Dianam . . . Minervam: the goddesses of hunting and wisdom respectively.

(b)

18. Circenses: i.e. public games held in the Circus Maximus at Rome. The Romans displayed great enthusiasm over the chariot races; lists of the horses, with their names and colours, were published, and heavy gambling was indulged in. Usually four chariots started for each race, and their drivers were distinguished by different colours—green, red, azure, and white—representing the four seasons. A starting-machine was employed, carceres, and the chariots were drawn up abreast of a chalked rope, alba linea, which was loosened on a given signal. Each race consisted of seven circuits round the metae or “goals.”

(c)

40. horam primam: about 6 a.m.

41. fenestrae: there were few windows in Roman houses; the chief rooms were lighted from above, and the smaller rooms generally received light from the larger. The discoveries made at Pompeii show that glass must have been used during the time of the early emperors.

49. notarium: “private secretary.” They were usually slaves trained in the art of shorthand writing.

56. ungor . . . lavor: it was the usual practice of Romans to take the bath after exercise, and before the chief meal (cena) of the day. After bathing they were anointed with oil to prevent the skin becoming rough after the hot water.

Hannibal, the great Carthaginian general, organised an invasion of Italy from Spain. This war was called the Second Punic War (219-202 B.C.). During nearly fifteen years Hannibal was master of Italy, and the Romans would not meet him in the field. In the end Hannibal had to retire, though undefeated, to Africa. His first real defeat was at Zama (202 B.C.), near Carthage, after which the Carthaginians were forced to make peace with Rome.

23. Hispaniam: the Carthaginians, the greatest commercial people of the time, had founded trading colonies in Sicily, Spain, and other places. Hamilcar intended organising an army in Spain with which to invade Italy.

11. Tarquinius Priscus: one of the Seven Kings of Rome.

12. auguratus: genitive depending on scientiam; "skill in augury."

18. augure: augur, or auspex, meant originally a diviner by the observation of birds. The birds were regarded as the messengers of Jupiter, and from their flight the augurs decided whether it was auspicious or otherwise to enter upon any definite course of action.

22. Dionysio: tyrant of Syracuse for 38 years, 405-367 B.C.

23. Leontinum: Leontini was a town in the east of Sicily not far from Syracuse.

26. Philistus: a Syracusan who wrote a history of Sicily.

32. Midae: Midas, King of Phrygia, celebrated for his wealth. He it was who asked Dionysus (or Bacchus) that all things he touched might turn to gold.

38. Roscius: a celebrated Roman comic actor, and a friend of Cicero. He made a great fortune by his profession.

1. Phalaridis: Phalaris, ruler of Agrigentum in Sicily, had an infamous reputation as a cruel tyrant. He it was who used to burn men alive in a brazen bull (about 550 B.C.).

8. Cyrum: Cyrus the Elder was the founder of the Persian empire in the sixth century B.C. He reigned from 559-529 B.C.

30. Iunonis Laciniae: there was a celebrated temple of Juno at Lacinium, a promontory on the Tarentine gulf.

9. Publius Decius: consul 340 B.C. in the great Latin war. He dreamed that the general of one side and the army of the other were doomed. In the battle he rushed into the thickest of the fight and was killed, thus giving the victory to the Romans.

18. filius: he was consul four times, and following his father's example he devoted himself to death in 295 B.C. at the battle of Sentinum.

36. Sophoclem: a celebrated Greek tragic poet born 495 B.C. Out of 130 plays ascribed to him only 7 are extant.

40. Areopagum: the hill of Ares or Mars near the Acropolis at Athens where the Council of Elders assembled. The Areopagites had certain judicial functions, punishing impiety and sacrilege.

Two shepherds, Mopsus and Menalocas, challenge each other to a musical contest. Mopsus bewails the death of Daphnis, the ideal shepherd of pastoral poetry. The death of Daphnis was a favourite theme of the Greek pastoral poets.

10. Armenias: Bacchus came from the east; hence the epithet.

11. thiasos: Daphnis is represented as having introduced Bacchic worship among the shepherds. The Greek word thiasos meant "a band of singers and dancers," particularly applied to Bacchic revellers.

12. hastas: this refers to the wands wreathed with ivy and vine leaves carried by the bacchanals.

16. Pales: the tutelary deity of shepherds and cattle, a purely Italian god, while Apollo was a Greek. The Palilia was the festival held in his honour on April 21st.

20. paliurus: a kind of thorny shrub, commonly called Christ's Thorn.

Two shepherds engage in a musical contest. Alphesiboeus describes the enchantments employed by a love-lorn maiden to secure the love of Daphnis. The maiden had a wax image of Daphnis, over which incantations were made, in a belief that they would have effect on the absent lover.

4. limus: it is considered by some that there were two images, of clay and of wax, but probably she only takes a lump of clay and another of wax, and prays that as the one hardens and the other softens under the influence of fire, so the heart of Daphnis may be hard to other maidens but soft towards herself.

6. sparge molam: "scatter meal." It was the custom to sprinkle a mixture of barley meal and salt on the heads of victims.

15. exuvias: literally anything taken off from the body, clothing or armour. The burial of Daphnis' raiment at the threshold was to attract him there by some magic means.

21. lupum fieri: an ancient superstition; cp. "were-wolf."

31. Hylax: a Greek word meaning "barker"; here the name of the house-dog.

42.

Damon sings of an unhappy lover whose mistress Nisa deceives him and is about to marry a rival.

5. Maenalios: Maenalus was a mountain in Arcadia, the haunt of Pan and shepherds; hence "Maenalian" means Bucolic or Pastoral.

7. grypes: "griffins"; the gryps was a fabulous four-footed bird.

13. curare deum: according to the Epicurean philosophers the gods took no interest in earthly matters.

17. alter ab undecimo: "the next after the eleventh," the twelfth.

21. Tmaros . . . Rhodope . . . Garamantes: a mountain in Epirus, a mountain in Thrace, a people of Africa. The poet wishes to show that love must have had its origin in the wildest and most barbarous regions.

24. matrem: this refers to Medea, who, when deserted by Jason, killed her children.

A sacrifice and immortality in verse are promised to the fountain of Bandusia, situated near Horace's Sabine farm.

The ancients used to pour wine and scatter flowers into their consecrated fountains; victims, too, were sacrificed close by.

9. Caniculae: Canis Minor, the lesser dog-star in the constellation Canis. The rising of the greater dog-star Canis Sirius occurred at the time of the greatest heat in summer; cp. our expression "dog days."

13. nobilium . . . fontium: such as Hippocrene, Dirce, Arethusa, etc.

2. puer: the Roman military age began at 16.

3. Parthos: Parthia was an Asiatic country, S.E. of the Caspian Sea. The inhabitants were famous as horse-archers; they used to spread round their enemy, pour in a shower of arrows, and then retreat, still shooting their arrows backwards. Hence the proverbial expression "a Parthian shot."

10. asperum tactuleonem: the Roman soldier is compared to a lion.

17. repulsae: the technical term for defeat at an election.

19. secures: "axes"; Roman magistrates were attended by officers called Lictores carrying bundles of rods (fasces) and axes, symbols of the magistrate's power of inflicting punishment. The phrase sumit secures thus means "takes up office."

26. Cereris sacrum . . . arcanae: "the secret rites of Ceres" (or Demeter). This refers to the Eleusinian festival and mysteries originally celebrated at Eleusis in Attica. According to one tradition Demeter, Mother Earth, seeking after her daughter Persephone, came to Attica, supplied the inhabitants with corn, and instituted the sacred mysteries of Eleusis.

29. phaselon: a Greek word meaning a kidney-bean; here denoting a rather long and narrow vessel not unlike a bean in appearance.

1. monumentum aere perennius: "a monument more lasting than brass." Horace, with true prophetic instinct, foretells the enduring character of his writings. So, too, the great lyric poet of Greece, Pindar, foretold the immortality of his verse.

7. Libilitinam: Libilitina was the goddess of death. At the temple of Venus Libilitina in Rome were sold all things necessary for funerals. Libilitinarii were the undertakers of Rome. "To avoid Libilitina" is merely a poetical way of saying "to escape death."

9. tacita virgine: "Vestal virgin." The Vestales were the virgin priestesses of Vesta, and tended the eternal fire on the hearth (Vesta) in her temple. They assisted also at great public festivals, and guarded the sacred relics in the inmost shrine, which only they and the pontifex maximus were permitted to enter.

12. regnavit populorum: an imitation of a Greek construction, the genitive after a verb signifying commanding, ruling.

13. Aeolium carmen: i.e. "lyric poetry." Sappho and Alcaeus, the great Greek lyric writers, came from Lesbos, an island in the Aegean Sea, the especial seat of the Aeolic race.

46.

Alecto, one of the Furies, is summoned from the Lower World by Juno, and leads Ascanius, the son of Aeneas, to slay a favourite stag belonging to Tyrrheus, the royal shepherd. This act of violence brought on war between the followers of Aeneas and the rustic Latins.

10. sera quamvis nocte: "however late at night."

12. canes: when referring to hunting dogs the word is usually feminine; hence the adjective rabidae.

fluvio . . . secundo: "down-stream"; cp. adverso flumine, "up-stream."

47.

An interesting little poem, showing how the pronunciation of the aspirates was a matter of difficulty even in ancient Roman times.

5. sic mater: it was no isolated case; his relations experienced the same difficulty.

8. audibant: poetical for audiebant

PART III.

In August, 55 B.C., Caesar determined to find out something himself about Britain. A few Roman merchants had touched there, but had gained no information as to the size of the island or the nature of its inhabitants. All Gaul was now quiet, and so Caesar was enabled to make a hasty visit during the few weeks of fine weather remaining.

2. tertia . . . vigilia: the third watch extended from 12 p.m. to about 3 a.m.; as Caesar made land hora circiter diei quarta (about 10 a.m.), we conclude that his passage took about ten hours.

6. ibi: probably near Dover. The cliffs were lined with painted warriors, and were so close over the water that it was dangerous to attempt a landing; so Caesar, having got all his ships together, sailed up the coast with the tide as far as Walmer or Deal.

13. ex Voluseno: C. Volusenus had been sent from Gaul with a single ship to make a survey of the opposite coast.

40. tormentis: "artillery." The Roman tormenta were machines fashioned on the lines of the cross-bow, and depended for their power on the "twist" (torqueo) of the cord.

46. aquilam: the standard of a Roman legion, made of silver and afterwards of gold. It was the figure of an eagle with out-spread wings, carried on a pole.

1. Nerviorum: the Nervii were a very powerful Belgic tribe who revolted in 54 B.C. and attacked the camp of Q. Cicero, who was quartered in their district. Cicero hastily strengthened his camp, and, though suffering from ill-health, actually worked day and night to make preparations for the siege.

2. Cicerone: Quintus Cicero, the younger brother of the famous orator Marcus Cicero.

4. Ambiorix: king of the Eburones, a German tribe lying between the Meuse and Rhine; this tribe had risen in revolt in 54 B.C. and destroyed a legion and a half of Roman troops.

7. Sabini: Cotta and Sabinus were the two legati who were entrapped and massacred with fifteen cohorts by Ambiorix.

17. sperare . . . impetraturos: note the terseness of this sentence; supply se (i.e. Ciceronem) before sperare, and eos (i.e. duces principesque Nerviorum) before impetraturos (esse).

19. vallo . . . et fossa: the usual Roman way of fortifying a camp was to surround a square space with a ditch and rampart; a Roman army never spent a single night outside their camp.

24. exhaurire: this word strictly speaking belongs only to manibus, "dig up with their hands," but by the figure of speech called Zeugma it is also taken with another meaning, "carry away," with sagulis, "cloaks."

28. falces testudinesque: the falx was an iron hook for tearing down the vallum; the testudo, "tortoise," was a kind of shed made of wood and wickerwork covered with hides, under cover of which men were enabled to attack the enemy's fortifications.

56. centuriones . . . appropinquarent: "centurions who were now almost of first rank." The most distinguished centurions were called primi ordines. The subjunctive appropinquarent is consecutive

No doubt these exploits of Scaevola and Cloelia, together with other exploits, such as those of the Horatii and the Fabii, were handed down by family tradition. Before being reduced to writing they would be often recited at family funerals, and naturally many picturesque details would be added.

6. Etruscis: Lars Porsinna, king of the Etruscan town Clusium, had marched against Rome to restore Tarquinius Superbus to the throne. The Romans made peace with him, giving him twenty hostages. The whole of this story, perhaps, was invented to conceal a very serious disaster to the Roman arms. Rome was completely captured by Porsinna, and compelled to pay tribute.

20. scriba: the royal secretary, dressed in much the same style as the king, was sitting beside him paying the soldiers. Mucius, not being able to distinguish between the two, trusted blindly to chance and killed the wrong man.

41. per ambages: "in riddles."

48. macte virtute esse: in oratio recta, macte virtute esto, lit. "be happy with your valour," i.e. "Bravo!" Macte is usually explained as an adverb; cp. bene est mihi, "it is well with me."

57. Scaevolae: "left-handed"; a nickname given to Mucius on account of the loss of his right hand by burning.

80. alias . . . facere: "the others he did not value highly"; magni: gen. of price.

51.

Cn. Marcius, who afterwards received the surname of Coriolanus for conspicuous bravery shown at the capture of the Volscian town Corioli, was the hero of a very beautiful legend, which is the subject of the next selection. The present passage tells of the capture of Corioli, the famine and sufferings of the people, the trial and banishment of Coriolanus, and how he joined the Volsci. These events were supposed to have occurred about 493 B.C.

3. Coriolano: dative by attraction into the case of cui.

25. caritas . . . annonae: "the high price of wheat."

30. Ostia: the sea-port of Rome, at the mouth (ostium) of the Tiber.

33. pro bonis Tarquiniorum: on the expulsion of the Tarquins their property was given up to the people to be plundered. Tarquinius Superbus was banished 509 B.C. Aristodemus, the tyrant of Cumae, held the corn-ships as a protest against the loss of the Tarquins' property.

72. diem dixissent: "appointed a day for trial."

Coriolanus and Attius Tullius, the king of the Volscians, after a triumphant campaign led their army to Rome, rejecting all offers of peace. Ambassadors, some of the most distinguished men of Rome, were unable to move Coriolanus. The noblest matrons of Rome, led by Veturia, the mother of Coriolanus, and Volumnia, his wife, at length came to his tent. Bent from his purpose by their reproaches and tears, he led back his army. According to one account he lived in exile among the Volscians till his death; another tradition relates that he was put to death by the Volscians on his return to their country. This story, like that of Mucius Scaevola, was doubtless invented on account of Roman vanity. It would be less offensive to Romans to think their reverses were due to an exiled compatriot than to their enemies alone.

38. insignibus: "badges," "uniform"; here probably "wreaths" or "fillets" (infulae) of wool to mark the priestly office.

67. penates: "household gods." Offerings were made jointly to the Lares (the good spirits of the departed) and the Penates. Every household had a guardian spirit, whose image, together with those of the two Penates, stood near the household hearth.

79. Fabium: Q. Fabius Pictor was the earliest Roman historian and wrote in Greek.

In 216 B.C. the consuls, L. Aemilius Paulus and C. Terentius Varro, reversed the cautious tactics of Q. Fabius, the Dictator, and determined to fight a pitched battle with Hannibal.

They marched into Apulia with an army of about 90,000 men and joined battle near Cannae. The Roman army was utterly defeated, the consul Paulus and a great number of Romans being slain.

1. sors eius diei: usually one consul remained at Rome, while the other took command of the army, but in times of special danger both commanded the armies against the same enemy, and decided by lot the command of each day.

7. flumini: the Aufidus, on the right bank of which the battle was fought.

14. Balariibus: noted slingers, inhabitants of the Balearic Islands, Majorca and Minorca, off the east coast of Spain.

22. ad Trebiam . . . ad Trasumennum: victories gained by Hannibal over the Romans in 218 and 217 B.C.

61. Punica . . . fraude: the Carthaginians were notorious for treachery: Punica fides became a by-word.

89. in vestigio: "where they stood."

103. quaestores: officials entrusted with the care of the public money, more especially paymasters of the army.

113. Alliensi cladi: the battle of the Allia, a tributary of the Tiber, six miles from Rome, in which the Gauls utterly defeated the Romans.

118. alterius morientis . . . fuit: "almost the whole of the army perished with the other consul"; a terse but slightly awkward sentence.

The Numidians (Nomads or "wanderers") lived in North Africa, west of Carthage. On the death of Micipsa, king of Numidia, 118 B.C., quarrels ensued between his two sons, Adherbal and Hiempsal, and Jugurtha, his nephew. Hiempsal was murdered, and civil war broke out between Jugurtha and Adherbal. The latter appealed to Rome. Adherbal, too, was murdered, and in consequence the Senate declared war against Jugurtha in 111 B.C.

Marius, consul 107 B.C., was invested with the command of the Jugurthine war. On his arrival in Africa Jugurtha retired; Marius then took some towns, and carried on a desultory warfare. In late summer he undertook the difficult task of capturing Capsa, the siege of which town this selection describes.

2. Hercules Libys: Heracles, the Greek equivalent of the Roman Hercules, was introduced as a god into Greece by the Phoenicians.

4. habebantur: used in two different senses here; with immunes and fidelissimi it means no more than erant, while with levi imperio it means "were held," "were ruled."

16. iūgi aqua: "a perennial spring"; distinguish iūgis, -e, from iūgum, -i, "yoke."

17. quae . . . agebat: literally "which lived in a rather uncivilised way far from the sea," i.e. "which being far from the sea was rather uncivilised." Note the personification of Africa.

26. arvo: literally "ploughed land," here "grain crops."

29. pro rei copia: "as far as his means allowed."

34. praedabundum: "plundering."

38. turmas: refers to the cavalry, "squadrions."

56. res trepidae: "their dangerous position."

55.

1. Romanus imperator: Q. Caecilius Metellus, who commanded in Africa against Jugurtha, 109-108 B.C. He celebrated a triumph on his return to Rome, and was given the title of Numidicus.

3. Zamam: there were two towns of this name in Numidia, one near which the famous battle was fought in 202 B.C., and the one under notice here.

6. edoctus: understand ea, the retained accusative: doceo takes two accusatives, one of which is retained in the passive.

26. ad Zamam: "before Zama"; the preposition here means "in the direction of."

65. in angustiis: "in the narrow gates" of the camp.

79. adversi equis: ablative absolute, "with their horses facing the enemy."

81. victos dare: poetical phrase for vincere.

93. niti corporibus: "kept swaying with their bodies."

56.

L. Sergius Catilina was a patrician adventurer, who conspired in 66 B.C. to murder the consuls, but failed through his own impatient haste. Again in 63 B.C., the year of Cicero's consulship, he organised a conspiracy against the State on a much larger scale. Cicero got possession of details of the conspiracy, and forced Catiline to leave Rome. He next obtained evidence of guilt against the other leaders, and had them arrested and executed.

The consul Antonius set out to meet Catiline, and a decisive battle was fought in 62 B.C., in which Catiline fell fighting bravely.

7. quo pauca monerem: "to give you a brief warning"; quo, of purpose, is usually found only in comparative clauses.

9. Lentuli: he had been expelled from the Senate, and had in consequence joined Catiline's band. He was the chief of the conspirators left behind in Rome, and was executed in 63 B.C.

21. municipia atque coloniae: at this period these two words were practically synonymous. Municipia were Latin colonies and states of the allies, who were given the franchise in 89 B.C.; the coloniae were Roman colonies, the members of which preserved all the rights of Roman citizens.

46. signa canere: "to sound the advance."

53. evocatos: soldiers who had served for twenty years were relieved from further service; they were called emeriti, but many of them remained in the army under the title veterani; if however they were specially asked to rejoin, they were called evocati.

61. tumultus: any sudden rising in Italy or Hither Gaul was called technically tumultus.

82. cohortem praetoriam: the general's body-guard.

Dionysius the Elder, tyrant of Syracuse, was born 430 B.C. In early life he was a clerk in a public office; but, being both ambitious and clever, he rose to high power at the age of twenty-five, and for thirty-eight years reigned over Syracuse. He is generally cited as a type of a tyrant in the worst sense. He was fond of literature, and invited to his court men eminent in literature and philosophy. Towards the end of his life he became intolerably suspicious, as we are told here by Cicero.

12. honesto : "honourable," not "honest."

26. candentibus iuglandium putaminibus : "with white-hot walnut-shells."

58. cervicibus : "neck," from cervix : this word is always found in the plural in Cicero and Sallust.

58.

This story, relating how a wealthy Roman knight, Canius, was outwitted in the purchase of some pleasure-gardens in Syracuse, is introduced in a discussion as to how far a seller is justified in concealing the defects of what he wishes to sell. Some of the ancient philosophers held that not only should defects not be concealed, but that they should be declared openly.

59.

In this letter Pliny tells his friend Tacitus of his own experiences during the eruption, after his uncle had left him. He had already written him a long letter relating how his uncle had crossed the bay of Naples to help the sufferers, and had died from the poisonous vapours. The eruption took place in 79 A.D.

2. Miseni : the promontory of Misenum was at the northern extremity of the Sinus Cumanus or bay of Naples.

4. quamquam . . . incipiam : a compressed quotation from Vergil, Aeneid, II. 12.

6. Hipponensis: Hippo was the name of an African town to the west of Utica, the modern Ben Zert.

10. omnis aetas: "men of every age."

22. aspicere, interrogare, audire, narrare: historic infinitives used in vivid narrative.

23. si quid est mari simile: whatever is like the sea," i.e. the lagoon and the estuary.

28. innutritos mari: "brought up to the sea." This verb is not found in Latin of the Golden Age, which ended with the reign of Augustus.

39. incredibile: because it was thought that dolphins died immediately on leaving the water.

43. proconsulis: a proconsul was a man who after his consulship was appointed governor of a province or military commander under a governor.

51. ad quod coibatur: "for which the crowd came"; the passive is used impersonally, "it was come together."

53. non est opus affingas: understand ut before affingas.

Alexander the Great, king of Macedonia, having conquered all Persia, invaded India in 327 B.C. He met with little opposition till he came to the Hydaspes, where an Indian king, Porus, opposed him. Porus was defeated, but Alexander restored his kingdom to him. Alexander penetrated as far as the Hyphasis (Beas). At this point his soldiers, worn out by their long journeying and the hardships they had endured, refused to advance any further. This passage contains a part of Alexander's speech urging them to advance.

17. ne dicam regem: "not to say king."

19. quin primus me periculis obtulerim: "without first, etc." quin = qui non.

21. palmam: i.e. of victory.

29. nescio quid: with indicative, "something or other."

39. Soythae Bactrianique: Alexander tries to shame his soldiers into advancing. Bactria was a province of the Persian Empire, conquered by Alexander.

52. temperare oculis: "refrain from tears."

62. tibi cordi est: "is your desire"; cordi is either a remnant of the old locative ("in your heart"), or a predicative dative.

69. mortalitas: abstract for concrete, "mortal men."
 91. a meridie: "towards the south."

62.

10. linquentem . . . animum: "fainting heart"; a poetical use of the word linquere; cp. linguique animo, line 70.
 14. clipeo: a round shield used by the Greeks; the Roman scutum was oblong and shaped to the body.
 17. potens corporis: "in command of his bodily faculties."
 18. auderet: subjunctive in virtual oratio obliqua.
 28. Peucestes: a trusted officer of Alexander; on Alexander's death, 323 B.C., he obtained the government of Persia.
 43. Ptolemaeum: another of Alexander's officers who became king of Egypt in 323 B.C.

63.

8. iugum: "yoke"; this word sometimes expresses the idea of slavery. The Romans made their captives pass under a yoke, formed by two spears placed upright and a third supported transversely.
 28. condicio: "the match."
 31. Graeci: the Greeks naturally supported Dioxippus, being a fellow-countryman.
 32. iusta arma: "the regular weapons of war"; cp. iustus exercitus, "a regular army."
 37. armato congregati nudum: "that a defenceless man should join combat with an armed foe"; these words form the subject of videbatur.
 42. mediam eam fregit: "he broke it (the hasta) in two."
 45. iacenti: "for him lying there"; dative of disadvantage.
 48. tristis spectaculi eventus: the issue of the fight was not at all satisfactory to Alexander, as the honour of the Macedonians had been impugned in the presence of barbarians.

The events recorded here took place in the first Samnite War, which commenced in 343 B.C. The Samnites were a warlike people living in a mountainous country in the centre of Italy.

1. Saticula: a mountain town on the frontiers of Campania.
 14. principes hastatosque: the hastati, consisting of 10 companies (manipuli) of 120 young men in each, formed the first line; the principes, men in the prime of life, also consisting of 10 companies, formed the second line of the legion. Thus, in round numbers, Decius asked for 2,400 infantry.

20. loco, quem petebat: Decius seized a height overlooking the Samnites, who for their part were threatening the main body of the Romans from above.

24. huc illuc signa vertunt: the Samnites, taken utterly by surprise at finding the tables thus turned on themselves, did not know whether to pursue the consul into the valley or attack Decius on the hill above them.

46. sagulo gregali: the cloak (generally sagum) worn by the private soldiers (milites gregarii), in distinction from the paludamentum of the general.

16. offenso scuto: "by kicking his shield."

37. praetorium: the general's tent in the camp, so called because the chief Roman magistrate was originally a praetor.

66.

The Greeks had just sent to the walls of Troy the famous wooden horse filled with warriors, and the Trojans were debating what to do, when Laocoön, priest of Neptune, rushed down from the citadel and warned them to have nothing to do with the horse. The present extract relates his death.

1. Laocoön: son of Priam and Hecuba, and priest of Apollo.

3. a Tenedo: "from the direction of Tenedos"; this was a small island off the Trojan coast.

5. pariter: "side by side."

8. immensa volumine terga: "the huge folds of the back"; one of Vergil's refinements for immensa volumina tergi.

13. Laocoonta: Greek accusative of Laocoön.

18. circum terga dati: circum and dati are separated by the figure of speech called Tmesis. Circumdati has the meaning of the Greek middle voice, "having surrounded."

26. Tritonidis: Tritonis, a name of Pallas Athene (Roman Minerva), who was said to have been born at Lake Triton in the north of Africa.

31. laeserit . . . intorserit: causal subjunctive after qui, "in that he . . . wounded."

33. numina conclamant: one of the many unfinished lines in the Aeneid. Vergil died before he was able to put the finishing touches to his work, and it is said that he desired that after his death it should be burnt.

35. rotarum . . . lapsus: "gliding wheels"; literally "the glidings of wheels."

46. Cassandra: the prophetic daughter of Priam. Apollo had granted her the gift of prophecy, but afterwards in anger he declared that no one should believe her prophecies. When Troy was taken, Cassandra fell to the lot of Agamemnon, the leader of the Greeks.

On leaving Africa for Italy, Aeneas was forced by bad weather to put in at Sicily, where he was welcomed by King Aeestes. On the anniversary of the death of his father Anchises games were held, consisting of a boat race, a running race, a boxing contest, and an archery competition.

2. Phaethontis: Phaëthon ("shining one"), an epithet applied to the sun in poetry. The legend ran that Phaëthon, the son of Helios the Sun-god, got permission from his father to drive his chariot for a day, and losing control of the horses, was struck down by Jupiter with a thunderbolt, that he might not set the earth on fire.

12. carinae: literally "keels," poetical word for "ships."

13. Pristim . . . Chimaeram . . . Centauro . . . Scylla: the names of the four ships that entered for the prizes. Pristis was a large sea-monster, Chimaera, a monster partly lion, partly goat, partly snake, Centauri, fabulous beings half-men, half-horses, Scylla, a monster with six dog-heads supposed to dwell in the strait between Italy and Sicily.

32. humeros oleo perfusa: "having anointed their shoulders"; perfusa, passive in form, has here an active meaning. See III. 66. 18, n.

42. carcere: the enclosure at the end of the circus which kept back the horses. There were usually twelve of these carceres or stalls.

50. pinus: i.e. boat made of pine wood.

54. iunctis . . . frontibus: "with level prows."

60. litus ama: "hug closely the shore."

65. propiora: "the inner station."

89. Syrtibus: the Syrtes were two great gulfs on the north of Africa, both dangerous to ships on account of shallows, quicksands, and tides.

68.

31. possunt, quia posse videntur: i.e. success begets success.

32. fors: adverb, "perchance"; poetical for forte.

aequatatis . . . rostris: "with a dead-heat"; literally "their prows being equal."

37. voti reus: "bound by my vow"; reus, literally "accused of," with genitive of the charge.

40. Nereidum: "sea-nymphs," daughters of Nereus and Doris. Panopaea was the name of one of them.

Phorci: a sea god, son of Sea and Earth.

41. Portunus: the Roman god of harbours (portus).

44. satus Anchisa: "Anchises' son," i.e. Aeneas.

47. optare . . . dat ferre: poetical use of the infinitive to express purpose. In prose ad optandum, ferendum would be the more usual construction. Cp. habere below, line 62.

52. puer . . . regius: i.e. Ganymedes, the most beautiful of mortals, who was said to have been carried off by an eagle from Mount Ida, near Troy, to be Jupiter's cup-bearer.

67. aspera signis: i.e. heavily embossed.

71. ordine debilis uno: the oars of one side had been shattered in the collision with the rocks.

Cacus, the son of Vulcan, was a giant who lived on Mount Aventine. The story goes that Hercules came to Italy driving the oxen he had taken in Spain from Geryon. While Hercules was sleeping, Caicus stole some of the cattle. In order to hide their traces he dragged them backwards by their tails into his cave. They were discovered, however, by their bellowing, and Hercules slew Caicus.

10. Geryonae: genitive of Geryones.

14. scelerisive dolive: partitive genitives depending on quid.

22. Amphitryoniades: "Amphitryon's son," i.e. Hercules, his reputed son. Amphitryon was the son of Alceus or Alcaeus; hence Hercules was also called Alcides (line 11). Another of his names was Tirynthius (line 36), from Tiryns, the town where he was brought up.

34. arte paterna: Vulcan as the god of fire was also the god of furnaces and forging.

56. insueta rudentem: "bellowing in unwonted fashion"; insueta, neuter plural, cognate accusative; "bellowing unwonted bellowings."

69. siccum sanguine: "drained free of blood"; sanguine, ablative of separation.

78. domus . . . Pinaria: the Pinarii and the Potitii were two ancient Roman families, who presided over the worship of Hercules at Rome.

70.

When Aeneas, after his long wanderings on the fall of Troy, at length landed in Italy he went to Apollo's temple to consult the Sibyl. The prophetess promises him that he will settle in Italy, but only after long wars. First of all he wishes to visit his father Anchises in the Lower World. Accompanied by the Sibyl he descends at Lake Avernus, near Cumae.

1. Acherontis: the Acheron, Cocytus, and Styx were rivers of Hades.

5. Charon : the aged ferryman of the Styx. He carried the souls of the dead across the nether waters. He was paid an obolus for each soul, the coin being placed in the mouth of every corpse.

12. defuncta . . . vita : i.e. dead.

19. transmittere : poetical use of the infinitive of purpose instead of ut with the subjunctive.

23. miratus enim : "marvelling of a truth"; enim is not to be translated here by "for"; it merely emphasises the preceding word.

27. olli : archaic for illi.

38. animi : locative case, "in his mind."

53. Phoebi cortina : "Phoebus' caldron" at Delphi. In the centre of Apollo's temple at Delphi sat the prophetess, the Pythia, on a caldron placed on a tripod over a chasm. Smoke rose from this chasm, and affected the brain of the Pythia so that she uttered words in delirium, which were believed to be the revelations of Phoebus Apollo.

64. tenebam . . . invasisset : note the vivid hypothesis, "and now I was in safety, had not, etc."

66. montis : only a "rock" here, not a "mountain."

71. tu . . . inice : the ancient Greeks attached great importance to the burial of their dead. Souls could not enter the Blessed Fields till their bodies had been duly buried. It was obligatory to throw some earth on any corpse that one might come upon unburied. This sprinkling constituted a technical burial.

73. diva creatrix : i.e. Venus, Aeneas' mother.

81. Eumenidum : the Avenging Deities. The word Eumenides means "the well-meaning ones," and was used euphemistically, as men disliked calling them by their real name. They punished certain crimes, such as murder, perjury, and disobedience towards parents.

71.

Nisus and Euryalus, as proverbial for their friendship as were Damon and Phintias (or Pythias), had accompanied Aeneas in his wanderings. They perished in a night attack on the Rutulians.

7. Albae . . . Albani: a mythical king of Alba, son of King Latinus. Alba Longa, the most ancient town in Latium, was said to have been founded by Ascanius. It stretched in a long line from the Alban mountain to the Alban Lake; hence its name.

8. Latinus : king of Latium, whose daughter Lavinia was given in marriage to Aeneas.

25. Latonia custos : Diana, daughter of Latona.

72.

Livy's account of the Fabii and their destruction by the Veientes is given in II. 31. and 32.

2. ter . . . duo : poetic for sex.

3. onus : i.e. of the war against Veii.

5. generosus: the Gens Fabia was one of the oldest patrician gentes at Rome, tracing its origin from Hercules; see below Herculeae . . . gentis.

16. Tusco sanguine: Veii was a city of Etruria, and the Etrurians were called Tusci.

24. zephyro victa tepente: "melted by the warm west wind."

73.

The story of Narcissus and his metamorphosis into the flower called after him is told by Ovid in the Metamorphoses. Narcissus was a youth of wondrous beauty, with whom the nymph Echo had fallen in love, but her love was unreturned. As a punishment Nemesis made him fall in love with his own image in a fountain. He became so enamoured of himself that he pined away with longing and was finally turned into a flower.

13. Pario . . . marmore: this celebrated marble came from Paros, an island in the Aegean Sea.

14. positus . . . sua lumina: "lowering his eyes"; positus is here used in the sense of the Greek middle voice, "placing for himself."

28. repercussae: "reflected."

31. Cereris: a poetical way of expressing "food," Ceres being the goddess of corn.

33. inexplero . . . lumine: "with eyes unsatisfied."

50. quam fugias: generic subjunctive; "such as you should flee from."

nymphae: i.e. Echo.

68. male sanus: i.e. insanus.

100. Naides . . . Dryades: the Greeks worshipped divinities of lesser rank, the Nymphs, whom they associated with the sea, trees, and mountains. Naides were nymphs of fresh water, while Dryades were tree-nymphs.

sectos . . . capillos: in ancient times it was customary to cut the hair as a sign of mourning.

1. Eois: Eos was the goddess of the Dawn; hence Eous means Eastern.

7. Ismarii . . . tyranni: i.e. Tereus, king of the Thracians, who had married Philomela. Ismarus was a town of Thrace, hence the epithet Ismarius.

Philomela: daughter of a king of Athens; she was metamorphosed into a nightingale.

10. Itys: the young son of Progne, sister of Philomela. The legend tells how Progne took vengeance on Tereus by serving up the flesh of Itys to him at a meal. She was metamorphosed into a swallow.

15. iuvenis Phoceus : i.e. Pylades, son of the king of Phocis, with whom Orestes formed an intimate friendship when he fled to Phocis after the murder of his father Agamemnon.

41. Thersites : the ugliest of the Greeks at Troy. His death would have been far less of a loss than that of Protesilaus, of Phylace in Thessaly, the first of the Greeks to be killed by the Trojans.

46. Parca : the Parcae or Fates were three in number, Clotho, the spinning Fate, Lachesis, who assigned to every man his destiny, and Atropos, the Fate that cannot be avoided.

55. ales Iunonia : the peacock, sacred to Juno.
